LUKE TELLS OF JESUS' BIRTH IN BETHLEHEM

No Room in the Inn; Sleeps in Manger.

St. Luke, physician and vivid narrator, gives the following account of the Nativity in the second chapter of his gospel:

CHAPTER II.

1. And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Cæsar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

3. . . . and all went up to be taxed, every one unto his own city.

4. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem . . .

5. To be taxed with Mary, his espoused wife. . . .

6. While they were there

7. . . . she brought forth her first born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

8. And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

9. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them . . .

10. And the angel said unto them, fear not; for, behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

11. For unto you is born this day . . . a saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

13. . . . And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

14. Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

RARE CHRISTMAS GIFTS BRIGHTEN UP THREE HOMES

Three babies and a little boy brightened up three Chicago homes for the holidays yesterday and today.

At the Frances Willard hospital Mrs. John Roman, 21 years old, 3813 West Cermak road, gave birth to Chicago's first Christmas day baby. The child, a girl weighing 7½ pounds, was born at 20 seconds after midnight this morning. The attending physician was Dr. M. J. Rose of 55 East Washington street.

A few hours earlier Edward J. Komorous, superintendent of the Illinois Industrial Home for the Blind, 1900 South Marshall boulevard, received a rare Christmas present from his wife, Anna. The present was twins, a boy and a girl, born at the Garfield Park Community hospital.

Still earlier in the day Judge James M. Corcoran of the Evanston Municipal court, presented his wife, Ethel, with a boy, Jackie, 3 years old, whom he adopted from St. Vincent's orphanage. The Corocrans have a son, James M. Jr., 4 years old.

Her Christmas Lights on House Stop All the Trains

Charlemont, Mass., Dec. 24.—(AP)—When it's Christmas Mrs. Frank Cook puts appropriate decorations on her house beside the railroad tracks here. But every eastbound train last night came to a sudden stop. Railroad men got Mrs. Cook to remove the red lights she had strung across the front.

Peter Christmas Obtains License for a Wedding

Cleveland, O., Dec. 24—(AP).—"Mr. Clerk, we want to get married," said a 56 year old steel worker today to Frank Zizelman, veteran marriage license clerk. "What is your name?" asked Zizelman. "Peter Christmas," replied the worker at whose side stood Mattie Pendleton, 36. They got the license.

Vegetarian to Surrender to Turkey for One Day

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 24.—(AP)—On Christmas day Asa Auger, an attorney, will observe his 65th birthday anniversary, his 40th wedding anniversary and, Auger said, although a vegetarian, "I'll eat turkey."

Chinese Sends Christmas Cheer to Jewish Children

Newark, N. J., Dec. 24—(AP).—Eng Shee-chuck, Chinese restaurant owner, celebrated Christmas eve tonight by sending food, waiters and gifts to the Jewish children's home.

BUON NATALE!

Chicago Hails Christmas in Old Time Way

The bounty of Christmas will fill Chicago today.

In most of the city's million homes, "joy to the world" has a meaning that seemed dim during the dark Christmas days of the depression. Better times are here.

Everything but the weather is upholding old time traditions. Forecaster C. A. Donnel last night predicted one of the warmest days on record in Chicago. In place of the usual snow and ice there may be a little rain, he said.

May Set Heat Record.

Mr. Donnel expects the maximum temperature to be about 50 degrees, but it may go to 55 or 56. If the mercury reaches 56, today will equal Chicago's warmest Christmas—that of 1895.

During the holiday happiness Chicago has not forgotten its sick and unfortunate. Private and public benefactions have provided cheer in all of the city and county institutions which care for these—the homeless or those unable to go to their homes.

Chicken dinners will be served to the 2,800 patients in the county hospital and every ward will be visited by strolling singers and entertainers. Santa Claus visited the 300 children in the hospital yesterday afternoon and left gifts for each. Adult patients who had no relatives to supply them also shared in the special gifts, which came from organizations throughout the city.

Turkey at Juvenile Home.

Turkey and trimmings will be set before the 240 boys and 100 girls at the juvenile detention home today. Following church services this morning the children will gather around a huge tree in the recreation room and receive presents that have been donated by outsiders.

There will be plenty of toys for the 175 children at St. Vincent's orphanage this morning and most of the young residents will have their first glimpse of Santa Claus.

The 1,700 veterans at the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital will have church services in the morning, distribution of gifts, turkey dinners, and varied entertainment programs in the afternoon.

Blind Have Tree.

Duck was served to inmates of the Industrial Home for the Blind at dinner last night in order that those who wish may visit their homes today. The dinner was followed by distribution of presents from a Christmas tree.

The elderly inmates of Oak Forest infirmary will have duck for dinner. Religious services and singing programs will follow. Bridewell prisoners have trimmed their cells in Christmas colors and will sit down to fried chicken. Tobacco and games have been provided by women's organizations for county jail prisoners.

Members and guests of the Hobo college at 1118 West Madison street will eat a "Mother Greenstein hobo dinner" and carry on with yarns and singing from noon until 8 p. m., according to Dr. Ben Reitman, president.

Thirty families will be provided with clothing, food, and toys by the social service department of St. Luke's hospital through funds provided by patrons of the hospital.

Al Bernstein, restaurant owner at 676 Madison street, will serve Christmas dinners to 400 needy persons from the neighborhood.

Sixty underprivileged boys were entertained at a turkey dinner and Christmas party in the Hotel Sherman yesterday as guests of the Kiwanis club.

More than 900 children from Stickney and Forest View were guests of William Loeffler, president of the village of Stickney, at a Christmas party in Mejda hall, 6913 Pershing road, yesterday afternoon. Each child received toys, candy, nuts, and fruit. Vaudeville and motion pictures were presented.

FOUR SANTA CLAUSES BRING HAPPINESS TO QUADRUPLETS' HOME

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 24—(AP)—Christmas eve brought four Santa Clauses to the home of the Morlok quadruplets today. One of the four 6 year old sisters was ill.

Wilma, Sarah, and Helen came down the stairs promptly when they learned Santa was in the living room of their modest little home, and stared fairly pop-eyed in amazement when they saw four of him.

Then came Edna, the most timid of the quads, who had wept in fear at news that she was to meet Santa in person.

She parted the portieres to enter the parlor and suddenly stood, mouth agape, taking in the spectacle of three sisters on the laps of three Santas, and a fourth Santa with outstretched arms. Within five minutes she was in the vacant lap.

GOOD FELLOWS CARRY CHEER TO 8,000 CHILDREN

Many Homes Learn There Is a Santa.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Is there a Santa Claus?

"Yes," was the answer that came yesterday from more than 8,000 children in families visited by THE TRIBUNE Good Fellows on their 28th annual pilgrimage of good cheer.

On this Christmas eve the Good Fellow spirit shone with increasing heartiness. It was not a cold winter's night with snow so deep, and they might not have seen the star for the tall buildings, yet the Good Fellows made the sweet tale of old, the tale of Santa Claus and the reindeer and the bright red cloak come true in thousands of innocent, believing hearts.

A Far Reaching Mission.

The Good Fellows want no praise. They come and go like the mysterious stranger of the third floor back. THE TRIBUNE acts simply as their clearing house. More than ever this year they went in person to the doors of the poor, and no one knows the result of their actions in the lives of those families whose Christmas was made bright and in their own lives by the power of an unselfish act.

In a world darkened by many fears it is significant that this year the Good Fellow army was increased 40 per cent over 1935. The figures from the Good Fellow department follow:

Number of Good Fellows who volunteered 1,370
Number of families they visited personally 1,559
Number of families to receive baskets through contributed funds........ 399

That makes 1,958 families in all, which is an increase of 305 families over the 1935 report. The Good Fellows were 403 more than last year. The money contributed this year was $2,611.89, all of which went for baskets delivered by TRIBUNE staf members.

Traffic Club Out Early.

Members of the Traffic Club of Chicago were early on the scene. Railroad presidents, air line men, and shipping executives met at the Chicago Tunnel company warehouse and started out on their rounds with 184 baskets to deliver.

The Rotary club brigade under Chairman Byron O. Jones of the Sunshine committee coöperated with THE TRIBUNE in delivering 167 baskets.

The Aviation Good Fellows held their fourth Christmas ceremony at the administration building at the municipal airport. Col. Roscoe Turner was master of ceremonies. Guests of honor were Charles J. Correl ["Andy" of the air] and Miss Blanche Noyes of the bureau of air commerce. "Andy" flew in from Curtis field and after the Christmas tree program delivered six baskets. The Aviation Good Fellows in all took care of 150 families. Maj. George W. Vest is their chairman.

Bishop Stewart Speaks.

Greek letter fraternities representing 35 campuses met at luncheon in the Interfraternity club where they were addressed by Bishop George Craig Stewart. Afterwards they started out with 140 baskets.

Calling Christmas "the one great international feast of good will," Bishop Stewart spoke of its spirit, its universality and significance.

"God bless the Good Fellows and all who share in their excellent plan," he said. "For nearly 30 years THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has been fostering this movement which means joy to thousands of homes in Chicago and thousands of children, and a merry Christmas to all who make others merry, a happy New Year to all who make others happy."

Spirit of the Good Fellows.

While the visits of the Good Fellows who trudged through the streets and rang door bells remained veiled under a curtain of secrecy, while the modern reindeer sledge often turned out to be an airplane or an automobile, something of the spirit of the Good Fellows may be found in the reports of THE TRIBUNE reporters who went out as agents for those who con-

Bells Ring Out Joyful Tidings in Bethlehem

BETHLEHEM, Palestine, Dec. 25 [Christmas].—(AP)—Worshipers from many lands thronged the ancient Church of the Nativity and the adjoining St. Catherine church early today in a joyous celebration of Christ's birth here.

While the bells of the town, six miles south of Jerusalem, rang out their Christmas message, hundreds pushed into St. Catherine's to find rows of nuns saying their rosaries.

In the crowd come to honor their Savior were government officials and their wives, camel drivers, water carriers, townspeople, and British soldiers, many of whom were rushed to Palestine to quell the violence growing out of the Arab strike against Jewish immigration.

Soldiers Guard Worshipers.

Among the worshipers were Lieut.-Gen. John Dill, commander of the British forces in Palestine, and his staf who were seated in the front row of the church guarded by soldiers bearing rifles.

It was warm and starry and thousands congregated around the church where numerous armed police and soldiers stood guard among the throng.

The mass began at midnight and continued for an hour and a half. At its close the aged patriarch took the image of the Christ child from the high altar and led a procession through the Church of the Nativity, down into the grotto which since the second century has been considered the actual place of Jesus' birth.

Bells Chime.

The bells chimed again as the robed ecclesiastic placed the image in a manger where it is to lie until Epiphany, Jan. 6, the day several of the eastern churches send representatives to the church to celebrate their Christmas.

Many of the worshipers remained in Bethlehem to see the dawn come over the hills across which the three wise men traveled, guided by a star, to present the infant Jesus with gold and frankincense and myrrh.

The early morning mass dimmed only slightly the ceremony in the Church of the Nativity yesterday, when the patriarch journeyed from Jerusalem at the head of a procession to pray here.

Yesterday's Ceremony.

A dense throng stood in reverent silence in the courtyard as the churchman, wearing a magenta robe, entered the little Church of the Nativity and passed on to the Church of St. Catherine.

Brown clad Franciscans, who are among the guardians of the Palestine shrines, received the patriarch.

The men who guard the church of the Nativity day and night never worship there. Instead, they go to a nearby mosque. All are Moslems, appointed by the government on the theory that to select a guard of one of the Christian faiths would cause jealousies among the others who share the guardianship of the place of Jesus' birth.

JOYEUX NOEL!

WORLD IS BOTH GAY AND SOLEMN OVER YULETIDE

Nations Everywhere Celebrate.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 24.—Germany is having the best Christmas that careful government organizers could devise. There are plenty of community celebrations for grownups and children, ringing of church bells and the singing of carols. But it is not a truly merry Christmas.

Despite official efforts, anxiety about the future overshadows Christmas joy and the question, "What will happen next?" is heard in the streets.

Tomorrow thousands of families who once enjoyed the traditional roast goose on Christmas day will have to be satisfied with roast pork because it is cheaper. Oranges are only for those who have a "pull" with dealers or diplomatic friends who are allowed to receive whatever food they please under diplomatic seal.

Germans Start Complaining.

The vast majority of Germans are willing to forego goose, oranges and other delicacies if it is "necessary for the good of the Fatherland." Nevertheless, there are many Germans who talk of a lack of this or that raw material. The rationing of fats and the ban on the sale of fresh bread to stretch the grain supply seem a sinister omen to persons who have known the horror of a food shortage.

Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the Nazi party, delivered a Christmas message to Germans throughout the world over the radio today.

He assured his listeners that conditions are improved in Germany. He praised "the day of national solidarity" when state officials help collect funds for winter relief to aid the poor.

Gratitude to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler was the keynote of the Christmas message of Minister of Interior Dr. Wilhelm Frick.

"Let us thank him for his work, his care, and his struggle to unite us more closely in an indestructible national community," he said.

Hitler Host to Children.

Hitler was host to 200 children at a Christmas party at Berchtesgaden in the Bavarian Alps. All the orphans in the vicinity were among the guests. The children gathered around a tree in the dining room of the Fuehrer's villa. Woolen gloves, toys and sweets were distributed.

Gen. Herman Wilhelm Goering, minister for aviation, entertained 500 poor children in a Berlin concert hall. They received toys, including many sets of tin soldiers.

Gayety in Paris Dimmed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 24.—Paris tonight made a hopeful effort to recover its waning reputation of gayety as it observed the Christmas eve feast, the traditional "reveillon," but it fell short of the extravagant performances of the past decade.

The more fashionable restaurants and night clubs drew good crowds to eat the fixed menu of oysters, black blood sausage, turkey, goose liver paste, Christmas cake washed down with Bordeaux, Burgundy, Alsatian, or central wines, and followed by champagne.

But all menus lacked the richness they once had and the champagne trickled rather than flowed. The damper on merrymaking was caused by the absence of crowds of free spending foreigners among whom Americans always were the most conspicuous.

The usual crowds attended the midnight masses of Paris' famous churches, especially Sainte Clotilde, in the fashionable Invalides quarter, and Saint Eustache, where top hats and expensive furs of the arriving worshipers contrasted oddly with heaps of cabbages and cauliflowers piled on the sidewalks.

Rome Both Gay and Solemn.

ROME, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Gayety and solemnity mingled in Italy's Christmas eve celebration.

There was gayety in Piazza Navona, where last minute purchases of Christmas gifts were made among the crowded open air stalls. A carnival spirit made the neighborhood uproarious as young Italians milled about the plaza blowing horns, throwing confetti and ogling dark eyed signorinas.

There was joy in the homes, too, where Italian children received their first instalment of gifts. They get more on New Year's day and Epiphany, an. 6.

The churches contributed to the joyous atmosphere as their scores of bells rang out at midnight to herald the anniversary of the Savior's birth.

Prayers Said for Pope.

Within the churches the midnight masses were conducted with a particular solemnity inspired by the anxiety of the Catholic world for the health of Pope Pius XI. Fervent prayers for the holy father's well being were uttered by thousands upon thousands of devout Italians, kneeling in the great gilded basilicas, or in humble parish churches.

In Rome the Basilica of St. Mary Major attracted the most numerous throng of worshipers. There, in the traditional Christmas rite, were exposed the five pieces of wood which Catholic tradition says were parts of the crib in which the infant Jesus lay after His birth.

The precious relics lay in a silver case, ornamented with bas-reliefs and statuettes. The worshipers crowded forward to kneel before the symbolic fragments and kiss their gleaming casket.

Carry Lambs to Church.

Throughout Italy the people observed ceremonies peculiar to their localities. In Alassio, near Genoa, high booted shepherds trooped in from the hills bearing their ewe-lambs in their arms to their parish churches, where the priests blessed them at the midnight masses.

Children of Florence hung their stockings, their faith that they would be filled pinned not on Santa Claus, but on a benevolent, bearded hunchback known as "Ceppo."

Christmas trees were in vogue in the north of Italy, near the Austrian border, but elsewhere in Italy, where they are deemed a foreign custom, they were the exception.

In Rome's colorful flower stalls sprigs of holly gave a Christmas touch to the brilliant hues of roses, carnations, violets, and chrysanthemums sold in the open air throughout the winter.

Eskimos Nibble Whale Flippers.

BARROW, Alaska, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Behind a team of swift reindeer, a big eskimo Santa Claus sped through the American arctic tonight delighting the native kiddies with such delicacies as whale flippers and blubber.

After religious services here came the important ceremony of distributing gifts. Presents included everything from muktuk [whale blubber], Oogruk [seal], skins for mukluks [boots] to the "white man's smokes"—and candy.

At Wainwright, ninety miles west, Santa rode through the village in a similar manner.

Drives Reindeer Through Town.

In Nome, Jim Brandon, part eskimo, drove his reindeer through town, making two stops—one at the Catholic church and the other at the Federated church.

Eskimos ingeniously solved the Christmas tree problem. Living in a treeless country, they designed trees from reindeer horns painted green.

In each region the eskimo who gave away the largest number of presents was styled the No. 1 man for the rest of the year.

At Sebbins, where more primitive natives have known Christmas only since 1929, an Oregon fir tree, carefully nursed in a can of water, was laden with candles and ornaments. "Oh, come all ye faithful," children sang in eskimo, with organ accompaniment.

CHRISTMAS BASKETS ARE DELIVERED TO 723 INDIGENT HORSES HERE

Santa Claus took on new burdens this year in his task of delivering presents by including on his Christmas list poor old dobbin, often neglected on the holiday in the past. Christmas baskets, containing six pounds of choice horse food, were delivered to 723 indigent animals by the Anti-cruelty society last night.

Every stable in the city had been canvassed, according to Dr. W. A. Young, manager of the society, and no horse needing a good feed was overlooked. The baskets contained cracked oats and corn, chopped carrots and apples, bran and a lump of sugar.

Dr. Young reported that his agents had been unable to find Dido, a three year old race horse that was running on the tracks here last summer and had to walk to a north side stable from the Washington park race track at Homewood at the end of the season.

More than 200 pounds of cat and dog food were also distributed by the society.

1,400 CHICKENS TO FEED CONVICTS AT CHESTER TODAY

Chester, Ill., Dec. 24. — (AP) — More than 1,400 chickens will be roasted for the Christmas dinner of 2,821 convicts at southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard.

Steward Louis Karcher said today forty convicts have been dressing the fowls.

Other food for the dinner and the quantities: 2,000 pounds of creamed potatoes, 600 pounds of cranberries, 150 gallons of creamed peas, 150 gallons of pumpkin in pies, 450 gallons of milk, 500 pounds of sugar, and 1,000 loaves of bread.

DENIES NEW TRIAL.

Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller yesterday overruled a motion for a new trial in behalf of Morris Levin, 39 years old, who was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell for operating a disorderly house at 1650 Monroe street.

POPE PIUS DEFIES ILLNESS TO GIVE PLEA FOR PEACE

Reported None the Worse for Talk to World.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 25 [Friday].—Calling on the physical vigor which in his youth won him a name as a mountaineer and on corresponding, but far greater, reserves of spiritual strength that a lifetime of the strictest religious discipline has built up, Pope Pius XI. defied sickness and old age yesterday by delivering his Christmas message of peace to a world sorely in need of it.

The pope, according to latest reports from the Vatican, was none the worse for his great effort. In fact, it was reported he was strong enough to hear midnight mass said in his room. It was the first time the pontiff has missed celebrating personally a Christmas eve midnight mass since he was ordained a priest 57 years ago.

Watched by Physician.

Propped up in bed before a microphone linked to a world-wide radio hookup, and under the watchful eye of his physician, Dr. Amanti Milani, the supreme pontiff, struggled for 25 minutes against weakness, acute pain in his leg, and asthmatic catarrn which doubled his effort of speaking and sometimes rendered his words indistinct.

From the minute he began to speak it was evident it was the voice of a very sick and very tired old man which was going over the ether.

It was also evident that an almost superhuman will power was battling against these infirmities and conquering them and that a highly spiritualized intellect had commanded this effort for important reasons.

Refers to Spanish War.

These reasons the pope made clear himself when, after referring to the "horror of hatred and carnage of destruction" in the Spanish civil war, he declared:

"Here is a new menace more threatening than ever before for the whole world and principally for Europe and Christian civilization."

This menace to civilization, exemplified by the Spanish civil war, the pope traced first, to communist propaganda which he denounced more forcefully than he had ever done before, and second, to certain violent and mistaken reactions to bolshevism—a shaft presumably aimed chiefly at German Nazis or at least the more violent Nazi element of Germany.

Germany alone of the major nations having diplomatic relations with the Vatican did not permit a rebroadcast of the pope's address.

Warns World.

The pontiff couched in particularly dramatic and forceful terms his position on vital world problems, as for example in the almost apocalyptic passage where, still referring to Spain, the pope said:

"Here are signs and portents of the terrifying reality of what is being prepared for Europe and the whole world if they do not hasten to adopt the necessary remedies for defense."

Again, in denouncing communist propaganda, the pope called for a "union of all men of good will against the propaganda of the enemy and his constantly renewed attempts to bring about the ruin of fundamental principles of human society, of the family, and the individual."

"Supreme Experiment."

In Spain, the pope added, "it seems the powerful and evil forces of which we spoke have wished to make the supreme experiment of all the destructive forces gathered throughout the world which they have at their command."

This militant and emphatic tone in denouncing what he regards as an evil, so characteristic of the pope's temperament, suggested to informed listeners that it was a symbol intended to serve as the pope's political and spiritual testament to the world.

There seems no reason to fear the pontiff's life is in immediate danger, but there is reason to fear that he may never again be strong enough to deliver so weighty a message to the world with his own voice. It is therefore conceivable that the pope himself considered his address to be one of the important closing acts of his pontificate, and attached exceptional importance to it for this reason.

Spirit Against Flesh.

Dramatic as was the pope's message, it was less dramatic than the fact that despite his illness he delivered such a message, or any message at all. It was a battle of the spirit against the flesh, such as one seldom witnesses.

Radio listeners in distant parts of the world may have blamed the hookup for the feebleness and indistinctness of the pope's voice, but in Rome with powerful and accurate loudspeakers, no mistake was possible. There were moments, especially when toward the middle of the speech he paused to take a drink of water, in which his unseen audience wondered if he would be able to finish the address.

Annoyed by Asthma.

Actually the broadcast probably seemed more alarming than it really was. The pope's asthma, which is an annoyance rather than a serious menace to his life, was responsible for the occasional breaks of his voice. Since the microphone was on the table at his right and he was sitting up holding the written text in front of him, the apparent fading out of his voice at moments was more likely due to the discomfort of bending his head than to actual weakness.

What was most remarkable, most stirring and most characteristic of the pope's indomitable spirit was his painstaking insistence on repeating every word given a slurred pronounciation, which a conscientious speaker, knowing the meaning was plain, would not have bothered to do.

Corrects Text As He Reads.

His hesitation in diction likewise was due in part to corrections in the text which the pope made himself while reading. It was evident too, that the pontiff spoke with great emotion—emotion doubly intensified by the struggle against his physical handicap.

At the bedside while he spoke were Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, papal secretary of state; Dr. Milani, the two privy chamberlains, Gonfionieri and Venini, and Father Soccorosi, head of the Vatican radio station.

A minute after the broadcast ended, word was received from Buenos Aires that transmission to South America was perfect.

A MILLION PIECES OF MAIL PASS THROUGH SANTA CLAUS OFFICE

Santa Claus, Ind., Dec. 24.—'Twas the night before Christmas and Oscar L. Phillips, the Christmas postmaster of America, smiled with relief. The annual rush of mail through his little general store postoffice had been cleared—sent on its way with the "Santa Claus" postmark.

"Now we can get some rest," said the kindly rural postmaster, who, because of the magic name of his postoffice, has become a chief aid to jolly St. Nick.

More than 1,000,000 pieces of mail have cleared through the Santa Claus postoffice since the rush started in November, Phillips said.

There was speculation here tonight over whether children would be able to carry on the tradition of a Christmas bell, which hangs in Santa Claus park, and ring it once for each state in the Union.

The park is closed as the result of a legal dispute over the use of the name of "Santa Claus" by commercial companies. The bell hangs behind the locked gates, but children were planning to scale the fence and ring it tomorrow.

STRICKEN BOY, 5, ENJOYS HIS FIRST REAL CHRISTMAS

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Five-year-old Charles Mendenhall saw Santa Claus tonight.

A hundred other children in Mercy hospital saw Santa, too, but the jolly old saint was particularly wonderful to Charles. Two weeks ago physicians feared the boy, suffering from a usually fatal skin disease, would not live until Christmas. Physicians now believe the boy will recover.

A victim of pemphigus, which causes death when too large an area is affected, Charles held Santa's hand and gazed ecstatically at a huge Christmas tree surrounded by glittering toys.

His father, a WPA worker, never had been able to provide gifts for his family of seven boys and girls, Charles explained.

But tonight, his first real Christmas eve, Charles walked and talked with Santa Claus. He rode his new tricycle. He beat rapturously upon his new drum and he played with two toy motor trucks and numerous other gifts. All were sent to him in care of Santa Claus by persons whose hearts were touched by his story, many of them in other cities.

THEY SEE SANTA, BUT MY, MY; AND SUCH MANNERS

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Balfanz, of 4010 Wellington avenue, saw Santa Claus last night, but my, my, what a Santa Claus! He wore a red suit trimmed with white fur, all right, but his voice was real gruff, he had no beard—and he had a gun!

The Santa Claus Mr. and Mrs. Balfanz saw was a burglar in disguise. The Balfanzes were asleep until just before 12, when they were awakened by a noise and a flash light. Balfanz looked up—straight into the gun of the bogus St. Nick. He saw a smooth-shaven man about 30 years old, who seemed to fit quite easily into a masquerade much too large.

"All I want is your money," announced the thief. He forced Balfanz to get out of bed and lead him to the money, $8. Then he looked hurriedly around the room, but took nothing more. This done, he ordered Balfanz to show him the way to the front door. He had entered by climbing a telephone pole just outside the bedroom window. At the door he departed without even a wave of the hand or a "Merry Christmas."

KEEP CHRISTMAS SPIRIT ALL YEAR, ROOSEVELT PLEA

Lights Community Tree in Capital.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt in lighting Washington's community Christmas tree tonight called upon his people to observe the great lesson and the great opportunity of Christmastide demonstrated by the "Christmas Carol" of Charles Dickens.

In touching the electric button which bedazzled the gloom of LaFayette square fronting the White House with Christmas tree lights, Mr. Roosevelt said that he was called to the lighting ceremony from his annual custom of reading the great Christmas story to his family. He asked that in taking part in the observance of the traditional Christmas eve ceremony that he be permitted to quote the pledge "Old Scrooge" came to understand in his heart after many vicissitudes—the great lesson and the great opportunity of the Christmas season.

Keep Spirit All Year.

"I will honor Christmas in my heart and try to keep it all the year," the President quoted. "I will live in the past, in the present, and the future. The spirit of all three shall strive within me. I will not shut out the lessons that they teach."

The President's voice hung out in the sharp December air over the heads of Washingtonians gathered to mark the opening of the Christmas season. Mr. Roosevelt stood beside the shadow of a towering pine tree a few feet from the monument to Andrew Jackson astride a prancing steed. After his quote from the most famous Christmas story, Mr. Roosevelt continued with the glorious passage at the end of the story:

"Scrooge was better than his word. He did it all and infinitely more; and to Tiny Tim, who did not die, he was a second father. He became as good a friend, as good a master and as good a man as the good old city knew, or any other good old city, town or borough in the good old world. Some people laughed to see the alteration in him, but he let them laugh and little heeded them; for he was wise enough to know that nothing ever happened on this globe for good, at which some people did not have their fill of laughter in the outset. His own heart laughed; and that was good enough for him."

Recalls Sermon on Mount.

From "The Christmas Carol" Mr. Roosevelt turned to the Sermon on the Mount pointing out that the teaching of the sermon is as adequate to the needs of men and nations as it was "when it was first proclaimed among the hills above the sea of Gallilee. In such measure as its spirit is accepted," he said, "men may lay claim to be seekers after peace on earth.

"We of the western hemisphere have this year rendered special tribute to the spirit of Christmas, for we have pledged anew our faith in the arbitrament of reason and the practice of friendship," he concluded, recalling his part in the Inter-American conference for the maintenance of peace. "To that faith we bear witness tonight. May that faith make us happy today and tomorrow and through all the coming year."

At his last sentence Mr. Roosevelt pushed the button lighting the city's community Christmas tree. From the tree he turned to the White House to lead in the celebration of Christmas for his family. In the evening stockings were hung before the small Christmas tree on the second floor for the President's mother, the President, Mrs. Roosevelt, their children and their grandchildren.

Open Gifts Today.

The stockings and accompanying gifts for the children will be opened tomorrow morning. Gifts for the adults will be opened tomorrow afternoon after grownups attend services at the Covenant-First Presbyterian church.

Observation of the holiday season began for the President at noon when he and Mrs. Roosevelt received 150 members of his official family. To each he gave a hearty seasonal greeting and a remembrance of the year. Later in the day he received the families of the White House staf. To the children he distributed toys and to the oldsters the customary Christmas greetings.

NEW MAIL RECORD IS SET FOR 2D DAY; 20,921,602 PIECES

For the second consecutive day a daily all time record for Christmas mail was established Wednesday when 20,921,602 pieces of mail were handled by the postoffice. Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen reported yesterday. This corresponded to 17,742,076 for the same day last year. The previous all time record was set Tuesday when 19,294,497 pieces of mail were handled.

CHRISTMAS POET WAITS 22 YEARS TO CLAIM WORK

World-Wide Acclaim Is Ultimate Reward.

Troy, N. Y., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Children throughout America listened wide-eyed tonight, as children have for 113 years, to the beloved poem "'Twas the Night Before Christmas," but its initial publication in a Troy newspaper brought only chagrin to the author.

Dr. Clement C. Moore, a divinity professor in New York City wrote the poem as a Christmas present for his children in 1822. A daughter of the Rev. David Butler, Episcopal rector here, visiting the Moore home, heard the author read the poem, hastily copied the verses in her album.

So delighted was she with the merry account of Santa Claus and his reindeers that she sent it to the editor of the Troy Sentinel. And in the Sentinel of Dec. 23, 1823, the poem appeared under the caption "Account of a Visit from St. Nicholas or Santa Claus."

Author Then Unknown.

"We know not to whom we are indebted," the editor wrote, "for the description of that unwearied patron of children—the homely and delightful personage of parental kindness, Santa Claus, his costume and his equipage as he goes about visiting the firesides of this happy land, laden with Christmas bounties," the editor wrote.

"But from whomever it may have come, we give thanks for it," he added. "We hope our little patrons, both lads and lassies, will accept it as proof of our unfeigned good will toward them as a token of our warmest wish that they have many a merry Christmas."

The "lads and lassies," reading about the house in which "not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse," were delighted, as the editor predicted. Not so Dr. Moore, a distinguished scholar.

Expresses His Chagrin.

To friends he expressed his "chagrin" at the publication of a poem which he deemed beneath the dignity of a theological professor.

But in 1844 he accepted the world's verdict and acknowledged authorship of the poem describing the "little old driver, so lively and quick, I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick." It was included in a volume of other poems by Dr. Moore.

NEEDY FAMILY GETS A CHRISTMAS BASKET AND LOT OF SERVICE

Robinson, Ill., Dec. 24.—(AP)—A committee from the Elks lodge delivering baskets to needy families blinked at this note pinned on a door.

"Have gone to Vincennes. Put basket on kitchen table and milk and chicken in refrigerator. Thanks."

"Well, I'll be!" muttered one brother, "We're not leaving a basket here!"

"Oh, yes we are," another amended. "People that smart would sue us if we didn't."

TWO ARE DEAD IN FIREWORKS SHOP BLAST AND FIRE

Asheville, N. C., Dec. 24.—(AP)—An explosion in a downtown fireworks store tonight killed at least two persons and injured nearly a dozen others.

An hour after the explosion firemen, hacking their way through the wreckage, had brought out two bodies. They expressed fear several others had been killed.

The identified dead:

"Red" Corn, 30, Woodfin, N. C., clerk in the store.

Mrs. Maude Stepp, middle aged.

At that time the firemen had not penetrated to the basement of the building, which caved in.

Christmas is observed throughout this region with fireworks displays.

Automobiles parked on both sides of the street were damaged by flame and heat. One vehicle directly in front of the building was demolished.

Bud Shaney, professional baseball pitcher, said the fire probably was caused by an open charcoal pot, around which employés were assembled. Shaney said six to ten persons were in the store when he left.

PRESIDENT'S SON IS KEPT IN HOSPITAL BY SLIGHT SETBACK

Boston, Mass., Dec. 24.—(AP)—A source close to the case of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. said tonight that a slight setback in his condition was responsible for the cancellation yesterday of plans of the President's son to fly to the White House for Christmas.

Young Roosevelt has been confined to the Massachusetts General hospital since before Thanksgiving, first for a sinus operation, subsequently complicated by a streptococcus.

Dr. Charles Johnson, one of the physicians who assisted several days ago at the operation to relieve the sinus trouble, said young Roosevelt was walking about his hospital room."

Meanhwile with his condition described officially by the hospital as "satisfactory," he was cheered by the prospect of a visit tomorrow from his fiancée, Ethel du Pont, and the possibility his mother might also come to Boston to see him.

GOOD FELLOWS CARRY CHEER TO 8,000 CHILDREN

Many Needy Homes Find There Is a Santa.

tributed money. Here are some of the reports:

"IT'S SANTA CLAUS!"

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Two messengers of the Good Fellows went to a house on Sedgwick street. They climbed rickety wooden stairs and went through narrow passages and finally arrived at the second floor rear. The door opened before they could knock and five shiny faced urchins shouted "Mommy, it's Santa Claus!"

It was about time that Santa Claus arrived. Father Frank, 38 years old, is out of work and the family lives on $38 a month relief. Mother Rose is as brave as she is pretty. Her black hair, shining brown eyes and gleaming white teeth bespeak an Italian ancestry. She is certain there are better days ahead.

Toys, Candy and Food.

Felice, 11, oldest of the five children, plunged into the basket of toys and candy, parceling out the presents, on each of which a name was written. Baby Mary hugged her first doll. Mother Rose unwrapped a big turkey, cranberries, potatoes, and celery and laid it out on the clean scrubbed kitchen table.

"O thank you, thank you many times," she said. "You have brought Christmas into our home. Merry Christmas, Good Fellows. God bless and keep you."

In another second floor flat on West Chicago avenue the messengers found a family of seven.

The father has had plenty of misfortune but has a little work now and Lillian, Tom, John and Joe are helping out.

"This is the best Christmas we've ever had," Lillian told the Good Fellows. We've never had a turkey before, and we need this flour and sugar so badly. Mother didn't know today whether to take the money she had to get some shoes for Joe and me or whether to buy things for Christmas."

CHRISTMAS MADE REAL

BY MARCIA WINN.

Halfway up a black, perilous stairway, the Good Fellows paused and rested their heavy burden. On the fourth floor, far above, a door opened, and a shaft of light fell down.

"Who's there?" came a husky voice.

"Good Fellows, with a merry Christmas," was the reply.

Tumbling down the stairs to help them came three tiny boys, Robert, Richard and Roland, trailed by a dimpled Ruth.

Upstairs, in an apartment neat and clean, the only Christmas decoration was a bare fir tree. Ruth, who is ten years old, rushed into the kitchen to bring out a thirty foot paper chain. "We made it," she said excitedly. "It's for the decoration." Robert, who is twelve, spoke up, "It wraps around three times."

Parents Both Poorly.

The mother was ill. The father, a semi-invalid, is of German birth and used to be a lether tooler. He lost his work because of ill health, and now earns some money as a translater of Dutch, German and French. The children, blonde with pug noses, are small and frail. Rosemary, who is five but looks two, hasn't grown since she had concussion of the brain two years ago.

The children clustered eagerly around the basket.

"And you thought," their mother reproved them gently, "there wasn't any Santa Claus."

"Well," spoke up Roland, clutching a rocking horse, "you said he wouldn't come."

"I said," his mother replied huskily, "that he MIGHT not come."

A MIRACLE HAPPENS

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

"We were sure Santa Claus wouldn't forget us," tow-haired Edith, 7 years old, greeted Maj. George W. Vest, air commerce bureau chief, and Col. Roscoe Turner, speed flyer, as the two aviation Good Fellows knocked at the door of a small apartment on Lowe avenue yesterday.

"Mama told us he'd send some one," the little girl, barefooted and with a single soiled gingham dress protecting her from the cold, confided to her visitors as they carried in a basket of food and a bag of toys. "Just look what he sent."

While she fled to the kitchen to fetch her brothers and sisters, Raymond, 5 years old; Audrey, 4; Billy, 2, and Ellen, a toddler of 19 months, her mother sat wiping her eyes with a corner of her apron.

Mother's Hope Realized.

"You know how it is," she said. "We had no Christmas at all for the children, but I had to tell them something. I hoped some miracle like this would happen."

On South Carpenter street the two airmen found four children in a family of six and their mother. The husband is a laborer who has been without regular work for several years. There was no food in the house and the children had been told there would be no Christmas for them this year.

"But I was wrong," the mother said as the visitors departed. "There will be a Christmas here and we'll have our first good meal in months."

A TRAGEDY LIGHTENED

BY KAY HALL.

The Good Fellow didn't know until he stepped in the door of a basement flat on South Wood street that the mother of this adopted family had been buried just the day before.

He found Juanita, 18 years old, trying to take of six younger brothers and sisters. It was a colored family and the three boys, aged 10, 11, and 12, were well mannered little fellows who "stepped lively" when their sister spoke.

"O, I want to surprise them," said Juanita. "Let's put the things in here so they won't see them until they open their stockings Christmas morning."

No Hiding the Turkey.

But the turkey could not be hidden in any dark closet.

"I've seen those in store windows," said one of the boys.

Frank grabbed a carrot, ran to the kitchen and washed it and came back devouring it.

The children found the candy, too, before Juanita could hide it. So while they may not know much about the mystery of death and the meaning of a motherless home, they know that Christmas is real and Santa Claus lives.

A MODERN ST. NICK

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

A blonde young mother opened the door of a third floor rear flat on Warren avenue. She pushed her curly wisps back with one hand and tugged at the hand of her baby with the other. Behind her, mingling with the sound of children, came the overtones of a radio broadcast of "Silent Night."

"Yes'm," she said, "I'm the lady of the house. . . . You are Good Fellows, are you? Gee . . ."

She was young, not over 20. Her three children stood behind her fearing the strangers who came bearing gifts. Their Santa Claus, they whispered, had a red coat and a beard. But they reached out and clasped the train, the horse, and the doll, and fondled them each in turn, until their idea of Santa Claus had been transformed. He was a Good Fellow!

"I don't know how to thank you," their mother said. "I don't know what we would have done without you . . ."

CHILD'S HOPE ANSWERED

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

In a mean little west side street the Good Fellow stops before a shabby two story frame house. At the head of a narrow, broken, wooden stairway a door opens and five heads pop out. The mother, Giovanna, is scrubbing the stairs.

The children explain that they can't afford presents this year. Then the big basket of food and toys is brought out. It was hard for them to realize that there was no charge for all this, that the Good Fellows have sent it.

While $55 a month—all the family has—is not enough to allow for Christmas presents, Catherine, 5 years old, does not understand these things and so she went downtown and asked a department store Santa for a doll. And here it came yesterday in this basket. It had eyes that open and shut, and shoes and stockings, and was very marvelous.

Now, the mother and her children said, they know, there IS a Santa Claus.

THE "NICEST CHRISTMAS"

BY EDWIN KENNEDY.

These children had gone out to find Santa Claus when the Good Fellow substitutes arrived. Alonzo, 9 years old; Alberta, 7; Kenneth, 5, and Irene, 2, had decided on one last look at the Santa in a neighboring department store. Perhaps he would ask them what they wanted. And he must have done something about it. For when they got home they found a great big basket of things, toys for each one and everything arranged for the nicest Christmas they could remember.

In another home on Washington boulevard the mother had been having a hard time answering the children's questions. Was Santa going to visit them this year?

"I could not answer them," she told the Good Fellow. "But now I can."

CANTATA 'BETHLEHEM' ENDS TRIBUNE TOWER YULE SERIES TODAY

The sacred cantata "Bethlehem" will be presented from 2:15 to 3:15 o'clock this afternoon in the final W-G-N broadcast of Christmas music from the loudspeakers on the façade of Tribune Tower. The Civic Choral society of 60 voices under the direction of William F. Mullen, and four soloists will be heard in the cantata. Laura A. Kellogg, soprano, Earl Chapleau, tenor; William F. Mullen, baritone, and Frank Vonesch, bass, are the soloists. Today's program concludes the sixth annual series of Christmas chimes and carols given by W-G-N.

Christmas carols were heard in many parts of the city yesterday, Twenty-five girls of the Mundelein College Glee club serenaded Cardinal Mundelein at his home, State parkway and North avenue, last night, According to his usual custom, the cardinal then invited the carolers upstairs to see his Christmas tree. The girls left after singing "Ihr Kinderlein Kommet" ["The Children Come"] a German carol requested by the prelate.

At Columbus hospital, 2548 Lakeview avenue, nurses sang carols as they distributed holly to the patients. In the Windermere East hotel, 12 members of the Interfraternity club's glee club serenaded the guests. Earlier in the day the Universal Atlas Cement company mixed chorus of 60 sang in the corridors of the 208 South La Salle street building.

LEADS IN TURKEYS TO BOOST WEIGHT BRING A $200 FINE

Accused of overweighing turkeys by placing pieces of lead in them, Edward Genthner, 37 year old, a butcher at 3759 Montrose avenue, paid a $200 fine yesterday before Judge Eugene J. Holland in the Shortweight court. He was arrested Wednesday after inspectors from the city sealer's office, acting on complaints, visited his meat market. They testified they purchased a turkey and after Genthner had weighed the bird, they seized it, shook it vigorously and out dropped two pieces of lead weighing 12 ounces. Genthner was unable to explain the lead pieces to the court.

MALE SHOPPERS TAKE REST CURE; WOMEN DIFFER

They Eye Bargains for Tomorrow.

Chicago menfolks, tardy as usual in their Christmas shopping, besieged the stores yesterday in search of presents for their ladies, and today they will be at home, most of them beginning a three day holiday.

Not so simple is the lot of their ladies. Many of them tomorrow will take a deep breath and plunge into the regular after-Christmas shopping. Some will begin the annual business of exchanging presents for more desirable items. Thousands of thrifty women will take advantage of after-Christmas sales. Girls home from schools, with only a few days left to freshen up their wardrobes, will swell the shopping crowds.

Adds to Sales Record.

Thus, for another five days before the start of the new year, Chicago stores will pile up more sales to add to their 1936 record, which already has been the best since 1929—20 per cent above last year.

Weary salesgirls have a day of rest today, and they'll need it, said an executive of a large department store.

"The day before Christmas is a trying day," he added. "A majority of the customers are men, and some of them fortify themselves with a few drinks before entering the lingerie department, where most of them go."

At 2 p. m. yesterday 75 per cent of the stream of shoppers on store escalators were men—most of them wearing anguished last-minute-shoppers' faces. Adults crowded toy departments up to midafternoon, but few children were present.

Plan 3-Day Holiday.

Most Chicago business and industrial concerns will relax rules tomorrow to permit most of their stafs to have a three-day holiday. Many public offices also will be closed.

The federal building, except for postal service, will do no business until Monday. Skeleton postal service is to be available today at both the new postoffice and the annex in the federal building. Mail will be accepted all day. Two collections from letter boxes will be made, to arrive at the postoffice at 2 and 9 p. m.

In the city hall only the offices of the city clerk, collector, and water department remained on a full operating basis yesterday. Elsewhere employés assembled around Christmas trees for traditional parties. Today all offices in the city hall and county building will be closed.

SANTA WON'T FORGET SINGING MOUSE; SHE'S GETTING A NEW CAGE

Minnie, the singing mouse at the Woodstock Industrial Home for Children, will get a Christmas present this morning—a brand new cage with glass sides.

"She deserves it," said Superintendent Herbert C. Gensch. "She's worked hard and improved her voice since her radio broadcast a week ago. She has gained in range she trills better, hangs on to higher notes longer, and sounds just like a canary."

Minnie, in her new cage, will have a place of honor at the head of the school's Christmas dinner table. She will be called on for a solo—a Christmas carol if possible.

CHRISTMAS DAY TRACED TO DAWN OF HUMAN LIFE

Called a Symbol of Man's Search for Redeemer.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Why is Christmas celebrated each year on Dec. 25? In view of the fact that Christ probably was not born on that date, this question was put yesterday to Prof. George L. Robinson of Presbyterian Theological seminary.

Prof. Robinson's explorations and published studies of the lost Edomite city of Petra are widely known in scholarly circles. He has been on the seminary faculty here for thirty-nine years and is noted for his profound researches in religious history.

In answer to the query the professor unraveled historic skeins reaching deep into ancient civilizations and traced down two dates which have been observed since primitive mankind first began to mark days with scratches on limestone. These dates are Dec. 25 and Jan. 6.

Mankind's First Friend.

The story the professor told began at the dawn of human life when man, the frightened savage, piteously sought a friend whom he could regard as a protector from the cruel foes, animate and inanimate, which surrounded primitive life.

Early man was a keen observer of nature and natural phenomena. This keenness had helped his ancestors to survive the rigors of savage life during ages of human development. In looking at the world about him savage man found one friend. It was the sun, which drove away the cold and the storms and brought food from the earth.

The sun, he observed, appeared to vanish southward, letting in the cruel cold of winter. Then on a certain day it began its return, bringing with it the refreshing new verdure of springtime.

A Day of Rejoicing.

It was this turning point of the sun northward—the winter solstice—that primitive man set aside as the date of tribal rejoicing over the return of his friend.

With only the crudest devices to help him in his observations early man was unable to do more than to approximate the solstice date, and with the advent of recorded history, Prof. Robinson points out, Dec. 25 and Jan. 6 were the dates chiefly observed for this event, which takes place variably between Dec. 21 and Dec. 23.

The professor told of the sun and fertility cults of deep antiquity which developed from this prehistoric feast. He told of the interest of scholars in the newly discovered Ras Shamra tablets which, he said, probably will shed light on dietary and agrarian regulations on which the laws of the book of Leviticus may rest. These fertility cults, together with the river and stream cults of Egypt, have an important bearing on the Christmas celebration.

Egypt's Date of Feasting.

Osiris, Egyptian deity of the river and vince and grape, was introduced by Prof. Robinson in order that this deity might weave his important tradition into the historical fabric. He told Dionysus, also the god of wine and vine, but of Grecian origin, and explained that the cults of both of these gods were widespread and became virtually fused during early Christian centuries. The great feast day of both Dionysus and Osiris by the time of Christ had been long established on the date of Jan. 6, when in Greece, Egypt, and many other lands, rivers and streams were blessed and the people were baptized in the sacred waters.

Then Mithra of Persia, described as god of blood and battle and mystery, was introduced by Prof. Robinson. It was Mithra, he said, who drew the line of battle between two worlds, the good and the bad; the world of light and the world of darkness, and who also blessed the arms and eagles of the Roman legions. Mithra's birthday feast, heralding also the birthday of the sun and its triumph over the world of darkness, had been long established on Dec. 25 at the time the first Christian fathers came to Rome.

Bitter Foe of Christianity.

"The Mithraic religion," said Prof. Robinson, "was Christianity's bitterest rival during the first two or three centuries. Mithra was a god of men but not of women; of fathers but not of mothers. The Roman soldier adored him as he went out to slay the enemies of Caesar. But Mithraism suddenly disappeared early in the Christian era, and was lost for nearly 1,500 years. It was only recently rediscovered."

Prof. Robinson then introduced additional strands of history into the fabric of the Christmas story. He told of ancient Druidic lore of the British isles which he shuttled thinly through its warp with the mistletoe, remaining as one of the relics of the early Briton's celebration of the sun's return. Added to the historic tapestry were sagas of German forests, whence, he said, the pine trees came to dress the Saturnalian orgy each Dec. 17, in imperial Rome.

Merger of Ancient Dates.

Then Dr. Robinson outlined the complex story of how the many pagan feasts centering in the December and January dates became transformed into Christmas, which he described as "the inevitable and eternal manifestation of the word of God who, dimly foretold by local deities, prophets and seers, at last fulfilled mankind's yearning for a guide, redeemer, and friend."

"Not many years after Christ's resurrection the Christians community began to seek a birthday to observe for their Lord," said Dr. Robinson. "Not knowing the birthday of their Lord, the early Christians turned to Christ's baptism which they believed to have occurred on Jan. 6, coincident with baptismal rites of the cults of Dionysus and Osiris. This observance of Christ's baptism was not called Christmas, he explained, but was known under the Greek word epiphany, meaning the manifestation of Christ's deity."

Changes in the significance of the Epiphany were then pointed out. While Christ's baptism was first emphasized, it was also believed by many, said Dr. Robinson, that Dionysus annually transformed water into wine on Jan. 6. Consequently, the Epiphany soon referred to Christ's miracle at the marriage at Cana of Galilee, when he changed water into wine. But by the fifth century, in the east, the significance of the Epiphany had come to be that of Christ's birthday.

Quarrel Over Pagan Date.

While emphasis on the Epiphany, or Jan. 6, was made by eastern Christians, the western church, centering in Rome, began observance of a birthday for Christ which was separate from his baptism, said Dr. Robinson. This, he pointed out, was the Mithraic birthday of the sun, Dec. 25. The pagan feast, together with those of Saturnalia, were explained also as a shield for Christian celebrations during the great persecutions in Rome.

The eastern churches of Syria and Armenia, said Dr. Robinson, were first horrified because the western church had selected a pagan feast day for Christmas. He added that the eastern fathers, however, had forgotten that their selection of Epiphany also had pagan origins in the religions of Osiris and Dionysus.

It was not until 534 A. D. that the Christian world had broadly united on Dec. 25 as the Christmas date, although some Christian communions still celebrate Christmas on Jan. 6; with nearly all churches continuing to observe Epiphany as a special feast which now, in the main, refers to the visit of the Magi to the Bethlehem cradle.

Lonely Christmas Eve at Crib

Celebrate Later

Out in the lake, pretty much alone except for radio and telephone, several groups of men observed Christmas eve last night. They were Chicago's crib tenders whose job is to see that the city's water supply continues without interruption.

The scene at the Carter H. Harrison crib, two miles out, was typical of those at the others, the Edward F. Dunne crib, opposite 68th street, the Four Mile crib, opposite Roosevet road; and the Wilson avenue crib.

At the Harrison crib Daniel Bain, Andrew Sloan and Cyril Ryan listened to radio programs of Christmas music or played solitaire. At midnight they sat down to a "Christmas eve" supper prepared by Ryan.

Bain, Sloan and Ryan are all married and have families. They admitted they would have preferred to be home. However, they'll have to wait until Monday. "Then we'll celebrate our Christmas, and open up our gifts," said Bain.

PAROLE BOARD HEAD BEFORE HORNER OVER RELEASE OF KILLER

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner and George Scully, state supervisor of paroles, conferred here today on the case of Stanley Marowski, paroled convict, who with Frank [Doc] Whyte, has confessed to the murder of Patrolman Michael Toth in a tavern in Chicago on Nov. 8. Scully's appearance at the governor's office gave rise to speculation as to whether he may resign.

Marowski was paroled from Joliet penitentiary last June 17. He was serving a ten year to life sentence for armed robbery. The deliberations of the state parole board in releasing Marowski have not been made public. His record showed that he was one of Joliet's "most dangerous incorrigibles" and made two breaks for freedom during his imprisonment.

Whyte also is a paroled convict, having won his freedom last April 4 after serving part of a sentence for robbery.

Neither Gov. Horner nor Scully would discuss the results of their conference. The governor said he would make a statement Saturday.

Legality in Doubt, but Hotel Workers Will Get Yule Gift

Expressing doubt as to the legality of the expenditure, Judge Francis B. Allegretti in the Superior court yesterday authorized Abe Salitzky, receiver for the Coolidge hotel at 2950 Jackson boulevard, to make Christmas gifts of $5 each to the hotel's eleven employés. After a conference among lawyers for the receiver and the bondholders it was decided to record the gifts as "additional compensation."

Million Visitors Jam London for Christmas Celebration

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 24.—"Christmas at home," one of the most cherished traditions of British family life, appears slowly to be passing out.

A record total of nearly 1,000,000 visitors, including hundreds of Americans, invaded London this yuletide and hotels were preparing for the gayest Christmas in history.

Simultaneously, tens of thousands of Londoners left for continental spas, inland and seaside resorts where special provision has been made for them.

There seems little doubt that a large proportion of the younger generation finds a hotel Christmas more attractive than the old fashioned fireside festivities and the bookings of hotels in most big cities were reported between 20 and 30 per cent higher than last year.

Railroads are running thousands of extra trains during the holiday to cope with the rush of passenger traffic. Continental airlines are doubling their services.

Shops Thronged for Weeks.

Not since the boom years has Great Britain entered the Christmas season with such a general feeling of returning prosperity as marks this year's celebrations. For weeks shops in every large city were thronged with customers. In the last few days London stores were so crowded that it was almost impossible to complete one's purchases without an exhausting physical struggle.

The postoffice has reported the greatest rush in history. A total of 18,000,000 letters and 800,000 parcels were handled in London alone yesterday.

The needy in the distressed areas of south Wales were sharing to some extent the good times. It was reported yesterday that 220 mail bags containing 60,000 Christmas parcels arrived in the Cardiff and Newport, Wales postoffices. The parcels contain gifts for children from an unidentified donor.

King George VI. of England, Queen Elizabeth, their daughters, Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, Queen Mother Mary, and the duke and duchess of Gloucester are spending Christmas at Sandringham, Norfolk. The royal estate witnessed an old time ceremony today when George VI., following his father's custom, distributed three tons of geese to estate officials, tenants, and workers. The geese were placed on tables in the coachhouse and nearly 250 people received Christmas dinner from the monarch.

Sample Christmas Pudding.

Queen Elizabeth and her mother-in-law, Queen Mother Mary, yesterday supervised arrangements for the royal Christmas festivities. They visited the Sandringham kitchen where they sampled the Christmas pudding.

As a special privilege, Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive, is to share Christmas dinner with the grownups. Hitherto Elizabeth and her sister, Margaret Rose, had Christmas dinner in the day nursery with the nurses.

The sixty employés on the Sandringham estate who were discharged by former King Edward just before his tour of the depressed areas of South Wales were invited to continue in royal employment by the new king today.

CHRISTMAS CAROL

By CALEB

"'A MERRY Christmas, uncle! God save you!' cried a cheerful voice. It was the voice of Scrooge's nephew. . . . 'Bah!' said Scrooge, 'Humbug!' . . . 'Christmas a humbug, uncle!' said Scrooge's nephew. 'You don't mean that, I'm sure?' . . .

"Scrooge having no better answer ready on the spur of the moment, said, 'Bah!' again; and followed it up with 'Humbug!'

"'Don't be cross, uncle!' said the nephew.

"'What else can I be,' returned the uncle, 'when I live in such a world of fools as this? Merry Christmas! Out upon merry Christmas! What's Christmas time to you but a time for paying bills without money; a time for finding yourself a year older, and not an hour richer; a time for balancing your books and having every item in 'em through a round dozen of months presented dead against you? If I could work my will,' said Scrooge indignantly, 'every idiot who goes about with "Merry Christmas" on his lips, should be boiled with his own pudding, and buried with a stake of holly through his heart. He should.'

"'Uncle!' pleaded the nephew.

"'Nephew!' returned the uncle, sternly, 'keep Christmas in your own way, and let me keep it in mine.'"

●

THIS was the day before Christmas. Scrooge took his melancholy dinner in his usual melancholy tavern—and that night had excruciating dream experiences with the spirit of Christmas Past, the spirit of Christmas Present, and the spirit of Christmas Future. To Scrooge was accorded a privilege the rest of us are never given: He saw himself as others saw him. He even saw the destiny he was headed toward fulfilling. His flint-like, crabbed heart, never softened in real life by contact with those around him, was completely melted when he saw the desolate and bitter end which was the only logical denouement for a creature of his kind. Scrooge's thinking changed—and rapidly. Before Christmas morning dawned, the bitterness of old was gone and Scrooge, through putting others in his heart before himself, was made a happy man.

●

"'GOOD Spirit,' he pursued, as down upon the ground he fell before it: 'Your nature intercedes for me, and pities me. Assure me that I yet may change these shadows you have shown me, by an altered life? . . . . I will honour Christmas in my heart, and try to keep it all the year.' . . . . and it was always said of him, that he knew how to keep Christmas well, if any man alive possessed the knowledge. May that be truly said of us, and all of us! And so, as Tiny Tim observed, God Bless Us, Every One!"

WAR SCARE GRIPS EUROPE; COUP BY HITLER FEARED

Nazi "Invasion" of Spain Visioned by Paris.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 24.—The Christmas spirit of Parisians, already dampened by an adverse public and private financial situation, was almost crushed completely by two new major subjects of worry today.

The worry closest at hand is the fear that communists will use the holidays to execute a long expected coup d'état, and Parisians will wake to find the capital in the hands of revolutionaries.

The second subject of anxiety—and more grave—is the international situation and the feeling that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler during the holiday season is going to make grave decisions which will affect all of Europe.

War Scare Spreads.

French officials are extremely jittery. Consequently a war scare is spreading to the other capitals of Europe.

Paris buzzed with stories. One was that Hitler intended to dispatch 60,000 or more soldiers to Spain to fight on the side of Gen. Francisco Franco's Fascist rebel army.

The French also are inclined to believe the German dictator plans a surprise attack on Czechoslovakia—an attack which experts on Central European affairs rather believe is scheduled for next spring.

Even Vision Attack on France.

The possibility is even being mentioned of Hitler in a fit of desperation beginning a war in Europe by an attack on France either by trying to outflank the Maginot line of defenses near Belfort, or through the still unclosed gap left in the line by the return of the Saar basin to Germany.

However, the French are confident the general staf has made adequate preparations against both eventualities. They feel that Hitler, knowing this, would attempt no such folly.

Foreign Minister Yovon Delbos anxiously awaited the Nazi chieftain's decision on Gen. Franco's urgent request to send 60,000 troops to Spain. Delbos conveyed to Count Johannis von Welczeck, the German ambassador, a warning that any "invasion" of Spain by German troops might force France to speed aid to the Madrid forces with a resulting general war in Europe.

Expect Military Experiment.

Diplomatic experts considered it very likely that Hitler intends to embark on some sensational military experiment in Spain. They feel that any drastic action in regard to Spain's civil war would give him a chance to lay all his cards on the table—involving economic, colonial and territorial claims.

Giving a solid basis to French fears, the Paris press for the past week has been emphasizing the desperate economic plight of the reich with comments and cartoons either sympathetic or sarcastic according to the political complexion of the paper. Especially cruel have been the gibes of the communist daily Humanite regarding the scanty ersatz [substitute] rations which have to be accepted by the Germans at the Christmas feast which they love so much.

The result of this deluge of news about Germany's predicament has been to give the average Frenchman the feeling that the Germans have been acquiring a spirit of desperation and are bound to explode even sooner than expected.

Red Plans Revealed.

An alleged communist plan for the capture of Paris already has been revealed. It is said that columns of armed communists from the Red ring of suburbs are preparing to invade the city proper from four points and join in formation of a Maltese cross, cutting Paris in four approximately equal parts.

The east to west line would run from the gate of Vincennes to the gate of Maillot, along the rue Rivoli and Champs Elysees and taking in the prefecture of police and the ministries of finance, navy and interior. The north to south line would run from the Saint Ouen gate to the Versailles gate, taking in the ministries of war, air, communications, agriculture and commerce. The crossing point of the two lines would be Place de la Concorde.

Despite the revelations and the belief that the communists desire to try their chance soon, Parisians have confidence in the preparations made by Minister of War Edouard Daladier. Daladier is reported to have told the communist leaders, Marcel Cachin and Maurice Thorez, he would use the army if suburban communists start marching.

Nazi Chiefs May Meet Today.

BERLIN, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Well-informed sources tonight predicted Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and his chief aides would confer tomorrow or Saturday over Germany's entire future policy in the Spanish civil war.

A central point of the conference, reliable sources said, would be consideration of a request from Gen. Wilhelm Faupel, Nazi ambassador to the Spanish Fascist Junta in Burgos, for greatly increased aid for Gen. Francisco Franco, commander of the rebel forces.

Hitler was in Berchtesgaden, in the Bavarian Alps, while his aides were at their home firesides, but informed sources said they were certain a conference would be called in the Reichsfuehrer's retreat.

Spanish Troops Eat Christmas Stew in the Trenches Today

MADRID, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Spain's loyalist soldiers will eat a kind of mulligan stew for Christmas dinner and have some of the other comforts of home while they lie in the trenches around Madrid, the government announced tonight.

The statement brought some cheer to the militiamen, coming on the heels of a government claim of a three mile gain against the Fascist rebels around Boadilla del Monte, just west of the city.

The soldiers were cautioned not to relax their vigilance, however, after Fascist artillerymen fired a new rain of shells into the center of Madrid for the third successive day and rebel airmen bombed the city tonight.

Distribute "Delicacies."

The Christmas dinner stew, called "rancho," will consist of meat, rice, and potatoes. In addition, the men will have bread and wine.

The International Red Cross and the government announced they would distribute among the soldiers in and around the city 110,000 pounds of candy, 55,000 pounds of cold meat, 110,000 pounds of fruit, 50,000 quarts of brandy, 100,000 packages of tobacco, 100,000 cigars, 100,000 books of cigaret papers and 100,000 packages of matches.

In addition, the troops will get some articles of clothing. Members of the "International Brigade"—a body of foreign volunteers fighting for the government—will be given books in foreign languages.

Hundreds of thousands of toys, the government said, have been assembled for distribution to children made orphans or left homeless by the war.

As the rebel artillery renewed their bombardment of the city, Christmas shoppers along the Gran Via—the principal business street—scrambled for safety. Several were wounded.

Eight shells landed around the telephone building, Madrid's tallest commercial structure and the target of the latest attacks, but the building was not hit as it had been previously.

One projectile ripped through the tower of a building on the Calle de Salud, showering stones to the street below, and a second smashed through a structure across the way.

Rebels Gets Champagne.

WITH THE FASCISTS ON THE MADRID FRONT, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Christmas eve was just another frigid night to Fascist soldiers in their trenches and dugouts around Madrid, although their officers looked forward to tasting tomorrow some champagne their supreme chief sent them. Gen. Francisco Franco, the rebel commander in chief, sent to the front thirty-eight cases of wine.

Truck loads of other presents and wines also were brought up, but they were for distribution to the men on Twelfth Night, Jan. 6, which is more generally celebrated in Spain than Christmas eve.

AMERICAN REFUGEES HOLD YULE PARTY AS AERIAL BOMBS FLY

MADRID, Dec. 24.—(AP)—American refugees in the United States embassy tonight inaugurated the Christmas season with real holiday cheer despite the rumble of war guns on the Madrid front and the shortage of food.

Two Fascist planes flew over the capital in the early evening and dropped two bombs in the center of the city which injured several persons, but the merrymaking in the embassy continued undisturbed. The refugees gathered in the main salon of the embassy where huge logs flamed in the fireplace.

Frank Cannaday, of East Radford, Va., and Mrs. Eleanor Taeylor Fuarez, formerly of Boston, were in charge of supplies and provisions and organized a supper for the 35 American citizens living in the embassy.

MUSSOLINI ANGRY

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 24.—Chafing at the failure of Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish Fascist rebel leader, to make faster headway in the civil war, Premier Mussolini, it was suggested in diplomatic circles today, may within the next few weeks withdraw his help from the rebels. These circles further suggested the Italian dictator may decide to adhere strictly to the letter of the nonintervention accord.

Mussolini was said to be furious at German officers and soldiers in Spain who do not conceal their contempt for the Italians, and who have taken too prominent a part in supporting Franco.

The Germans, it is said, were scheduled to play the part of "loyal allies," seconding the Italians in Spain. Their support is the partial price for Mussolini's abandoning his claims in Austria.

Seeks Mediterranean Pact.

In addition, Il Duce is anxious for a Mediterranean agreement with Britain and hopes to have the matter clinched early in the new year.

Meanwhile, it was reported that two leading London banks are setting up two companies to act as brokers to barter goods between Germany and the British dominions and colonies, with the view of easing Germany's shortage of raw materials.

Germany needs wool, cotton, tin, rubber, and other raw materials which the British empire can supply. The empire, on the other hand, needs machinery, which, because of the pressure of the rearmament program on British industry, cannot be satisfied.

The two new companies, therefore, will conduct an exchange of one kind of goods for the other, balancing trade as nearly as possible.

ALARMS OF WAR ECHO THROUGH ENTIRE WORLD

Christmas Finds Powers in Arms Race.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., 24.—[Special.]—With war raging in Europe and the principal powers of both hemispheres arming in preparation for the conflict they fear they cannot avert, Christmas eve of 1936 finds the world far removed from attainment of "peace on earth, good will toward men."

Spain, wracked with civil war between Socialists and Fascists, is the powder keg on which Europe is sitting. With the Russian soviets aiding the Spanish Socialists and Italy and Germany supporting the Spanish Fascists, there is danger that the war will develop into a general conflict between communism and Fascism, the two forms of government that have wiped out democracy in the greater part of Europe.

Japanese Push On.

The war in Africa between Italy and Ethiopia is still smoldering in fitful outbreaks of hostilities between Mussolini's legions and the Ethiopian hill tribes. In Asia Japanese arms are pushing further and further into north China and Mongolia, increasing the danger of an outbreak of war almost any day between Japan and China and possibly between Japan and Russia also.

With the ending of the Chaco dispute Bolivia and Paraguay peace prevails throughout the western hemisphere and the brighter side of the Christmas picture is provided by the undertakings of the 21 American republics at the Buenos Aires conference to construct new machinery to avert wars and stop wars once begun.

In view of the failure of the league of nations and the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact to prevent Italy's conquest of Ethiopia and Japan's conquest of Manchuria the world will watch with interest the testing of the efficacy of the new peace maintenance devices emanating from Buenos Aires.

Majority League Members.

Inasmuch as the majority of the Latin-American republics are members of the league of nations and as such obligated to join in coercing a nation pronounced an aggressor by the league the question has been raised whether the Buenos Aires consultative pact and other agreements will not operate to draw the United States into foreign political entanglements and possibly into war.

With alarms of war echoing through the world, the expiration of the naval limitation treaties on Dec. 31 will be the signal for an armament race among the leading powers. For 15 years the treaties limiting naval establishments were generally regarded as a promising step in the direction of world disarmament.

The experiment was a failure. Japan abrogated the Washington treaty of 1921 limiting capital ships and with it went down the London treaty of 1921 limiting capital ships and with result of the treaties was the scrapping of America's superiority to Great Britain in naval power and a marking of time during which Japan was enabled to build an auxiliary fleet nearly the equal of America's.

In the naval race now beginning the United States, Great Britain, and Japan are preparing to lay down two new battleships each while France, Italy, and Germany are furiously building.

Britain Retains Warcraft.

Great Britain invoked the escalator clause of the 1930 treaty to avoid scrapping 40,000 excess tons of destroyers and 5 light cruisers. Japan took similar action to keep over age craft. The United States fell in line, matching Britain's retention of 40,000 tons of destroyers that were due to be scrapped.

Secretary of the Navy Swanson announced also that an additional 19,000 tons of destroyers would be retained under article 17 of the London treaty which provides that a transfer not exceeding 10 per cent of allowed total of tonnage may be made from the light cruiser to the destroyer class of warship. Since there will be on Dec. 31 a 73,000 ton shortage in built light cruisers of the United States navy below the full allowance which this country may have in the light cruiser class, the extra tonnage in destroyers will be legally permissible.

U. S. Leads in Destroyers.

This means that when the treaty expires the United States will have on hand 209,000 tons of complete destroyers, although many of them will be over age. The British will have 190,000 tons of destroyers.

Meanwhile Japan, which was permitted under the treaty to have a 28,000-ton excess of destroyers to keep its ratio in line with that of Great Britain after Britain had invoked the escalator clause, has chosen to keep 11,059 tons of destroyers and to use 15,598 tons in pushing upward its submarine limit.

A general breakdown in the original tonnage limitations of the treaty was therefor assured today. The use of the escalator clause by the British to keep the five light cruisers will not be challenged, and it is considered here to be probable the British also will save from scrapping at the last moment four heavy cruisers of the Hawkins type.

Parolee Admits Robberies in 30 North Side Homes

Leo Cox, 21 years old, colored, a paroled convict arrested Wednesday night after he fired a shot at Detective James O'Neill of the Town Hall police, yesterday confessed thirty recent burglaries in north side homes. Cox was seized after robbing an apartment at 4134 Clarendon avenue. Six policemen had surrounded the place on learning that Cox was there. Cox was sentenced to Pontiac reformatory in October, 1932, for one year to life on a burglary charge. He was paroled last April 18.

STAN LAUREL, MOVIE COMEDIAN, DIVORCED ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 24.—[Special]—One phase of the legal troubles that beset Stan Laurel, the bewildered half of the screen comedy team of Laurel and Hardy, was settled today when Mrs. Virginia Ruth Laurel divorced him.

The marital woes the long-faced Laurel uses for a screen vehicle are scarcely more calamitous than those in his real life. He still faces a $1,000 a month separate maintenance action brought by Mrs. Mae Laurel, who contends she was his common law wife in New York.

In obtaining a divorce today, Mrs. Laurel testified that her comedian-husband told her without a trace of humor that he had married her just for spite and did not love her.

She said Laurel twice forced her out of their home and, while intoxicated, threatened her with "extreme physical violence."

A property settlement provides that Mrs. Laurel will receive 5 per cent of the actor's earnings until she remarries, that she will get the Laurel home and two automobiles and that he will pay the balance of $9,000 due on her attorneys' fees.

EXPECT MALONE HOME TODAY TO FACE TAX TRIAL

Homeward bound after three years as a fugitive, William T. Malone, former chairman of the Illinois tax commission, will arrive in Chicago this morning, ready to stand trial on indictments charging $59,579 income tax evasion. He is due here at 8:30 a. m. from New York on the Commodore Vanderbilt of the New York Central lines, and is expected to go immediately to his home at 201 Grand boulevard, Park Ridge.

At the home last night his son, Wilfred Malone, Wilfred's wife, and their two children, Ethel Lee, 5 years old, and William H. Malone II., decorated a Christmas tree in preparation for the homecoming.

Malone was arrested Wednesday night in New York as he arrived from Germany on the liner Europa with his wife. He passed the night in the federal house of detention there, and yesterday was arraigned before a United States commissioner. His bond was fixed at $5,000 after he told the commissioner he intended to go directly to Chicago.

Malone has been in Germany most of the time since his indictment on Oct. 13, 1933.

FIFTY FOOT SEAS MAKE NORMANDIE DAY LATE AT N. Y.

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—The French liner Normandie, delayed one day in her crossing of the North Atlantic by storms which reached hurricane force and which sent fifty foot waves crashing over the superstructure, docked here today with 937 passengers and approximately 5,000 sacks of holiday mail.

Most of those aboard, including several stage and screen celebrities, were Americans returning for the Christmas holidays.

Officers of the ship said that the fifty foot waves broke over the bridge and funnels, ninety feet high.

EDWARD JOINS 25 CHILDREN AT CHRISTMAS TREE

Attends His First Social Event Since Abdication.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ENZESFELD, Austria, Dec. 24.—Edward, duke of Windsor, today attended his first social function since he abdicated Dec. 10 as king of England in order to marry Wallis Warfield Simpson. He went to the Christmas party given by Baroness Eugene Rothschild for children of Rothschild employés.

Twenty-five children who had looked forward for weeks to the big event stood roundeyed with wonder as they were ushered into the room of the baron's Castle Enzesfeld where a huge Christmas tree stood with gifts piled around it.

Eyes opened even wider when not only the baroness, the former Katherine Wolff of Philadelphia, entered, but with her a slight fair haired man who greeted each child as the baroness gave out presents. They knew him as the great personage who had suddenly put their tiny village on the map.

Knew He Was There.

They knew he was in Enzesfeld because the town has been full of foreigners, all there to see "the king," but few of the children had seen him, though their parents work about the household.

Edward beside the baroness, and Count Rex, Baron Rothschild's secretary, as the children's names were called and they came forward bashfully to get their packages, shoes, or other necessary clothing, and also toys and candy.

As they went home through the dusk with their parents, Edward's big car rolled past them up the drive with heavy Christmas mail for the former monarch.

Christmas preparations within the castle include five trees—a big one in the dining room and others in the rooms of the baron, the baroness, Edward, and Piers Lebh, his equerry.

Villagers Pleased.

This was the big night of the Austrian Christmas celebration and as the villagers walked up the hill to the church for the Christmas service, they were talking about Edward's gracious gesture in joining the children in their party.

It was a bitter cold night, but crystal clear, and nobody wanted to miss the service, just in case Edward showed up.

The report is still unconfirmed that Edward will pay a visit to the British legation in Vienna tomorrow, but the report persists and there is reason to believe he may go.

Wally at Christmas Party.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CANNES, France, Dec. 24.—Radiant, with the high spirits which made her the idol of the set surrounding ex-King Edward VIII. of England, Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson tonight attended a private "reveillon" [Christmas] dinner in the Grand hotel here.

Recovery of her bouyancy after the lassitude she has shown the last three weeks was evident to all spectators as she traversed the spacious lobby and brought murmurs of disapproval from vacationing English millionaires who thought a funereal manner the only one in good taste for her.

Mrs. Simpson was the guest in company of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Livingston Rogers of New York at a party given by Frederick Matthews, wealthy amateur printer and globe trotter from Philadelphia.

Mrs. Simpson wore a white ermine wrap over a simple black evening gown and a magnificent diamond necklace. The trio on arrivel was practically rushed by an army of obsequious flunkies upstairs to a private Louis XVI. style dining room which had been bedecked for the occasion with a few green and red ornaments and an untrimmed Christmas tree.

Springtime to See Reunion of Duke of Windsor, Wally

BY NEWBOLD NOYES.

[World Copyright: 1936: By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

(This is the final article of a series of ten written by Newbold Noyes and authorized by his cousin, Wallis Simpson, and the former King Edward VIII. of England.)

One happy April day when the buds are bursting at Villa Lou Viei and winter has lifted its grip from the Austrian slopes, Wallis Warfield Simpson and Edward, duke of Windsor, will meet again.

Four months that seemed like eons will have passed since that foggy night on Dec. 3, when the woman who might have been queen said farewell to the man who was king. Four months is an eternity to two persons who love like these, but they have decided to stick it out.

Wallis herself confirmed that decision as recently as the day this article is written. There had been so many conflicting stories, so many wild and unsupported rumors, that I cabled Mrs. Simpson at Cannes. I asked her whether it were true that she planned to visit the king in Austria in the immediate future. Her answer was "No."

She said more than that. She said she intended to remain at Cannes, at the villa of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rogers, "for several months."

Early Divorce Move Denied.

I have not communicated with the former king since I left London a fortnight ago. It could be possible, of course, that he would visit the Villa Lou Viei. But I think we can dismiss that possibility as unlikely in the extreme. When Edward of Windsor again meets the woman he loves, I think you may be sure that she will be a free woman, able at last to give an answer to a proposal of marriage.

It has been said that Wallis' divorce from Ernest Simpson was being hastened so she and the former king might marry by Feb. 1. If anyone should know the truth of that statement, Wallis Simpson should. I asked her yesterday whether it were true.

"The answer is no," said a cablegram of reply.

For weeks stories have been humming over the cables from London that Edward had given Mrs. Simpson a fabulous fortune in jewels, and that before she left England she was forced to return them because they were crown jeyels.

There was the yarn that Mayfair dowagers had recognized on Mrs. Simpson the same royal jewelry that King Edward VII. bought for Queen Alexandra and which she bequeathed to Edward VIII., her favorite grandson, with the remark that it was "for your future queen, David, dear."

It is true that Wallis Simpson had a collection of attention compelling jewels. They are attractive, many of them, because of their rare antique setting rather than because of their intrinsic worth. A great many of these pieces are family heirlooms. Others were gifts from her two husbands.

The idea that she was compelled to return any of Edward's gifts is preposterous, but to set the report to rest forever I asked her by cable whether she "had been forced, prior to leaving England, to return large quantity jewels claimed as crown property."

Her "no" was as emphatic as a cabled word could be.

Aside from the report that the duke of Windsor is about to purchase a "vast estate," hither, thither, and yon, stories have been printed that Wallis had bought a home in northern Africa and that she was negotiating for the purchase of the old Merriman homestead in Green Spring Valley, near Baltimore. I queried her yesterday about these two rumors. She denied them both.

Since my return from London, I have been told it was learned "on good authority" that Mrs. Simpson was offering her personal diary for sale and that she was contracting for the sale of a personal byline story of her romance. I don't know how many believed such an obviously stupid story, but I cabled her that such reports were in circulation.

I am surprised that she even bothered to deny them. However, I am glad that she did.

The stories about Edward's "heavy drinking" during the pre-abdication crisis are not only inaccurate and unfair, but are actually libelous—"so much brandy and soda was continually taken by his majesty during the early stages of the crisis" and "it was necessary once to apply a stomach pump." That is pure hokum. I have already said that on the night I dined with the king he refused a cocktail and consumed only one glass of Burgundy with his meal and a small liqueur afterward.

Furthermore, I was in communication with the king several times each day during the period covered by the "heavy drinking" balderdash, and I can state definitly that no man was ever more entirely in control of his every faculty than the king was during that interlude. He was calm and in every respect competent and prepared to deal with the problems he was facing.

All these scurrilous and libelous attacks on his character seem to me the more cowardly because those who made them know perfectly well that the duke of Windsor's position precludes the possibility of the ordinary recourse to law available to any ordinary citizen.

Among the false rumors circulating here and abroad were intimations that both the duke of Windsor and Mrs. Simpson were disposed to deny the authenticity of the ten articles I have written.

Report Twice Denied.

To dispel any such impression, suffice it to say that in response to a cable from me on Dec. 16, asking from Mrs. Simpson a reaffirmation of the approval I was given by her and the king prior to the preparation of these articles, I received the following cablegram:

"Not slightest hint disapproval. Merely upset by claims of rival news organs."

The rumors persisted. Again yesterday I asked Mrs. Simpson to correct them and to rely on my judgment as to the truth and accuracy with which I was telling their story, as I know it.

Within a few hours I received this answer: "Trusting your judgment and very grateful for your efforts."

Sees a Happy Ending.

The story is told and I hope that the telling of it has been interesting as well as conducive to a better and truer understanding of two very human and very fine people whose love for each other and its consequences today engross the world.

I wish today I could conclude the story of this romance with the desired conclusion of all romances:

"And they lived happily ever after."

I cannot, but I am confident that history will write it for them.

LLOYD GEORGE RESENTS ATTACKS ON EXILED KING

LONDON, Dec. 24.—(AP)—David Lloyd George, war-time prime minister of Britain, startled the nation today with a telegram of Christmas greeting to Edward, the duke of Windsor, regretting "the unchivalrous attacks upon you."

Newspaper posters blared "New Edward Sensation" and displayed prominently the text of the telegram sent to the abdicated king in Austria. It read:

"Best Christmas greetings from an old minister of the crown who holds you in as high esteem as ever and regards you with deeper loyal affection, deplores the shabby and stupid treatment accorded you, resents the mean and unchivalrous attacks upon you and regrets the loss susttained by the British empire of a monarch who sympathized with the lowliest of his subjects."

SEEK SYPHILIS RECORD SYSTEM IN U. S. PARLEY

'Bookkeeping' Vital in Campaign.

The development of better methods of recording and following up cases of venereal disease probably will be the most valuable contribution to the fight against the scourge to come out of the nation-wide conference on the subject in Washington next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, according to Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, secretary of Chicago's board of health.

The conference, at which all phases of the control of syphilis and gonorrhea will be discussed, has been called by Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States public health service, and will be attended by experts from all parts of the country.

Go to Washington Sunday.

Chicago will be represented by Dr. Schmidt, and Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health. They will leave for Washington on Sunday. One or more members of the board's staf versed in statistical and follow-up methods also may attend.

Two of the five sessions will be devoted to this "bookkeeping," which, Dr. Schmidt said yesterday, is one of the most important but also one of the most neglected weapons in the battle against syphilis.

"It is essential," he said, "that public health authorities should receive reports from doctors and clinics whenever an infected patient presents himself, and a report should also be made when he has been cured. But there are only a few clinics and only a handful of doctors doing this in Chicago.

"Naturally, this matter of reports, just like the examination of women and school children, raises many difficulties. It may not be the wisest thing to become 'hard boiled' in the enforcement of such regulations as we now have, and even that would require many more investigators than we have at our disposal. On the other hand, educational campaigns among professional men and others have produced few results in the last 50 years.

"But we do have to solve this problem if we want to make any progress on the larger one of which it is a part."

"That is why I consider this Washington conference so important. It is going to give a lot of us a chance to exchange experiences and talk things over. And if it helps to give us better statistical and follow-up methods, this will be worth even more than we may be able to learn from the representatives of the medical schools on the treatment of rare and difficult cases."

Statistics to Be Discussed.

The statistical problem will be discussed at a section meeting under the direction of Miss Lena R. Waters, director of the department of social service at the hospital of the University of Pennsylvania. A section on the coöperation of the private physician in the control of venereal diseases will be under the chairmanship of Dr. Udo J. Wile, professor of dermatology and syphilology at the University of Michigan medical school.

TENTH PRESIDENT IN 4 YEARS TAKES OFFICE IN CUBA

Laredo Bru to Develop Friendship with U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 24.—Federico Laredo Bru today became Cuba's tenth president in four years, succeeding Miguel Mariano Gomez, impeached and ousted by the army-dominated congress.

Laredo Bru, 61 years old, who had served with Gomez as vice president since last May, assumed the presidency in ceremonies in the "hall of mirrors" of the palace at noon. They were viewed by Jefferson Caffery, United States ambassador, and the rest of the diplomatic corps.

Edelman Administers Oath.

Juan F. Edelman, chief justice of the Cuban Supreme court, who had presided at the impeachment trial before the senate yesterday, which resulted in Gomez's ejection, administered the oath of office.

Gomez, meanwhile, once more a private citizen, rested in his home after publicly assailing the military for attempting to replace the civil government and develop a Cuban form of Fascism. It was Gomez's veto of the sugar tax bill, sponsored by Col. Fulgencio Batista, commander in chief of the army, which led to his downfall. He was impeached by the house of representatives and found guilty of the impeachment charges by the senate early today by a 22 to 12 vote.

Although reported to be preparing to fly to the United States into voluntary exile, Gomez apparently had decided not to carry out this plan today.

Laredo Bru's Platform.

Laredo Bru in his first official statement promised to further "good relations with all nations, and very especially with the American nation [United States], with which Cuba has such a sacred debt contracted."

He also promised to try to bring about good relations "between all Cubans, especially between the political groups."

He announced he would act to aid the development of the cattle, tobacco, and coffee industries in Cuba.

"The quick advent of an epoch of well-being will contribute notably to the betterment already discernible in the economic situation of the country, such as the exportation of a large quota of sugar to the United States. This will be translated into a notable increment of public and private wealth.

Plans Public Works.

"A large part of my efforts will be devoted to carrying out the public works the country demands without encumbering the nation with new loans."

The new cabinet formed by Laredo Bru contains only one of the previous Gomez ministers—Gen. Rafael Montalvo, former secretary of defense, who becomes secretary of state. Gen. Montalvo, in the absence of a vice president, is next in line of succession to the presidency.

SUSPEND CUSACK AFTER DOPE RAID FOR NEWSREELS

Chinese Consul Protests Lieutenant's Action.

Lieut. William Cusack, head of the police narcotics squad, is serving a 30-day suspension from duty and reviewing the wreck of a once-promising career in the news reels, it was learned last night.

Lieut. Cusack's rise as a movie performer ran on the rocks when he picked the wrong Chinese, it was learned. His indiscretion resulted in a complaint by Robert T. K. Kah, Chinese consul in Chicago.

This in turn brought about his trial before the city civil service commission and his suspension, on Dec. 4, on the technical charge of taking a prisoner into court without placing a charge, which comes under the generic head of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Newsreels Seek Real Stuff.

Lieut. Cusack's embarrassment arose out of the desire of some news reel cameramen to portray the horrors of the dope trafic in America. On Sept. 29 the lieutenant led a raid on an apartment at 154 West Cermak road, where police some time before had arrested narcotic addicts.

The raid, according to the story, netted no narcotics, and only a single Chinese, who from the appearance of his clothing, was not reaping huge profits from the narcotic trafic or any other means of livelihood.

However, it appears, a colored narcotic addict miraculously appeared along with the raiding squad and the alert cameramen, and along with him, an opium pipe. The Chinese was required to present the pipe to the addict, while the cameras ground away. The tableau ended when Lieut. Cusack burst through a door and raised his arm in the name of the law.

Hearing Before Judge Green.

The next scene was shot in the police headquarters building at 1121 South State street, with Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green on the bench. Although it was in the evening, and there is no regularly constituted branch of the Municipal court which sits at that hour, aside from the night trafic court, Judge Green held a hearing before the cameras. He said last night that he went to the police building when Lieut. Cusack telephoned him that he had arrested a prisoner on a narcotic charge.

"The hearing was not a trial," Judge Green asserted, "but a hearing on a request for a warant. When Lieut. Cusack said that he had no evidence in that case, I ordered the prisoner released. I sent another prisoner whom he brought in that evening, a Dr. Fu, to the county jail for a year, for selling marijuana cigarets."

Others Can't See Jobs.

The ragged Chinese, who gave the name of Moy Kwong Chee, is a member of a family powerful in the Chinese settlement here. He regarded his experience as somewhat of a joke, and after his release described it to some of his fellow countrymen as illustrative of the strange habits of the American police.

The other Chinese did not regard it as funny, reasoning that under such procedure any innocent Chinese in the city might be charged with a narcotic violation, which on conviction is a ground for deportation. The matter was brought to the attention of Consul Kah, and through him, to that of Police Commissioner Allman.

The commissioner also regarded it as distinctly unfunny. His language on the subject yesterday was quite emphatic.

Lieut. Cusack, it was reported, has been spending his suspension period in Florida. However, he appeared at police headquarters Monday to take the civil service examination for promotion to captain.

PUSH ON IN VAIN QUEST FOR TWO LOST AIRLINERS

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Discouraged searchers failed again tonight to wrest from the impenetrable fastness of the west the secret of where two airliners crashed with nine persons.

Disillusioned by the failure of hundreds of earlier reports to stand investigation, Western Air Express officials here said they regarded new accounts from Denver of "mysterious radio calls" not worth checking.

A systematic search for the Western air transport which last was heard from over Milford, Utah, Dec. 15 will be continued, however, they said. Seven persons rode the ship to almost certain death.

Five hundred miles northwestward in northern Idaho, the search for a wrecked plane found a week ago, then lost again, gained new impetus as a roaring blizzard showed signs of abating.

Aboard the Northwest Airlines mail transport, which last reported over Elk river, Idaho, Dec. 19, were its pilot and co-pilot.

Complete Quiz on Crash.

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Bureau of air commerce officials completed examination of nearly a score of witnesses today in their investigation of the Braniff airliner crash which cost six lives yesterday.

There remained a minute examination of the wreckage before the report will be sent to Washington.

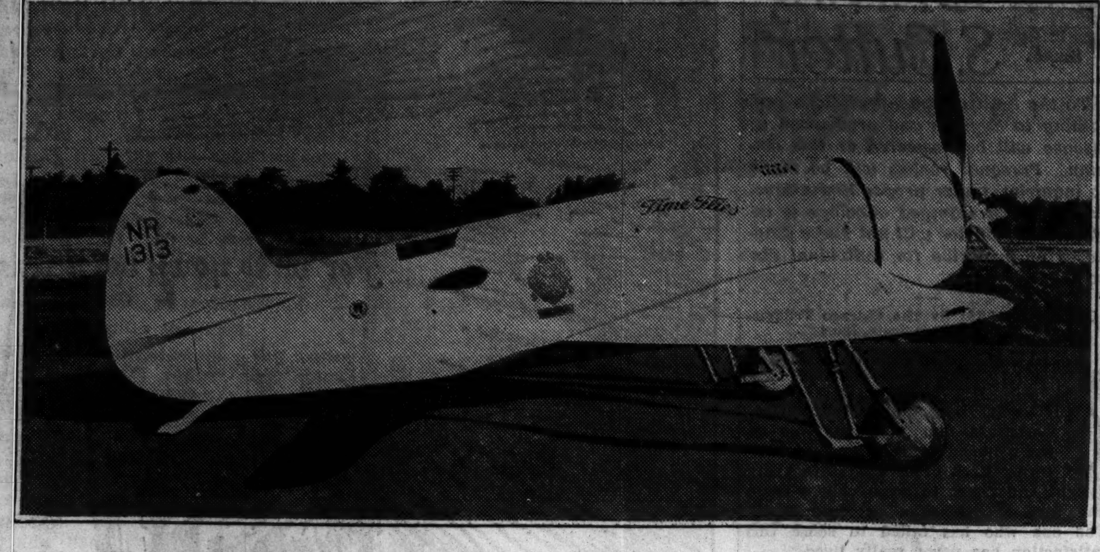
Plane in Which Frank Hawks Flew 311 Miles Per Hour



Time Flies, the 1,000 horse power plane in which Frank Hawks, noted pilot, attained a speed of 311 miles an hour in test flight Wednesday at East Hartford, Conn. He predicted the ship could ultimately travel 375 miles an hour. The retractible cockpit gives complete streamlined effect to fuselage and adds 25 miles per hour to the plane's performance.

CITY ORDINANCE PLANNED TO END TOWING RACKET

Victimizing of Auto Drivers Assailed.

A city ordinance for the licensing of towing truck operators and the fixing of maximum charges to be made by them was proposed yesterday at a meeting of representatives of the operators, the city council, the state legislature, the police department and the Chicago Motor club at the Sherman hotel.

The proposal was the outgrowth of a discussion of "ambulance chasing." Ald. Thomas Terrell [29th] declared that there are towing truck operators in the city who use short wave radio sets to get police reports of accidents or have working arrangements with lawyers and doctors who stoop to unethical practices in soliciting business.

Racket Against Motorists.

On the scene of an accident, Terrell said, such a tow car operator takes advantage of the motorist, who may be injured and in no condition to consider his car. The motorist is induced to sign printed blanks authorizing the operator to haul away his automobile and make an estimate of the damage. Later the driver is presented with an excessive bill for these services, it was said.

Both Ald. Terrell and Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], who are to sponsor a proposed city ordinance aimed at ambulance chasers, said that the "car snatchers" presented another phase of the ambulance chasing problem. They promised to support the suggested towing regulation ordinance before the city council.

Prendergast at Conference.

Capt. John Prendergast represented Police Commissioner Allman at the conference. State Representative John R. McSweeney [19th], who is to introduce at Springfield a proposed state law to provide a more effective curb on ambulance chasers, was also present.

During the day Lieut. John Howe of Commissioner Allman's office was told by Assistant State's Attorney Irwin Clorfene to summon five or sif of the policemen suspected of being tipsters for ambulance chasers. Their names were said to have been learned from lists found in raids made last week by Lieut. Howe. The men will appear as witnesses before the grand jury on Monday. On Tuesday the jurors are expected to hear suspected lawyers and Wednesday will be doctors' day. Thursday has been set aside for undertakers and X-ray experts.

FIRE IN OAK PARK CHURCH CAUSES LOSS OF $4,500

Lumber piled near a furnace boiler caught fire last evening in the basement of the Harrison Street Congregational church, Harrison street and Taylor avenue, Oak Park. The flames spread quickly through the basement, and soon nearly the whole interior of the church was ablaze. Oak Park firemen directed by Chief William C. Watters worked for more than an hour before the fire was under control. The chief estimated the damage at $4,500, including destruction of the church organ.

WOMAN AIDS BANDIT: GETS $43

Cragin police yesterday sought a robber who, aided by a blonde woman companion, bound Willard Collier, manager of a Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company store at 2324 North Cicero avenue, and escaped with $43 from the cash register.

Newest in Planes

Time Flies, the racing airplane in which Frank Hawks, noted pilot, Wednesday flew 311 miles an hour near East Hartford, Conn., is the newest racing airplane completed in the United States. It was built by Hawks and Howell Smith, aeronautical engineer, to Hawks' own specifications in a factory at Redding, Conn.

The airplane is a low mid-wing monoplane with all bracing contained within the wings and fuselage. Spruce and plywood were used in constructing the wings, and the fuselage is constructed of the finest steel tubing with plywood fairing strips and covering. The stabilizer and vertical fin also are of cantilever construction, steel tubing covered with plywood.

Everything that can be retracted to reduce resistance of the ship has been constructed so it can be withdrawn inside the essential structure. The landing gear is retractile and so is the windscreen at the cockpit. Hawks can pull this down, lowering his seat at the same time until he is sitting entirely within the ship and the screen streamlines the cockpit perfectly.

The motor is the latest type twin row Wasp with automatic mixture control and supercharged to develop full rated power up to 8,000 feet. The engine develops 1,150 horse power at sea level, is rated to develop 1,000 horse power for one minute at take off, and thereafter develops a maximum of 850 horse power. The propeller is a constant speed Hamilton-Standard controllable.

STRUCK BY TRAIN ON "L" TRACK, HE DIES OF INJURIES

Irving Steege, 24 years old, an electrician, and his bride of eight months, Mary Steege, 22, exchanged Christmas gifts last evening in their home at 3547 Lexington street. Steege then left the house alone. An hour later he was fatally injured by a Chicago, Aurora, and Elgin electric train which struck him as he lay stretched across the Garfield Park elevated tracks, 300 feet west of the St. Louis avenue station.

Firemen jacked up the first car of the train to free the injured man and took him to the Bethany hospital. Both his legs were amputated in a futile effort to save his life. His wife could give police no reason why Steege might have wished to commit suicide.

An investigator for the elevated lines reported that a person living near the scene had seen a man, bleeding from a cut in his face, run away at the time of the accident. Employés of the Commonwealth Edison company found two wires broken beside the elevated structure. This led to a report that a second man, possibly a friend of Steege, had followed him to the top of the elevated structure in an effort to lead him away and then had jumped to safety as the train approached, breaking the wires and landing on the roof of an adjoining barn. Police could not confirm this report.

Bullet Hits Onlooker, but Halts Fugitive; No One Hurt

When Detectives Jack Smith and Charles Clark saw Arthur Willis, colored, 26 years old, 216 East 61st street, in the loop yesterday they recognized him as a police character. He saw them at the same time and darted across the street near 131 North Clark street, where William Brennan, 57 years old, 122 North Leamington avenue, was on duty as doorman. At that point Trafic Policeman Frank Krolich fired a shot which halted Willis but struck Brennan. The bullet apparently ricocheted off the building wall. Brennan was uninjured although his uniform coat was torn. Willis was locked up.

CHICAGO'S WORLD INSTITUTION.

Among the cultural institutions of which Chicago has reason to be proud the chief unquestionably is the university that bears the city's name. We think the choosing of this name had a significance, an appeal not only to our pride but to our affection, which ought not to be lost as Chicago grows in material wealth, in repute and assured place among the great cities of the world.

When the university was first given the name and even when it was revived on broader and firmer foundations, with the formidable aid of Mr. Rockefeller, the naming was a challenge. For if Chicago already was known around the world it was not as a center of the higher activities of civilization but rather as a vigorous and astonishingly successful pursuer of material ends. The great fire had carried her name to the remotest corners of earth and advertised the indestructible mettle of her citizens as they sprang to rebuild the city on its hot and smoking ruins. That made and deserved to make Chicago famous, but not for devotion to the higher aims of civilization. Her citizens, indeed, did little to arouse any suspicion that Chicago had other interests than material achievement. They bragged of her swift growth in population, in commerce and transportation, of her skyscrapers and her stockyards. Years after the naming of the university one of her poets could find no more vivid title for her than "Hog Butcher of the World."

So when the newborn institution of learning was given the name of Chicago it could derive no prestige from the name. Quite the contrary. It invited the smile of patronage at upstart ambition. A university of Chicago, the higher learning on the frontier—our ingenuous pride might overlook the incongruity, but not a world rich in the mellow fruit of time.

The naming therefore was a challenge. It was an act of faith, of faith in Chicago and in the university. And what is better to build upon than a brave and enlightened faith—"the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen"? How well that faith has been justified in the great institution on the Midway is a part of the history of human progress in our time. From its modest beginning only yesterday it has moved to the forefront of world universities. This is not an assertion of Chicago's celebrated self-esteem. In fact, there is less knowledge of the eminence of its university in the community than there ought to be. If there were more knowledge there would be more pride. But in the world concerned with learning there is no question that one of its great institutions is the University of Chicago, whose name has not given bounds to an influence as wide as the world domain of science and scholarship.

Yet if Chicago's university belongs to the world it must always have a special significance for this community and region. It is true that from the beginning and especially from its rebirth in 1890 the university has been no mere local affair in either organization or inspiration. The first great president, William Rainey Harper, was a son of Ohio and a graduate of Yale. The donor whose lavish and enlightened generosity made possible Harper's ambitious plans, the elder Rockefeller, was another Ohioan, and his son, who has maintained and extended his policy, has never lived in the west. The great faculties which at once attracted the attention of the learned world to the new university were drawn from the old world as well as from the new, and are today. The present head of the university, President Hutchins, is, like its first president, a son of Yale. Among the latest additions to its faculties are the leading German classical scholar, Prof. Werner Jaeger from Berlin; the philosopher, Prof. Carnap of Prague; the Latinist, Dr. Kurt Latte of Goettingen.

In short, the university draws from the world's scholarship and scientific genius and pays back its debt in generous measure. Three times men of its department of physics have been honored with the Nobel prize. The work of its faculties ranks high and in some instances first in their respective fields.

We shall return to this again, but here we would say that, in a special sense which Chicagoans should never forget, the university has expressed and expresses the living spirit of the city and is its highest witness to the world. Chicago has had enough and too much perhaps of advertisment of material achievements. We have reason to be honorably proud of them. They have been the body of the young city's greatness, but not its soul. From the first the strong sons of Chicago, amidst the dust and heat of their labors, dreamed dreams of a city not made with hands, a city which should hold its head high among the great cities of the world, making its own contribution to the stores of civilization, to its knowledge, its beauty, its humane progress. Undaunted in the mud of its frontier streets, undaunted in the smoking ruins of its young accomplishment, the Hog Butcher of the World dreamed on and made his dreams come true. Out of these dreams came the university. For all its world fame and influence it is intimately ours, our honored witness wherever the high pursuit of truth is honored, wherever civilized man wrestles with the great issues of his fate.

Let us cherish the university which has so honored and served Chicago in the highest sense. Let us make it a conscious part of our thought and love of the city, helping as we can to foster and enlarge its service to mankind.

PEACE ON EARTH SOMEWHERE.

This Christmas editorial can be brief, and so why not? In the world news of Dec. 24 there was a statement from London, as follows:

"Lloyd's nonmarine underwriters decided today to exclude war risks from policies covering property in any part of the world except the United States and Canada."

Uncle Sam and his neighbor to the north may write that on their Christmas cards and wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

PRESS CENSORSHIP AND PEACE.

At a dinner given by the Argentine minister of foreign affairs, Dr. Lamas, to the foreign correspondents covering the Inter-American conference for the maintenance of peace, Mr. John W. White, correspondent of the New York Times, made some candid remarks on press censorship which deserve the consideration of every government. Dr. Lamas had stressed the mission of the press to create good will among the peoples of the world, to which Mr. White replied that most great newspapers, in recent years, at least, had been trying to influence public opinion in favor of peace. But this influence, Mr. White pointed out, was seriously restricted by government censorship in many of the South American countries, and he might have added that the wave of reaction in Europe had reached the press there likewise.

Confining his observations to South America, he described a situation which every newspaper man will understand. Censorship, in an age in which there are many means of communication, cannot be complete even where it is most drastic. It succeeds only in stopping true and full reports of what is happening. But rumors and mangled reports travel in spite of it and travel fast. Inaccurate and incomplete reports cause irritation and ill will, but the fault is not the correspondent's.

The dictatorships which have sprung up not only in Europe but in America have at least one common attribute. They all wish to control the press; that is, the flow of information to their own peoples or the outside world. We in the United States still think of the Americas as the "home of the free," yet we are aware that too many American nations are republican only in name. Nevertheless, if the ideals which inspired the liberators are still living in South America an appeal for freedom of the press will not be wholly unavailing. This evidently is the opinion of the journal El Mundo of Buenos Aires, which in indorsing Mr. White's account of the press situation remarks: "We believe it advisable to urge all public officials to mold their attitudes in accordance with the ideas expressed by Mr. White and we hope thereby for a steady decrease in the efforts to gag newspapers when they express opinions with which the governments are not in accord." Even more objectionable are efforts to suppress objective news reports.

Press censorship is no friend of peace. It is an instrument of the dictatorships that are the chief disturbers of the peace. A durable peace will not come save by the will of the peoples and a free press is their only effectual voice.

IN THE HOME OF CO-OPERATION.

The human animal is supposed to have been changed into something different in Russia. Selfishness and vainglory have been trained out of him. The void has been filled with a passion for coöperative action.

How far the process has advanced is suggested in an article on motion pictures in color, published on Oct. 4 in the soviet organ, Pravda. We learn from it that the most satisfactory method of color photography is that developed in America. Pravda criticizes the Russian technicians for wasting time on other methods instead of proceeding at once to "assimilate" the American technique.

"It is characteristic," says Pravda, "of each [of the four] soviet organization working on colored movies to seek by itself to overcome all difficulties that may be encountered, without assistance from the others working in the field. This habit of secretiveness may easily lead to evil consequences."

Training in coöperation seems to have missed fire in the film industry. The old Adam is still doing business at the old stand. The Russians seem to have overlooked the fact that selfishness tends to defeat itself in a free economy, but can be protected and encouraged by a burocracy. The development of the successful American system of color photography was the result of a coöperative effort and the subsequent exploitation of the process is an evidence of further cooperation. The Russians, for all their planning and for all their indoctrination, have not learned coöperation even to the point of coöperating in copying an existing technique.

Editorial of the Day

THE BEST IS NONE TOO GOOD.

[Detroit News.]

What is the big item in the expense of city government? Salaries and wages.

The civil service assembly of the United States and Canada has made a check of the total costs of government of some representative cities. The average expenditure for employé services in these cities was about 62 per cent of the entire annual budget.

In some of the most important departments the proportion is larger. In the public schools 87 per cent of the annual appropriation is for salaries. In departments of public health, public safety, public works and finance, money spent for employé services is about 80 per cent of the total.

Good business sense would indicate that systems should be used to get the very best services for the money. Certainly this cannot be accomplished by turning out a large percentage of personnel because of change of administration.

The assembly makes some sensible recommendations:

1. Get the best man for the job regardless of whether he is a "home town boy."

2. Reward the best employés with pay raises and promotions and eliminate the unfit and weak through carefully analyzed service ratings.

3. Through adequate, actuarially sound pension plans insure the security of the employé so that he will be content to give all his service to the city.

NOEL.

The king brought gifts of rare and priceless worth—
Incense and jewels for the new-born King;
The shepherd brought the humblest thing on earth—
A lamb, a little white and tender thing
That he had loved, and held close to his heart,
Wrapped in his cloak against the night wind wild,
Waiting to see the pilgrim-king depart
Ere he should bring his small gift to the Child.
It is a shepherd's gift that I would bring—
A little song, wrought of worship and love;
May something of the angels' Sanctus cling
To it, some brightness from that Star above,
To bear my wish to you this Christmastide:
May peace and happiness with you abide.

Chien Noir.

MAY YOUR HEART be singing as this morning comes. May you be able to touch and play softly that "harp of a thousand strings" that makes the spirits of just men perfect. May you rise from a warm bed, clear eyed, eager to know the good that has come to you, anxious to learn how well you succeeded in passing joy to others. There is no way to give a Christmas message a new twist; as simply and as surely as the sun rises and sets, the spirit of this day dwells in the hearts of little children. To them we must go to understand and share it; for it is beyond creeds and philosophies. May all of us find good will flowing to and from us as we fare happily for a few hours down the long remembered lane to Childhoodland.

RILEY GOES TO HEAVEN.

From my brother in Hometown. . . . "And old Riley is dead, Bob. The good people of the town met and buried him while the minister, a little pompously but from his point of view charitably, no doubt, discussed the instabilities of drunks and the general faultiness of humankind.

"But, Bob, since we knew him so well . . . since we both remember how he used to take us fishing when Mother was afraid to let us go alone . . . how he walked a long way to the mill for sawdust to perform a major operation on little Jane's doll . . . and once, you know, we saw him give his coat to a shivering tramp whose clothes right then were better than his own . . . how he delighted the youngsters with fairy tales told from a corn mash base . . . and since we heard him so often promising in the Monday court, so hard, to remain sober and be good to his family . . . you'll listen sympathetically while I tell you what I think happened far, far away while they sang a little hymn over old Riley and hastily patted his grave into shape."

A cloud of star dust rose from the Milky Way as the shuffling feet of Riley took him, a light year at a stride, up to the shining gate that is the goal of us all. St. Peter, recognizing him and following the rule, swung the wicket and walked with him into the courtroom where sat the Judge who at long last winnows us for truth.

"This," said the good saint, "is Riley, a man who was no good on earth. And if my advice is asked, I think we could get along without him here. He'd only scuff up our star scattered pavements and throw heaven out of kilter."

With a gesture the Judge silenced St. Peter. "Men and angels are on equal footing here," He said. "Let Riley stand unafraid and tell his own story, be it what it may."

And Riley, descendant of kings, testified just as he had before a hundred earthly bars. "'Tis as written in the Book," he said softly. "All that is there is truth. St. Peter is right. I have failed."

The Judge turned to Riley's page and read. It was a page wet with tears, soiled with honest effort like a bad little boy's copybook; a page marred with frustration. Then, slowly, He turned to the credit side of the ledger . . . the leg of the dog, the fishing trips, the garments given to the agued tramp, the sawdust for the doll, the fairy stories . . . all were there. And the tired lines in the face of the Judge departed and He brushed his hand lightly over the debits.

"Look, Riley," He said happily, "that page is clean, whiter than an angel's robe. There is no charge against you. Come, let St. Peter lead you to Me. And let the angels on the right make way, that there may be space for Riley close down in front."

St. Peter scowled a little and the Judge, never looking, admonished him without bitterness. "Peter, you may go back to the gate. Have you forgotten that your own page in the Book once had a big blot on it . . . a blot that only a few would have known about if that rooster hadn't crowed three times in the dawn?"

Southern Gentleman.

THE BELLS AT CHRISTMAS

Ring—swing—swing—ring,
O holy Christmas bells.
Again across a troubled world
Your new-old message swells.
Across the lonely mountain peaks,
Where ox and master sleep,
The stars that shone on Bethlehem
Renew their hallowed diadem
And shining, sing,
His comfort bring
To every waiting heart.

Then ring, O, ring!
Ye bells at Christmas time.
All else shall fail, all be forgot,
Save your immortal chime.
It peals the hope in every breast,
The peace that follows tears,
The light across the Eastern sky
That tells the morning nears.
Awake ye! Sing!
Remembering
That Christ is born today.

Lily Dana Weigle.

TO THE COMPLAINT that Christmas is too much commercialized we turned a plugged ear. Life is oddly compounded of practicality and sentiment. The lights on the fir tree and the red sled under it were made to sell, but bought for the pleasure that is in them. If, in giving rein to our better natures, we force the iron horses of economic endeavor into a gallop, so much the better. We rejoice that the seasonal uplift has brought material reward to many who needed it.

OUR SELFISH WISH of the day is that all good contributors will enjoy good health and increased literary power—and that they will be joined by many others in 1937.

AND MAY WE SUGGEST that everybody say a cheering word to those poor unfortunates—the waiters, cab drivers, drug store clerks, printers, theater ushers, and newspaper reporters—who must labor today to keep the world's business going merrily? And the cooks; never forget them!

. . . . . . and a Happy New Year. W. C. S.

WHAT CHRISTMAS DOES TO US.

CHILDHOOD personifies the spirit of Christmas and the happiness of the youngsters is our chief concern. Each of us enrolls to bring delight and cheer to some child's heart and thus experience a poignant thrill. The one who has failed to sense this satisfaction has never really lived.

We welcome the holiday season as a hygienic surcease from the serious business of life. Just as rest must follow exercise, so periods of relaxation, forgetfulness of self and one's own immediate concerns must be swallowed up in thoughts for others.

At such a time we may remove, as it were, the garments with which we have bedecked our souls and look at them unadorned. With some of us they may not appear as things of beauty. Utterly unlovely, they may be shrunken, warped, thin, and emaciated—starved looking objects.

If they are found in this pitiable plight, good sanitarians that we are, we know the remedy. They require the nourishing and warming influence of kindly thoughts and good deeds. As Browning puts it: "There is a world of capacity for joy spread around about us, meant for us, inviting us." There is a place, and a large one, for generosity. Among the poor there is more real understanding of human suffering than among those who are well to do.

Too many of us are gazing at our feet much of the time. We are looking neither forward nor upward. I know some who have no fun at all. They delude themselves with self-indulgence and thus fail to catch the slightest glimmer of real happiness. They find their joy in acquisition rather than dispensation. There never was a truer sentence uttered than that which occurs in Matthew xvi., 26: "For what is a man profited if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" Entirely apart from its spiritual significance it is a practical rule of life.

No, this is not a sermon, not even an admonition, but a statement of plain fact, namely, that health is related directly to our emotions, of which an evenly balanced nervous system is a part. We may train the mind until it reaches the pinnacle of perfection. It may perform with the precision of a delicate scientific instrument, but a break will come surely unless heart and mind are synchronized. Thoughts are cold and clammy unless warmed by the sunlight of sympathy and understanding. The world's greatest leaders have been human individuals. All history fails to record one who really achieved unless his goal was the betterment of his fellow men.

No one should permit the corners of his mouth to droop, regardless of his position or status in life. We can at least keep them level. They will curve upward with a release from moral and physical cramps if a little thought is given to others; the tension on blood vessels will relax and the voice will become softer.

Christmas is a health provoking and stimulating season and its benefits are incalculable. The letdown which attends the holidays comes at the beginning of the long pull of the colder season. Despite the fact that we may stay up too late o' nights, nevertheless there will be built up a reserve of vitality through good will. It is a season of contentment that is beneficent for us all.

The wounds of the distressed must be cared for—not by the impersonal hand of the state but by generous hearted individuals. Governments can function to some extent, but the largest part of human suffering must be relieved by neighbors and friends. We are likely to lose glorious opportunities for our heart's health if we postpone the day until we are better able, as we believe, to add something to the sum total of happiness. No! This isn't a selfish attitude, for consideration begets appreciation and faith—loyalty.

But, you ask, why such a "heap of rubbish" in a health column? Because complacency of mind has so much to do with the well-being of the physical body.

ITCHY SKIN.

M. A. writes:

1. Do an itchy skin and the appearance of red blotches indicate an acid condition?

2. Are all fruit juices acid forming?

REPLY.

1. A blotchy, itchy skin has no relation to acidity. Your skin is probably too dry. You can remedy the condition by using a good skin oil or cold cream, especially after bathing. See that the air of your home is properly humidified.

2. Fruit juices are alkali forming.

RELIEF RECIPIENT.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In 1935 my husband, who had been idle four years, found work. He worked from June until August. During this period we took relief and [1] let the commission pay our rent. He earned so little money and we have three children to support.

2. The relief people were notified he was working, but they continued sending the order for food, so we used it.

3. They now threaten to bring us to court. They paid no rent for us from November until May, so we had to move. Our children were never dressed warm and on cold days had to stay home from school.

4. Can the relief people collect this money by force? My husband's earnings don't exceed $15 a week except for overtime once in a while. Living expenses are so high we just can't meet the rent and eat.

5. Can this be collected through court proceedings? C. J.

1. We assume that you mean you kept the facts as to the new employment secret. Of course, this was not proper.

2. Do you mean that you gave notice, or that some other person did?

3. Your facts are not clear enough to place us in a position to advise you.

4. The question whether they can collect by civil proceedings depends on your assets and income. The question whether you are criminally liable depends on the facts as to misrepresentation on your part.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA.—The Philippines, with an area of 114,000 square miles, about the size of Wisconsin and Michigan combined and somewhat less in area than Japan proper with 148,756 square miles, are said to be worth six billion dollars.

Although only a small percentage of the more than 40,000,000 acres suitable for agriculture is actually cultivated, it was estimated in 1932 that the assessed value of all taxable real property was slightly less than a billion dollars. The national wealth in 1932, prior to the discovery and development of extensive gold mines and other minerals, was placed at about three and a half billion dollars.

The population was estimated in 1932 at 13,636,000, about four times that of Chicago.

This is the plum, or, more accurately speaking, "gold mine," which the United States congress on March 24, 1934, decided to give away — undoubtedly the world's outstanding case of generosity, particularly in view of the fact that the next owner of the Philippines will probably be one of America's chief trade competitors for world markets.

But the American people, or at least the small percentage who understood the situation, had no intention of handing over a piece of territory worth $6,000,000,000 to any trade competitor or military rival. They thought, or at least were told by their elected representatives in Washington, that the Philippines were being handed back to the country's real owners, the citizens of the islands, who for the past four and a half centuries had been colonial dependents of occidental nations—Spain, Britain, and the United States.

While the United States government committed itself to discuss with some future Philippine government the matter of retaining two naval bases, Olongapo, 50 miles north of Manila, and Cavite, on a peninsula facing Manila, congress declared its intention of abandoning all United States military bases, eight in number, and withdrawing the American garrison, consisting of some 5,000 officers and men.

Congress also decided, in the independence act, to cast the Philippines adrift economically in accordance with a sliding scale of tarif duties gradually increased over a period of 10 years. For more than a quarter of a century the Philippines enjoyed reciprocal free trade relations with the United States.

The independence act did, however, contain a provision for holding a conference with representatives of the Philippine commonwealth for the purpose of determining the future trade relations of the two countries. The act provided that this conference must be held within nine years, but the Filipinos, now thoroughly alarmed at their future prospects in an unfriendly world, are demanding that this conference be held immediately.

Without waiting for President Roosevelt's approval, the Philippine government went ahead and appointed the personnel of its delegation on Dec. 1. The chairman is Vice President Sergio Osmena.

With the stage thus set to turn the Philippines loose, somebody in Washington apparently happened to think that it might not be entirely in accordance with traditional American spirit to cast the defenseless Filipinos and their rich possessions adrift in a world more and more characterized by military dictators possessing predatory instincts.

Thus it was decided, somewhat as an afterthought, to send Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur to Manila to assist the new commonwealth in developing plans for its own defense, and also at its own expense.

Immediately after Gen. MacArthur's arrival in Manila President Manuel L. Quezon, by executive order, conferred upon him the title of "field marshal." As a drowning man clutches at straws, the Filipinos hugged Gen. MacArthur to their bosom in the belief that the action of President Roosevelt in appointing the former United States chief of staf as head of an American military mission indicated continued American protective interest in the islands.

FOR TWO CHRISTMASES.

Frankfort, Ill., Dec. 20.—What's the use! For days, yes, even weeks, you run around like a cat chasing his tail trying to do a thousand and one things with decorations and elaborate preparations without limit. And for what? For the mere matter of one single day's celebration; so short that you don't get time to catch your breath before it's all over.

Surely, we cannot help agreeing that after all that hustle and bustle one day for Christmas is not enough.

We in this time and age hear a lot of talk about peace and the blessing of democracy, and how to restore harmony to restless humanity. But what do we do about it? We chase through life from one thing to another as in a frenzy with never a moment's time to ourselves to relax, think and consider.

Christmas in days of old was a period set aside by our forefathers for peace, rest, and relaxation after the year's strife, a midwinter celebration of gratitude for the waning and blessing for the ensuing year, a proper milestone in the march of time.

I suggested last year, and I suggest it again, that we make Christmas a two day holiday and restore it to what it used to be and still is in all other countries—a grand and glorious celebration, proper to the occasion. BJORN ANDREASSEN.

IF

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Wallis Warfield being an American citizen and apparently never having renounced her allegiance to the United States, it is interesting to conjecture what would be the final effect upon international affairs if, upon proper representations having been made to the congress of the United States, that legislative body were to determine, by joint enactment, that no issue having resulted from the alleged marriages of the said Wallis Warfield, and no competent evidence having been advanced that either of those marriages had been consummated within the meaning of the law, as a matter of public policy, by authority of the congress the marriages should be and are annulled and void as of date of alleged performance, and that the legal status of the said Wallis Warfield is now and has continued from her birth to be that of an unmarried spinster.

It is a well recognized rule of law that governments may annul any marriage of their citizens.

Under the hypothesis suggested a marriage between the said Wallis Warfield and Edward Windsor would be that of a bachelor to a lawful spinster, for if no legal marriage ever took place any articles of divorcement existing would be a legal fiction.

The British dominions in the Americas have taken the oath of allegiance to George VI., but they have not renounced their prior oath of allegiance to Edward VIII. and the demise of the former crown is purely hypothetical.

If no legal bar existed toward the marriage of Edward other than that the woman was an American, would those British dominions come to finally believe their paramount allegiance was to Edward VIII., who has renounced the English throne, and, perhaps, invite him to come to America to rule over them—thus establishing themselves as a monarchy wholly independent of Europe under the rule of a king of undoubted right to reign?

If such a result as is suggested might eventuate, it would appear that an opportunity now exists for the Americas to withdraw a large territory from European control. C. L. BUTLER.

NOSTALGIA.

Westfield, N. J., Dec. 19.—I was born in Aurora, Ill., and lived in suburban towns in and near Chicago and worked in the city for many years. I was moved east as the company that I was associated with established a large plant at Kearny, N. J., and moved a great many of its workers to that location. I was anxious to go east as I always had heard of the great opportunities that its great cities like New York offered. I have been east now eleven years and feel that I am in a position to make the comparison.

The people in the east are as different as night is from day from the people I lived with and knew in and near Chicago. The easterners as a whole are a very cold and indifferent class, not very sociable or neighborly, and live in and for themselves. Back in Illinois the neighbors I was raised with were real and friendly with you in the time of trouble when you needed them most. Friendly talks over the back yard fences, visits in the evening for a chat or game of some sort were to be expected. Does that happen in the east? Not so you could notice it. A fellow could get sick, die and be buried before any one would even notice it at all. Also the people of the middle west are more genuine; here false fronts are all the go.

New York is the city of bent fenders and bruised elbows. Looking in that city for a friendly face is like old Diogenes in his endless search for the honest man. The east feels that the west does not exist as far as progress is concerned. When a state builds a three lane highway the brass bands and the publicity hounds get busy. Boy, they should see the highways in our middle western states, our cities and big stores.

When you boost the west here they look at you with a glance of pity or speak in a very sweet condescending manner. To them buffaloes and Indians still roam the plains.

The one hope I cherish is that when I die the good Lord will see to it that I may die in Illinois and be buried there. D. L. LAKE.

WAS LINDBERGH EDWARD'S INTIMATE?

Palatine, Ill., Dec. 14.—I have read of the archbishop's and English clerics' attacks upon the circle of American friends of former King Edward, whose "standards and ways of life" are alien to the best instincts and traditions of English society, as the archbishop puts it.

The circle of American friends entertained by the former king often, I noticed, included Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh.

It seems that before these prim primates heap insults and rebukes upon American friends of the former king it would be more fitting first to remind the prime minister of the defaulted indebtedness to America and the American people who saved the British throne less than twenty years ago. OBSERVER.

WOMAN STICKS TO STORY; THIRD YULETIDE IN JAIL

Mrs. Tegtmeyer Loses Again in Freedom Bid.

Still maintaining that burglars had gotten most of the $32,000 she withheld from the estate of a relative, Mrs. Daisy Tegtmeyer, 50 years old, "forgotten woman" of the county jail, lost her last chance yesterday to spend Christmas in freedom.

Appearing before Judge Cornelius J. Harrington in the Circuit court, Mrs. Tegtmeyer was reminded again that she can have her freedom at any time by replying to a list of questions that she had stubbornly refused to discuss until she broke a silence of nearly three years on Wednesday.

It was her refusal to answer these questions, concerning her disposition of the money, that impelled Judge Hugo M. Friend, who is now on the Appellate bench, to sentence Mrs. Tegtmeyer for contempt of court on Jan. 5, 1934. She has remained in jail ever since.

Judge Hints Disbelief.

On Wednesday Mrs. Tegtmeyer told Judge Harrington that she had used $5,000 of the missing money to buy speculative gold mining stock which she never received. She said she sewed the other $27,000 in the lining of her coat and hung it in a closet of her apartment at 6033 Vernon avenue. She told three deputy sherifs who accompanied her to the flat that burglars had stolen the coat and the money.

Yesterday, after the deputy sherifs had reported to Judge Harrington on the result of the search, Mrs. Tegtmeyer was ordered back to jail and the deputies were directed to make another search of the flat. The judge indicated his disbelief in the burglary story by ordering also that the deputies examine Mrs. Tegtmeyer's bank accounts and report back on Monday. The money she is asked to account for was part of the estate of her father-in-law, Henry Tegtmeyer, for which she and her husband Edward, now dead, were trustees.

Replies to Court.

"Do you understand this contempt order?" Judge Harrington asked Mrs. Tegtmeyer.

"Do you understand that I'm a sick woman?" she replied. "I've been in jail for nearly three years. Have you ever heard of any one else who has been jailed so long for contempt?"

"You have the jail key in your possession," the judge said. "You need only answer some questions truthfully to unlock the jail door."

"I've tried all these years, but I can't seem to satisfy the authorities," Mrs. Tegtmeyer said wearily. "If you want to keep me in jail for life, why not give me a life sentence and get it over with? Then maybe they'll quit bothering me and not drag me into court again."

COLLEGE GIRLS FROM ALL OVER THE COUNTRY PICKED THESE WINNERS IN OUR

HOLIDAY HIT PARADE

. . . in cooperation with the Lucky Strike Hit Parade

We held a sweepstakes of dinner and after-dark fashions and asked our college committee to decide the hits. We did this because from our experience no group demands so much of its party clothes as the college crowd. The committee represented girls from leading colleges all over the country. A few "musts" these glamour girls placed on every dress are that it must dance beautifully, have drama—but not too much—fit gloriously. Pictured are a few of the many from our evening collections which they voted "Hits of the Season."

SLIGHT CHANGES IN FOOD PRICES DUE TOMORROW

Potatoes and Flour Up; Butter Down.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Retail grocery stores and butcher shops throughout the city and suburbs in the metropolitan area will be closed today. Merchants are planning to make only slight changes in prices when they open their stores again tomorrow morning.

Between thirty and forty foods will be affected by the changes in prices. A score of foods including staples, meats, fresh fruits, and vegetables, will be marked up slightly in some stores, while approximately fifteen items of food will be cut in price.

Flour is to be advanced 6 cents for a 24½ pound sack above last week's prices on the medium and lower grades; the better grades will be even higher. This advance is in line with the recent upward swing in wheat prices.

Retail bread prices, however, have not changed. They have been kept at about the same level for many months.

Turkeys, geese and ducks are selling at about the same prices asked during the Thanksgiving holidays. There is a good supply of high grade birds on the market and prices are considered reasonable Few staple foods have been marked up or down in price this week. Most of the price changes are in the meats and fruit and vegetable departments.

Potatoes Are Higher.

In the greengrocers' section prices have been raised slightly in some stores on green peas, lemons, oranges, potatoes, radishes, fresh tomatoes, apples, spinach, carrots and celery. Red potatoes and Idaho potatoes for baking are up about 6 cents a peck in a few stores. High grade potatoes are selling in the neighborhood of $2 a bushel; some grades are even higher.

Some butchers have made practically no changes in their prices since last week. Others, however, have raised their prices on bacon, roast ribs of beef, lamb chops, leg of lamb, pork loin roast, link pork sausage, and lard.

American cheese prices are up 4 cents a pound in a few stores, while in others the price has been cut an equal amount.

Butter is from 2 to 3 cents a pound lower in city and suburban stores generally.

In a few butcher shops prices have been reduced slightly on bulk sausage, round steak, shoulder lamb chops, sirloin steaks, and pot roast of beef.

Packingtown has been busy this week suplying retailers with holiday poultry. This has helped to keep dressed beef and lamb prices from advancing. Prices of beef and lamb carcasses are both about the same as they were a week ago, according to John Campbell, federal live stock market reporter.

Cattle Market Strong.

He says that while dressed beef prices remained about the same, fed steers and yearling beef animals sold at 50 cents a hundred pounds higher than a week ago. There has been a good market for beef cattle in the last few days. The supply is light.

Mr. Campbell reports that farmers were paid from 25 to 50 cents a hundredweight more for fat lambs this week than last. Hogs brought 25 to 50 cents a hundred more, selling at a top of $10.45 a hundred, the highest December price in ten years. Dressed pork is 50 cents to $1 higher than a week ago.

'LUTFISK' PROVIDES CHRISTMAS DELICACY IN MANY GALVA HOMES

Galva, Ill., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Residents of this Swedish town of 2,900 persons will eat no less than a ton of "lutfisk," a form of fish imported from Sweden and Norway, during the Christmas season.

Received in this country in dried, hard form, "lutfisk," commonly referred to as "stock fish," undergoes a soaking process for three weeks before it is ready for serving. For one week the fish is soaked in a mixture of wood ashes, lime, and soda, diluted with water, and at the end of three weeks the fish has increased in size four times.

Dried lutfisk is prepared on a large scale in Chicago and the majority of sales here are of the prepared variety. Some of the older Swedish residents prefer to do their own soaking, thereby insuring a better flavor.

BUFFET SUPPER FOR NEW YEAR'S EVE IS SIMPLE

The general plan of service for a New Year's buffet supper may be extremely simple. A hot dish of filling food set at one end of the dining room table [or large living room table] with a stack of warm plates, coffee at the opposite end, and in between rolls, relishes, salad, or vegetable, is the usual arrangement.

Dessert may be passed to the guests after their first course dishes are picked up, or the guests may be asked to return to the table to deposit dinner plates and help themselves to dessert and coffee.

The seven or eight o'clock supper hour demands a filling hot dish, salad, and so on, while the midnight supper usually consists of a cold platter of sliced turkey, baked ham, sliced tongue, and sliced cheeses. With this are served relishes, a salad and assorted breads and cake or cookies with hot coffee. If the guests are hearty eaters, a hot dish may also be served at the late buffet.

This Simple Dish Will Use Up Your Turkey Leftovers

Use the turkey leftovers to make a simple turkey-mushroom hot dish which may be served in patty shells, pastry shells, or toasted bread cases. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in a saucepan, then stir in 3 tablespoons of flour. Blend well. Also add 1 medium can of mushroom soup and 1½ cups of diced cold turkey. Stir over the burner until mixture thickens. To serve, sprinkle chopped parsley over the top.

BY MARY MEADE.

"Make me merry, both more and less
For now is the time for Christmas . . ."

The noble Roman, pagan though he was, contributed a great deal to the Christian observance of the yuletide. Throughout the centuries, the merry spirit of the Roman Saturnalia and the quieter atmosphere of Christmas merged to give us a merry, though religious, holiday.

The Romans had a penchant for overeating and making merry to honor their gods. Their annual feast in honor of Saturn, who was fabled to have reigned during the golden age of peace and plenty, was held about the time of the later observance of the birthday of Christ. As a tribute to Saturn, Roman warriors once a year dropped their arms and loved their enemies. Tomorrow the noble Roman might stab his foe through the well stuffed middle section, but today the two were comrades in gluttony. Tomorrow, too, the servants would get a beating, but today they were waited upon by their masters in a spirit of brotherhood.

The mistletoe, the holly, the evergreen bough, crackling fires, and lighted candles, so common to our Christmas, are relics of pagan nature worship. Save for the significance of this nature worship, the Christmas tree is entirely Christian in origin.

An old and beautiful legend is woven about the Christmas tree. On the night when Christ was born in Bethlehem, runs this legend, all the trees in the forest shed their ice and snow coatings, blossomed and bore fruit. Since the tenth century, when this legend first was told, the decorated evergreen tree has symbolized the Christmas spirit. Among early historical references to the Christmas tree is one mentioning a glittering tree bedecked with roses and pomegranates which England's Henry VIII. ordered prepared for a court festival.

Santa Claus, fat and rosy-cheeked as we conceive him today, is a far cry from his progenitor, a lean, ascetic bishop of Myra in Lycia, who lived at the beginning of the fourth century. This bishop, reputed to be wealthy, gave away his wealth at Christmastime to those in need, especially to children, for whom he had a great benevolence. All gifts from unknown sources were credited to this saint, and parents adopted the habit of giving their children gifts as rewards for good behavior, attributing them to Saint Nicholas, or to Santa Claus, as he later was called.

Saint Nicholas waxed fat and merry as years rolled on. He developed a "round little belly that shook when he laughed like a bowlful of jelly," and he took to traveling by sleigh and reindeer, which mode of journeying he picked up in the Scandinavian countries. He also took to clambering down chimneys with his gifts, and in America he even acquired a strange habit of appearing on street corners and in department stores weeks before Christmas.

Our Christmas is less gluttonous and, perhaps, a little less gay than many of the older celebrations, and this is a loss not to be mourned, but it has preserved a fraternal spirit through the ages. Generosity and good will, peaceableness and a love for home and hearthside are qualities which we could wish less transitory in their influence.

But it is now time to put the Christmas turkey in the oven and to stretch out the festive board to its full length. May your Christmas be a happy one, and your Christmas dinner delightful from start to finish!

TRIBUNE RECIPES

RAISIN PIE.

1½ cups raisins
⅝ cup sugar
¼ cup lemon and orange juice combined
½ teaspoon salt

Cook raisins until tender in small amount of water. Thicken with three tablespoons flour, add fruit juice, sugar and salt. Line a pie tin with pastry, pour in raisin filling, cover with pieces of pastry to make a lattice design, and bake at 450 degrees F. for about 10 minutes to set the crust. Reduce temperature to 350 degrees F. and finish the baking, about 40 minutes.

SHEPHERD'S PIE.

1½ cups cooked meat, diced
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons fat from meat
1½ cups water or meat stock
3 tablespoons flour
½ tablespoon onion juice
2 cups mashed potatoes

Make a sauce of fat, flour, and liquid. Add the meat and seasonings, and heat thoroughly. Add extra seasonings if necessary. Put in baking dish or casserole. Cover with mashed potatoes and brown in hot oven, 410 degrees F., 15 to 20 minutes. Serve with a tart salad.

CLAM CHOWDER.

1 cup clams
2 cups sliced raw potatoes
1 slice bacon or 1½ inch cube salt pork
½ onion
2 tablespoons butter
2 cups milk
4 crackers

Cut bacon or salt pork into small pieces and fry gently until the fat has fryed out. Add onion, minced, and cook gently until lightly brown. Add potatoes and water to cover. Simmer until potatoes are tender. When read to serve, add clams, hot milk, butter, and ground crackers.

CRANBERRY MERINGUE PIE.

1¾ cups granulated sugar
¾ cup cold water
4 cups cranberries
2 tablespoons flour
4 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 tablespoons powdered sugar

Cook sugar and water to a sirup, add cranberries. Cook until they stop popping and cool a little. Mix the flour, salt, and yolks of eggs until smooth. Stir in three tablespoons of the juice of the cooked cranberries. Then add to the berries and simmer for about three minutes. Stir in the butter and vanilla and set aside to cool. Turn filling into deep pie crust shell, previously baked. Cover with meringue made from stiffly beaten whites of eggs and powdered sugar. Place in oven, 325 degrees F., for about 15 minutes.

MARYLAND FRIED CHICKEN.

Cut up chicken for frying. Salt and pepper each piece. Dredge with flour. Dip in slightly beaten eggs diluted with water [two tablespoons of water for each egg], then in sifted bread crums. Brown in fat in heavy iron frying pan. Then cover tightly and bake in a fairly hot oven, 400 degrees F. until tender, 45 minutes to one hour. Baste with butter after 15 minutes cooking. Arrange on hot platter and serve with cream sauce. If it is a rather old and tough chicken, add ½ cup hot water to the pan as if baked in the oven. Another method of making this chicken is to cook in water until tender, then coat with salt, pepper, flour and crums, and brown in deep fat.

Eggnog the Popular Drink; What to Serve with It

For a New Year's day open house celebration eggnogs are always popular. As to what to serve with these drinks, any kind of cookies or dry cakes will do. Thin fruit cake slices would be appropriate. Avoid anything with whipped cream, chocolate, or cheese filling.

Easy and Efficient Way to Melt Marshmallows

Here's the easiest way to melt marshmallows [it's no longer necessary to melt them in the double boiler]: Place 32 marshmallows and 2 tablespoons of fruit juice, milk, or water in a saucepan. Place on low burner and fold over and over until marshmallows are half melted. Remove from stove and continue folding until mixture is smooth and fluffy.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Farm's Christmas.

Dec. 24, 1936.

CHRISTMAS is the biggest day in the year on the Tribune's Yorkville Experimental farm. It's the time when Mrs. Louis Thurow Sr. takes full charge in the kitchen and prepares her special annual holiday dinner, serving the choicest foods from her pantry and cellar to the Thurow children and grandchildren. Plans for the occasion were started about a month ago when Mrs. Thurow baked and steamed one of her rare fruit cakes for the dinner.

Tonight the children and grandchildren will go to "Grandmother Thurow's house" with the biggest socks and stockings they can find and carefully hang them on the mantel. Shortly after sunup tomorrow morning the Thurow children, living in different homes scattered over the big farm in the Fox River valley near Yorkville, will assemble again to see what Santa Claus has brought down the chimney.

What a Dinner!

At 12:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the big dinner is scheduled to be served. And what a dinner!

All day today Mrs. Thurow was busy in the kitchen. She picked four plump breasted Pekin ducks ready to be put in the oven and roasted to a nut brown. There will be dressing with sage in it—"seasoned just as the boys like it." There will be giblet gravy to go with it.

"Just as the boys like it." That's the key to the whole dinner which will include string beans and baked squash, grown in the farm garden; a special Christmas salad with cranberries and green grapes to give the seasonal coloring, topped with whipped cream; homemade hot rolls, and coffee. Then there will be pickled cucumbers of the "bread and butter" variety, peach pickles and other delicacies selected from the long rows of canned home grown fruits and vegetables in the Thurow cellar.

And What a Dessert!

Homemade mince pie and fruit cake with an extra cup of coffee will be served for dessert. The pies already are made from Mrs. Thurow's own receipt. Here it is: Beef [from the shoulder], 5 lbs.; suet, 1 lb.; chopped apples, 5 lbs.; citron, sugar peels of oranges and lemons, 7 ounces each; brown sugar [sweetened to suit taste]; cloves, allspice, and cinnamon for seasoning; a little apple cider and vinegar, and brandy, ½ pint. Fruit sirup is added when the pies are made.

After a dinner like that nobody wonders why the Thurow children always say: "Mother is the best cook in the world!"

That's why the Thurow children always accept their mother's invitation to "stay for supper." She knows they will stay for supper tomorrow night and has "cooked a-plenty."

IRENE FENWICK, WIFE OF LIONEL BARRYMORE, DIES

Actor at Bedside; Married for Thirteen Years.

IRENE FENWICK.

Beverly Hills, Cal., Dec. 24.—Special.]—Mrs. Lionel Barrymore, known in motion pictures as Irene Fenwick, died today after an illness of several months. Her actor-husband was at her bedside when the end came.

Barrymore married Miss Fenwick July 14, 1923, in Rome, following their appearance together in "The Claw" and in several of the actor's most successful Broadway plays.

The couple continued to appear together in New York plays with Miss Fenwick as her husband's leading lady until Barrymore deserted the stage for the screen.

Marriage a Success.

Their marriage had been considered among the more successful ones of Hollywood. Both had been married before. Barrymore was divorced in 1922 by Mrs. Doris Rankin Barrymore, whom he married in 1904.

Miss Fenwick's first husband was Felix Isman, wealthy Philadelphia broker, from whom she was divorced in 1909, and her second mate was James F. O'Brien, from whom she was divorced shortly before her marriage to Barrymore.

Lost $3,641,000 Suit.

As an aftermath of her marriage to Isman, Miss Fenwick was named defendant in a mortgage suit instituted by a New York bank and a judgment of $3,641,452 entered against her.

She had signed a mortgage agreement involving New York property in favor of Isman in 1908, when she was his wife and only 16 years old. In her defense to the suit Miss Fenwick declared she did not know she was making herself responsible for payment in case Isman defaulted, which he did.

Barrymore in Seclusion.

Mrs. Barrymore was 49 years old. Prostrated by grief Barrymore went into seclusion at the home of friends in Santa Monica. His brother John will substitute for him in his annual characterization of Scrooge in Dickens' "Christmas Carol" tomorrow.

Stricken two weeks ago with a serious complication of an intestinal ailment from which she had suffered for six years, Mrs. Barrymore was taken to a hospital for treatment. A week ago she showed such improvement that she was removed to her home, where death came as a surprise.

Born Irene Frizzel in Chicago, Mrs. Barrymore began her stage career there when 17 years old. Her first rôle was a small part in the play "Peggy from Paris," which she played under her real name.

S. A. WHEELOCK WILLS $440,000 TO 7 RELATIVES

Seymour A. Wheelock, retired produce merchant who died on Dec. 15 at the age of 89, left an estate of $240,000 to seven relatives, in addition to a $200,000 trust established before he died. This was revealed yesterday when the will was admited to probate by Probate Judge John F. O'Connell.

Mr. Wheelock's will leaves one-fifth of the estate to his widow, Florence, 822 Central avenue, Wilmette, and like shares to two daughters, Mrs. Bessie W. Kirk of Dallas, Tex., and Mrs. Grace W. Burke, 924 Forest avenue, Wilmette. One-fifth will be divided among Mrs. Raymond Wheelock, 919 Ashland avenue, Wilmette, widow of a son, and her two children, Priscilla and Phyllis. The other one-fifth will be shared by Mrs. Seymour Wheelock of Hanover, N. H., widow of another son, and her son, Seymour. The $200,000 trust was similarly divided.

The will of Dr. George W. Torrey, also admitted to probate, divides $80,500 between the widow, Laura, 6800 Normal boulevard, and a daughter, Mrs. Alice Meskimen, 908 107th place, Hammond. Dr. Torrey, a physician and dental surgeon, died on Dec. 12. He was 65 years old.

The Chicago Woman's club will receive $5,000 from the $40,000 estate of Mrs. Eustacia C. Wheeler, according to her will which was admitted to probate. Mrs. Wheeler, the widow of Eugene Wheeler, a lumber broker, died on Dec. 10 at the age of 80. The rest of the estate is divided among six friends and relatives.

JOHN DICKINSON, NEW DEAL LEGAL AID, QUITS POST

Government Attorney in Guffey Case.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—The administration's uncertainty and apprehension over the outcome of its battles on the constitutionality of the social security and labor relations acts before the Supreme court next year grew apace today with the resignation of John Dickinson, first assistant attorney general.

Dickinson, generally regarded as the brightest legal mind in the government and stout defender of the New Deal's course after others more spectacular had flopped, announced that he was leaving his post to enter private practice. He has been with the government nearly four years.

President Roosevelt expressed his regret at the loss in a letter written to "Dear John."

"In your work in connection with the preparation of the reciprocal treaty agreements act and in your arguments in behalf of the government before the Supreme court of the United States in the bituminous coal conservation act case, your defense of the recent accounting order of the communications commission and other cases involving important constitutional questions, your work has been of the highest value."

Dickinson received his appointment as assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division on July 23, 1935, after serving for more than two years as first assistant secretary of commerce. He was drafted from the commerce department by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings after the failures of Donald Richberg to successfully defend the NRA and Solicitor General Stanley F. Reed to persuade the Supreme court that the AAA was constitutional.

Counsel in Coal Case.

He represented the government before the District of Columbia and Supreme court in the Guffey coal case. The Supreme court declared the law unconstitutional, but the decision was somewhat tempered by a strong minority opinion in which Chief Justice Hughes, joined, upholding the marketing provisions of the act.

Other litigation in which Dickinson figured included the defense of the new telephone rules laid down by the communications commission recently upheld by the Supreme court; cases involving the construction of the stockyards act; and persuading the Supreme court to hold that in cases fixing rates of compensation for personal services no constitutional question of confiscation is involved.

In his principle sphere of anti-trust litigation Dickinson directed the preliminary investigating work leading up to the prosecution of oil companies now pending at Madison, Wis. He also won the anti-trust case against the International Business Machines company on patent rights before the Supreme court.

Participating in the New Deal conferences leading up to creation of the NRA, Dickinson opposed its extension to small local industries on the grounds it was intended to be limited to nation-wide activities. This was when he was assistant secretary of commerce. In this latter post he made one of his special appearances before congress in support of the reciprocal trade scheme.

The retiring attorney general is the author of "Hold Fast the Middle Way," an economic study of government relations to business. Dickinson was a delegate to the Democratic convention last June and took the stump afterward to make many political speeches in behalf of President Roosevelt's candidacy.

ILLNESS BLAMED FOR SUICIDE OF YOUNG WILHELM

Funeral Tomorrow for Cudahy Grandson.

Long illness and difficulty in making friends were blamed by relatives yesterday for the suicide of Frank E. Wilhelm Jr., grandson of Edward A. Cudahy Sr., Chicago packer. Wilhelm, who was 24 years old, killed himself with a shotgun early in the day in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm, at 2430 Lake View avenue. A coroner's jury which heard testimony on the case later returned a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane.

The young man's mother is the former Eugenia Cudahy, daughter of Mr. Cudahy who is chairman of the board of the Cudahy Packing company. His father is first vice president of the company. Mr. Cudahy, who is seriously ill in St. Luke's hospital, was not told immediately of his grandson's death.

Ill for Many Years.

Young Wilhelm had suffered since he was eight years old from osteomyelitis—an inflammation of the bone and marrow—in one of his legs. The infection, which is stubborn in responding to treatment, resulted from a fall on a cinder running track.

He underwent extensive medical treatment. After a stay in an eastern sanitarium six years ago it was believed that he was cured, but the ailment reappeared later. Following his graduation from Philips Exeter academy in Andover, Mass., he entered the family business, going to work as a cattle buyer in the Omaha plant of the Cudahy company.

He made rapid progress in the business, but was forced to take periodical vacations because of illness. Before he was forced to his bed several weeks ago he had been working as a salesman.

Mother Visits His Room.

His uncle, Edward A. Cudahy Jr. of Lake Forest, president of the packing company, said that young Wilhelm had had a bad cold, and that when his parents returned home at 1 o'clock yesterday morning his mother visited his room and gave him a menthol inhaler. Mrs. Wilhelm returned to the room at 5 a. m. and found her son sleeping.

Gunner Swalgren, butler in the home, went to the room at 7 o'clock and awakened the young man. He returned fifteen minutes later and discovered the body in an adjoining bathroom. No one in the house heard the shot.

At the inquest, held at 1158 North Clark street, Mr. Wilhelm described his son's poor health and said that while he had improved somewhat, he was subject to spells of despondency.

Social Contacts Difficult.

"He got on all right in his work," said the father, "but he seemed to find it difficult to make social contacts. He seemed to think that people noticed his ailment. Life seemed to overwhelm him."

Besides his parents, young Wilhelm is survived by a brother, David C. Wilhelm, 17 years old, and a sister, Mrs. Jean Harvey.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow in Holy Name cathedral. Burial will be private.

SEAWAY TREATY TO BE SENT TO SENATE AGAIN

Lewis Protests New York Dealing with Canada.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will resubmit the St. Lawrence waterway treaty, substantially in its original form, to the senate for ratification early in the next session of congress. This was learned today following a conference between the President and Frank Walsh, chairman of the New York power authority.

Meanwhile disclosures that Walsh, in the capacity of a self-appointed diplomat, had been conducting the negotiations with Canada for minor revisions in the waterway protocol, brought a protest from Senator James Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.] to the state department. Senator Lewis, first apprised of Walsh's activities by a letter from Col. Robert Isham Randolph of the Mississippi Valley association, demanded an explanation of the extraordinary procedure whereby a state official is permitted to carry on negotiations with a foreign government.

Negotiations Nearly Over.

President Roosevelt had been expected to resubmit the waterway treaty for senate ratification in view of the increased Democratic majority in the senate, but it became known for the first time today that the negotiations with Canada virtually have been concluded and that the United States is making no major concessions. The revisions, it is understood, relate chiefly to the allocation of hydro-electric power between the two countries.

Mr. Roosevelt submitted and vigorously urged ratification of the St. Lawrence treaty in 1934, but was defeated. With a two-thirds vote required for approval, the administration forces mustered barely more than a majority of those present, the vote being 46 to 42. With the Democratic membership increase to 75 in the next session, and with 10 of the Democrats new members, the President is said to be confident that the treaty now will be ratified.

Col. Randolph's letter to Senator Lewis stated that Mr. Walsh, Leland Olds, also of the New York power authority, and an unnamed official of the state department had been negotiating with the Canadian government concerning revisions in the treaty. This was confirmed at the state department today, where it was learned also that the official who accompanied Walsh and Olds in the Ottawa discussions was John P. Hickerson, assistant chief of the western European division of the department.

Lewis Goes to Chicago.

Senator Lewis left for Chicago for discussions with officials of the Mississippi Valley association, and other opponents of the St. Lawrence scheme, after receiving Col. Randolph's letter, but declared that he would return shortly after Christmas and carry his protest to President Roosevelt.

Although Walsh would not discuss the revisions said to have been agreed upon it was stated in reliable quarters that the Canadians have refused to make any concessions concerning the diversion of water at Chicago from Lake Michigan. The treaty limits such diversion to 1,500 cubic feet per second after Dec. 31, 1938, the limit set by the Supreme court in its decree of 1930, and thus transfers sovereignty over Lake Michigan, a wholly American body of water, to Canada. This was one of the many bitterly assailed provisions of the treaty when the senate rejected it in 1934, engineers having declared that 1,500 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan would not be sufficient to operate the 110 million dollar Illinois waterway link of the lakes-to-gulf route.

Would Leave It to War Office.

The Mississippi Valley association, through Col. Randolph, proposed to Senator Lewis a revision or article 8 whereby diversion at Chicago would not be increased beyond the limit fixed by the Supreme court except for navigation requirements and then only upon the order of the secretary of war. Pending construction of compensation works in the Niagara and St. Clair rivers, to offset the supposed effect of diversion upon the lake levels, the withdrawal at Chicago would in no case exceed 5,000 cubic second feet.

The importance of this proposal lies in the fact that, despite the Supreme court's decree, congress, at any time, or the secretary of war, under authority now vested in him, may increase the diversion at Chicago for navigation purposes. This power of congress was recognized by Charles E. Hughes, the present chief justice of the Supreme court, in his report as special master to that tribunal. However, if the limit fixed by the court were incorporated in the treaty it would become the supreme law of the land and could not be changed.

Put Cost at 359 Millions.

Instead of the 272 milllion dollars estimated by the board of engineers as the United States' share of the cost, Senator Wagner produced estimates of such eminent engineers as Hugh L. Cooper and E. P. Goodrich that the total cost to both companies would exceed a billion dollars. The most conservative cost to the United States, exclusive of the harbor improvements that would be required, would be 359 millions, according to Senator Wagner's figures, while Canada's share would be 38 millions.

Of the 5 million horsepower of electric energy estimated to be the maxim um output of the project, 1 million would go to the United States and 4 million to Canada.

President Roosevelt is primarily interested in the proposed waterway because of his hopes to develop a vast hydro-electric power authority in New York and New England along the lines of the Tennessee valley authority.

U.S. ACTS TO TAKE AMERICANS FROM CHINA WAR ZONE

Army Attache Heads for Seat of Rebellion.

NANKING, Dec. 25.—[Friday]—(AP)—A United States military officer was en route today to Sianfu, seat of rebellious Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, in an effort to arrange for evacuation of Americans from the civil war area.

Col. Joseph W. Stilwell, United States military attaché at Peiping, headed first for Loyang, Honan province, hoping to obtain help for the Americans from an expedition sent there to aid Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, premier of the Nanking government who is held captive by Marshal Chang at Sianfu.

Americans in Kansu province and northern Shensi appeared to be in the most dangerous positions, for the rebellion is reported to have reached large proportions in that region.

British Attaché Leaves for Loyang.

The British Military attaché at Peiping, Col. Loyal Fraser, also left for Loyang with an aid.

The departure of the two foreign military men coincided with a statement by the German embassy that it had confirmed the reported killing in Sianfu of a German dentist, Herbert Wunsch. His body was found in a street with five bullets in it.

On the fourteenth day of Chiang Kai-shek's captivity, Nanking officials said the situation is "increasingly serious."

Hope that the government chief would be released soon was fading, as it appeared the insurgents were determined to enforce their demands —among which is insistence that China make war on Japan.

Truce Expires.

A truce arranged by Chiang Kai-shek's wife and her brother, Dr. T. V. Soong, who were with the premier at Sianfu, was to expire today. An unverified report said Dr. Soong would return to Nanking with further proposals from the revolters, but officials were inclined to be pessimistic.

There had been no word from Mme. Chiang since the three-day truce was arranged.

Marshal Chang was reported to be increasing his force, and some sources said the expected arrival soon of several divisions from the west would swell it to 150,000.

His brother, Chang Shueh-cheng, was arrested at Tientsin in an alleged plot to sway North China to the rebel side.

[A Tientsin dispatch said 14 men and two women were arrested for conspiracy, and that police found documents implicating more than 20,000 persons in the movement.]

Nanking newspapers condemned the government for not launching a serious military drive against the insurgents.

Baby Triplets Celebrate First Christmas at Home

Bernard, Richard, and Edward Harenberg, 14 months old, sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Harenberg, 9431 South Albany avenue, were among the Chicago children who looked on as their parents decorated Christmas trees yesterday. Wishing to be impartial with her triplet sons, Mrs. Harenberg gave each one a musical top. This was a mistake, she decided as the day wore on. This is the triplets' first Christmas at home. Last year they were in an incubator at Englewood hospital, where they were born.

Goes to Play So His Mother Can Wrap Gifts; Is Killed

Houston, Tex., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Joseph C. Walker sent her son Clements, two years old, out to play in the yard today while she wrapped up his Christmas presents—a cowboy suit and a toy trailer truck. The boy was run over and fatally injured by an automobile as the mother tied the last ribbon.

IOWA LIGHT USERS STRIKE IN DEMAND FOR REDUCED RATES

Farson, Ia., Dec. 24.—(AP)—More than three score families in this area lighted kerosene lamps and sat by silent radios tonight, pledged not to touch an electric switch in their homes until the Rural Development company cuts its electricity rates.

"It's a consumers' strike," explained Strike Leader Dr. C. A. Henry of Farson, rotund, gray haired physician who has "family-doctored" most of the 150 farm and village dwelling subscribers along the 48 miles of privately owned power line in Wapello, Davis and Jefferson counties.

"We've got nearly half the subscribers lined up in our rural electric protective association.

"And more are joining all the time in this fight for a fair rate for fair service."

E. N. Peak of Marshalltown, Ia., president of the company which buys the electricity it resells from the Iowa Southern Utilities company, declined comment.

ANOTHER RECORD MILITARY BUDGET FACES JAP DIET

New Session Opens; Tax Hike Called For.

TOKIO, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The seventieth session of the imperial diet, in which the government expects to vote the largest budget and the largest army and navy appropriations in Japan's history, convened today in a brief opening ceremony.

The legislature assembled for the first time in the new $10,000,000 parliament building, an imposing marble edifice which crowns the highest hill in the center of the capital. It required seventeen years to build.

The session will be asked to approve large tax increases, the first of importance in ten years. For the first time the nation will be called on to dig deeper to pay for increased armaments and the military campaigns on the Asiatic continent which have lasted more than five years.

Expect Lively Debates.

Debates of this session are expected to be the liveliest in years, for they are almost certain to center around the record military appropriations and to indicate whether the political trend of the nation is toward Fascism, an army dominated totalitarian state, or democracy.

The diet adjourned until Dec. 26, when the emperor will appear before the two houses to deliver his speech from the throne. A long new year recess will follow, and real business will not begin until the third week in January.

[Dec. 25 is a holiday in Japan, not because it is Christmas, but because it is the anniversary of the death in 1926 of Emperor Taisho, father of the present ruler.]

Jiu Jitsu Men on Guard.

Four hundred and fifty guards, specially trained in jiu jitsu and Japanese fencing, were on guard around the new diet building to protect the legislators from outsiders and one another.

The budget for the fiscal year 1937-'38, which will be laid before the diet after the resumption in January, totals 3,041,000,000 yen [about $870,000,000], of which $205,000,000 is allotted to the army and $194,480,000 to the navy. Together they are to receive 46.3 per cent of the total. The largest previous budget is that of the current year, 2,309,000,000 yen.

The new budget includes a deficit of about 840,000,000 yen [$225,000,000], which must be met by bond issues. On this point the Seiyukai, second largest political party, prepared to center its fire. This party and other critics of the government predicted this would lead to inflation and further depreciation of Japan's currency.

FOUND DEAD AT GENESEO.

Geneseo, Ill., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Sid Anderson, 25, of Piru, Cal., was found dead on the Rock Island railway tracks here by a section crew early this morning. Apparently he had been killed by a train.

SECOND REQUEST MADE TO G. M. C. FOR WAGE TALK

Bonus Eases Tension in Glass Strike.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—An immediate conference with officials of the General Motors corporation for purposes of collective bargaining was asked today for the second time in four days by Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America.

Martin's letter was addressed to Alfred P. Sloan, president, and William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of the corporation. It stated that "bargaining should take place before a strike, rather than after."

Coming on the heels of the settlement of the strikes in the Kelsey Hayes Wheel plant and the Detroit Branch of the Aluminum Company of America, the letter gave rise to the previously expressed belief that the union is planning to concentrate on the mammoth General Motors corporation in its bargaining demands.

Declares Issues National.

Martin's letter said the union will continue to take up minor grievances with local and division managements. But it insisted: "We would like to point out that the issues here involved cannot be settled by either local or division managements because these issues are not local but actually are national in scope, and are determined by the policy of the General Motors corporation."

The issues mentioned were collective bargaining, seniority rights, speed up of assembly lines, rates and methods of pay.

The letter concluded with the statement:

"You have either misunderstood the purpose of our first letter, or you deliberately evaded the issues involved. The issues are real and should be met without further delay."

Told to See Manager.

Martin referred to an earlier meeting between himself and Knudsen, as a result of the first letter, at which the union head was advised to take up complaints with the plant manager.

Five thousand Kelsey Hayes employés prepared to start to work Monday. There was great rejoicing at the plant, and a spontaneous parade marked the end of the strike. The company makes brakes and wheels for Ford, Chevrolet, Pontiac and Oldsmobile.

With the end of the strike, the Ford Motor company, and the Briggs Manufacturing company and the Murray corporation, both of whom make bodies for Ford, announced resumption of full production.

Hopes for a settlement of the strike of the 17,000 employés of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company and the Libby-Owens-Ford company were revived today when it became obvious that the supply of glass for automobiles was only enough for from two to four more weeks.

Strikers Get Bonus.

Payment of a bonus to striking employés of the Ottawa, Ill., plant of the Libbey-Owens-Ford company is believed to have removed a serious obstacle to resumption of negotiations with the Federation of Flat Glass Workers' union.

John D. Biggers, president of Libbey-Owens-Ford, in a letter to Ottawa employés said that "although a large proportion of Ottawa employés lost their rights to the bonus by going on strike Nov. 30 and Dec. 2, the company does not wish to discriminate against any of its employés. Ottawa employés may in a measure have been the victims of circumstances and misunderstandings and the majority innocently affected by the decision of the others. It is hoped when Ottawa and other plants of the company resume operations, that the same spirit of loyalty, fair dealing, and cordial labor relations which existed among the great majority of our Ottawa employés will be restored."

PAIR OF SISTERS IN U. S. AND 2 IN GERMANY PHONE

New Rochelle, N. Y., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Four sisers, separated for more than six years, held a reunion tonight with a four-way telephone conversation between Germany and the United States.

"Most of the time they wept," said Theodore Spurr, son of one of the participants.

In Leipzig, Germany, Mrs. Ella Schroeder and her children sat in a circle while Mrs. Schroeder spoke.

In Rostock, in northern Germany, sat Mrs. Emma Zastrow, with her family.

At Winter Park, Fla., was Mrs. Sophie B. Spurr.

In the home here was Mrs. W. B. Power, and the rest of the family sat around with headphones listening in. Among them were Spurr and Peter Zastrow, son of the Rostock sister, who arranged the reunion. He is a telephone company employé.

Spurr said the conversation, chiefly interfamily Christmas greetings, was clear.

He said Mrs. Schroeder told her sisters "not to believe everything they're reading about Hitler."

RESISTS ROBBER; SLUGGED

Alfred Johnson, 59 years old, 6120 Rhodes avenue, was slugged and cut above his right eye early yesterday when he resisted a colored robber in the alley behind his home. The robber escaped without taking any money.

DIEGO RIVERA AND WIFE BEATEN UP IN MEXICAN CAFE

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 24.—[(AP)]—Diego Rivera, Mexican mural painter and communist leader, charged today that police stood by without interfering while two men beat him and his wife in a café last night.

The painter said he recognized his assailants as government employés and declared the police made no effort to arrest them when they fled after the fight. Rivera, beaten in the face, suffered bruises and minor injuries but did not require hospital care.

His wife, who shouted, "Don't hit my husband, hit me," was struck in the stomach before the restaurant owner and another diner stopped the fight. Rivera, who recently won asylum in Mexico for Leon Trotzky, exiled former power in soviet Russia, said his assailants cursed him as a disciple of the revolutionary leader.

Film Darlings to Wear Costly Furs to Races

Santa Anita Opening to Be Style Parade.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Feminine Hollywood goes to the races tomorrow amid holiday furor and holiday fur.

The ladies of the town will blossom out with pelts as they traipse through trafic to bet on the bloomin' 'orses of Santa Anita. Nine out of ten expect to make the hot time in the old town hotter for themselves, and no matter how they fare on the horses—

They are betting on their fur-bearing costumes to win, place, and show in the fashion parade.

Jean Harlow will wear a scarf of cross fox with her tile-colored woolen frock, a draped model with one seam, draped and shirred sleeves. The halo hat is of the same fabric.

Loretta Young's fashion money went on a sports coat of baby leopard fur. She will wear it over a brown suit, with brown accessories.

A silver fox cape is to complete Carole Lombard's muchly zippered all-black outfit of short-skirt with attached short-sleeved jacket and three-quarter length box coat. The hat is broad-brimmed black felt.

A gray caracul top coat got the parlay of Gail Patrick, filmland's newest bride. Her costume will combine gray and burgundy in woolens, with gray hat trimmed with small burgundy feathers.

Gladys Swarthout says she will wear a bulky full-length topcoat of nutria over a two-piece brown homespun suit and red sweater, with a peaked brown antelope hat.

If it's warm, Bette Davis' Cossack type safari sealskin swagger coat will come off to reveal a chocolate brown crêpe frock. Another sealskin swagger, if it's cold, will hide Patricia Ellis' brown and tan herringbone suit.

Rochelle Hudson has a gendarme blue coat collared in blue fox to wear over a jersey frock of dark red with dark blue accessories. June Travis promises to be there in leopard skin cape and bronze-green tailored wool dress. It is lynx for Mary Maguire—lynx worn as a coat collar. Her imported Rodier suit of chocolate brown with mustard gold flecks will be worn over a mustard gold turtleneck sweater.

Eleanor Whitney's beige wool crêpe suit is trimmed in sable, and has a melon-shaped sable muff..

Dixie Dunbar's fur is gray Galyak, worn as topcoat over a gray tailored suit with rust-colored blouse. The hat is gray felt.

Josephine Hutchinson will be seen in knee length swagger coat of mink. Her tailored dress is of dark brown wool, and her chartreuse felt turban is topped by curled ostrich feathers and a stiff little veil.

Dorothy Lamour's grass-green tweed ensemble boasts a generous red fox collar and her accessories will be of darker green suede.

Gloria Stuart's "coronation blue" suit in imported woolens will be worn with a double scarf of cross fox.

But there may be some dissenters from the fur-bearing trend. Jeanette Macdonald is substituting a brown ascot scarf, to be worn with her pine green herringbone tailored tweeds.

Maureen O'Sullivan has a new spectator sports suit of soft tweed in ashes of roses coloring she wants to wear, and Madge Evans, if she goes to the races, plans to go in a one piece black woolen frock with guimpe of velvet and—what's this?—a scarf of silver fox.

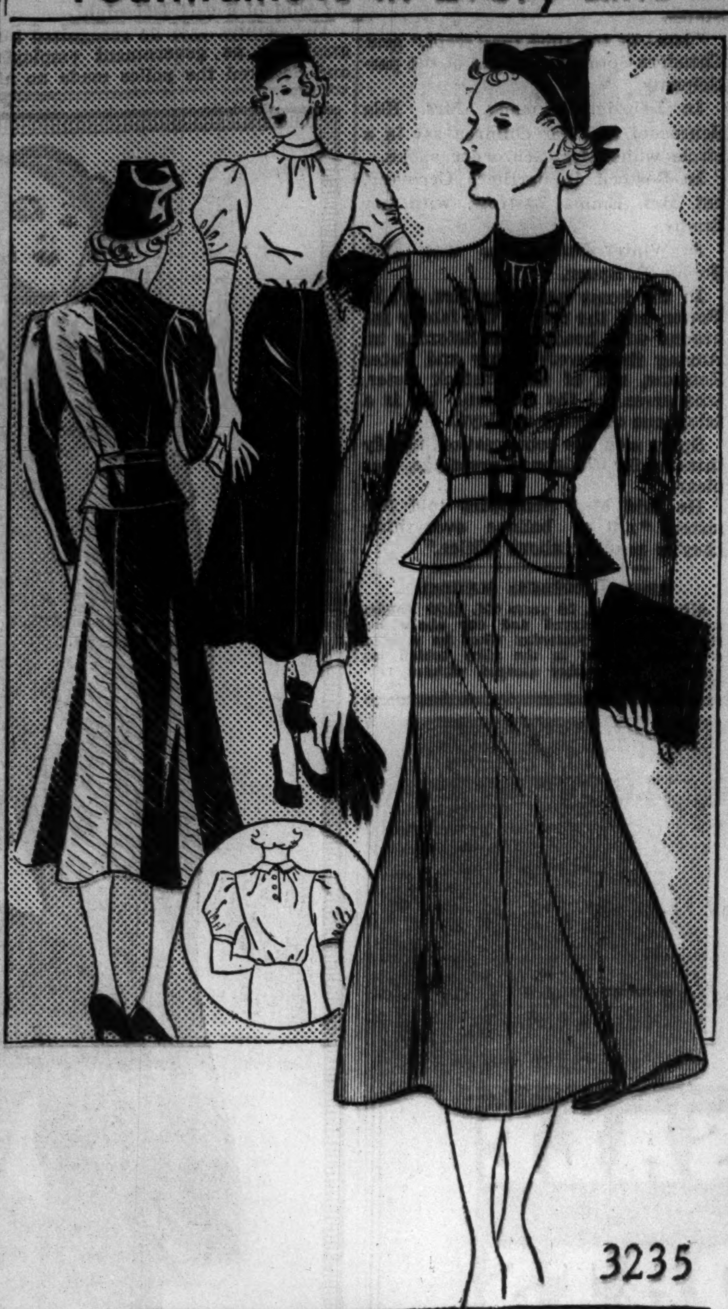
Sunshine.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Dec. 25 is a day for sunshine and happiness. The "Sunshine" quilt block is one which should be on display on such a festive occasion. It is a twelve inch pieced block which is set together with alternate blocks of white. Yellow, orange and vermilion, against a white ground carry out the beauty of the sun's rays. It is one of the simpler quilt patterns based on the fundamental four patch pattern which served as a basis for beautiful blocks such as the "Barrister's Block," and the "Rocky Road to Dublin."

Youthfulness in Every Line



3235

MISS' PEPLUM COSTUME.

Every line of this jacket ensemble spells youth. Only slim figures have the privilege of wearing this outfit, although many a woman with more generous curves would like to! The entire outfit is fitted snugly to the figure. The jacket has puffed sleeves and a tight bodice, although the dashing little peplum is flared generously. The closing allows for a selection of interesting buttons.

The skirt is plain, relying on paneling for a slim fit and flare below the hipline. The blouse has a little rolled collar, and is gathered softly into the neckline below it. The sleeves are puffed and yet fit snugly just above the elbow. The blouse is the tuck-in variety, and looks well with only the skirt, if you wish to leave the jacket at home some time.

The original of this smart, many purpose costume is created in coronation red woolen, and the blouse is of navy crêpe silk. The navy is repeated in the buttons, belt buckle, and the binding on the buttonholes of the jacket. Created in high colors, this ensemble is pretty under somber winter coats.

This outfit might well go to cocktail parties, luncheons, matinées, teas, and informal suppers. For these purposes it is dressy and luxurious with the skirt and jacket of velvet and the blouse of metal cloth or white satin.

Style No. 3235 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 16 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material, with 1⅝ yards of 39 inch lining for the jacket and skirt. The blouse requires 1½ yards of 39 inch material.

Miss Churchill Married with Dad's Blessing

Sails for England After N. Y. Ceremony.

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—With the blessing and consent of her father, Winston Churchill, British statesman, Miss Sarah Churchill was married this morning in the chapel of the Municipal building to Vic Oliver, orchestra leader and comedian.

The couple left for England at noon on the Aquitania "to go direct to my father's house," as Mrs. Oliver expressed it.

In the Municipal building Mr. Oliver described himself as an actor and said he was born in Vienna, the son of Victor Samek. He is 38 and was divorced in St. Louis in 1933. He became an American citizen two days ago, Miss Churchill gave her age as 22. She said she would retain her British citizenship. The marriage was performed by Deputy City Clerk Philip A. Hines.

Mr. Oliver said he was going to be master of ceremonies in the Mayfair hotel, starting on January 4.

"But we are coming back here," he said. "The United States will be our home."

His bride demurely bowed assent.

"How about children?" a bold interviewer asked.

"I am not abandoning my career," said Mrs. Oliver, blushing. "No babies for the present. I am coming back to take up my dramatic work."

"How about your brother Randolph, didn't he come here to stop the marriage?"

"Not at all," Mrs. Oliver replied.

WE HAVE dug up a little time-honored game for you to play in a dull moment after the Christmas feast. It was Christmas. played in the days when the feast consisted of a boar's head wreathed in bay with a lemon in its mouth and sprigs of rosemary in its ears, followed by a shield of brawn with mustard, boiled beef, neat's tongue roasted, roast pig, roast goose, roast swan, a haunch of venison, and a pasty of venison and similar comestibles. The game is called snapdragon. Raisins or other dried fruit are put in a large shallow dish; brandy is poured over them and set on fire. The lights are turned out and the company, in turn, snatch the fruit out of the blaze. . . . God rest you merry gentlemen; let nothing you dismay.

* *

THE Christmas feast came into popularity about 1560 [she's been reading again], and the custom of sending Christmas cards began in 1867. The Christmas tree was introduced into England in 1829 by a Princess Lieren, according to Greville's memoirs . . . "The Princess Lieren got up a little fête such as is customary all over Germany. Three trees in pots were put upon a long table. . . ."

This was considered pretty exotic, however, and only began to be popular generally after Albert set up Christmas trees at Windsor castle twelve years later. . . . Little did he suspect that a descendant of his, ninety-five years after, would abandon the Christmas tree at Windsor, and the crown along with it, and play Santa Claus in a German speaking land while waiting for an American lady to get a divorce decree.

* *

NOW, about the Christmas plum pudding. In its first stages it was called "furmenty," or "frumenty," a tasty dish of wheat boiled until the grains burst, and, when cold, strained and boiled again with broth, or with milk and egg yolk. Later milk, raisins, sugar, and spice were added to the boiled wheat. Then it became plum porridge, and finally, about 1670, became plum pudding, made of beef or mutton broth, thickened with brown bread, with raisins, currants, prunes, and gingerbread added.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS to you all, readers and bulletineers, fans and critics. We find no quip adequate for the occasion, so we repeat, a Merry Christmas to you —one and all.

Garbo Finally Agrees to Move Into Her New Dressing Room

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Greta Garbo finally has yielded to the pleas of her bosses and moved into the elegant new dressing room assigned her on the M-G-M lot. When a new building was erected recently the most richly-appointed cubicle was reserved for her. But she refused to move in, preferring, for sentiment's sake, the one she had occupied since she first came to M-G-M 11 years ago.

Carpenters hammering on a new construction job just outside her window apparently changed her mind.

MARIAN MARSH.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—It was a shock, but a welcome one, to blonde Marian Marsh when she opened the door of her dressing room.

She has been hurrying to the room every noon to receive a telephone call from her fiancé, Al Scott, from New York. When she opened the door she saw Scott sitting there. He had taken a plane to Hollywood to spend the holidays with her.

Scott, former husband of Colleen Moore, said he and Miss Marsh probably will be married in May.

National Cherry Festival Will Be Opened July 14

Traverse City, Mich., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—The 1937 national cherry festival will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, July 14, 15 and 16, it was announced today by the executive committee. These dates were selected after cherry growers and packers agreed they would coincide with the Grand Traverse cherry harvest. Pearls Trim Velvet Hat

[Posed by Anita Colby of R.-K.-O.]

Pearls and velvet—The most feminine and the most romantic of combines for all women. For street, for evening, for afternoon, and now for the most sophisticated of neo-cocktail-outfits. This costume for the cocktail and afternoon tea parties features the slim swank of midnight black velvet with the lovely contrast of pearls.

Strands of the pearls are twisted in a rope effect and tied with either black grosgrain or velvet ribbon and are the only accent for the long sleeved dress. A similar rope effect, also tied at the back with ribbon or velvet, is twisted around the crown of the high hat. The result—one of the most distinguished costumes of the year, a costume that can be worn by any one and worn anywhere.

Pearls in twisted rope effects, and smart high hat such as shown in the fashion photograph, are available in Chicago shops.

Happy Family Dinners Will Be Held Today

Holiday Feasts Will Mark Christmas Here.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MERRY CHRISTMAS! And a merry one it will be, indeed, to judge from all that is happening in the next twelve hours or so. There will be the traditional family gatherings, of course, even to the third and fourth generations, with the tiniest members of the family emerging from the nursery for the most exciting day of their year. And there will be those hospitable family parties in which old friends always share, and other even larger parties which will reunite even larger groups of friends in the spirit of old Yuletide hospitality.

The Walter P. Paepckes went out to their farm in the Fox River valley in time to spend Christmas eve there with the entire family. They are remaining in the country till next Wednesday.

At midday today "all the Clows" are assembling for dinner at the home of the senior William E. Clows. This annual event brings together some twenty-five members of the clan.

Other Large Family Groups to Gather.

Another large family group will be dining with the senior Calvin Fentresses in Hubbard Woods, and in Winnetka the Ayres Boals will have a Christmas luncheon for another large family group thirty strong. A family vaudeville with Mrs. Boal's sister, Mrs. George B. Massey as producer, will be the original entertainment arranged for the party, and later in the afternon the Boals will hold open house as they always do on Christmas day.

The John P. Porters again are having their Christmas open house and eggnog party this afternoon at their farm near Libertyville. Her sister, Mrs. John Walker, arrived from Kansas City in time for the family dinner last evening and will be here until after the holidays.

A Christmas in the country is in store for the 150 friends of Col. and Mrs. Robert R. McCormick who will have a buffet dinner with them at Cantigny farm near Wheaton.

The Louis F. Swifts, who will be among the McCormicks' guests this evening, had their own family Christmas gathering last evening at their Wheaton farm.

Mrs. Swift's sister, Mrs. Chase Boyden, and her young daughter, "Bootsie" Boyden, who are here from the east until after New Year's day, were there to swell the family ranks, but the senior Louis F. Swift was absent, since he is in Phoenix with the James Minottos. Mrs. Samuel T. Chase will give a small eggnog party for Mrs. Boyden next Monday at the Whitehall, where she and Mr. Chase are spending the winter.

Kellogg Fairbanks to Have Relatives.

While her family is at the McCormicks' party Mrs. Chase, as one of the Ayer sisters, will be at the Kellogg Fairbanks' dinner this evening. As usual, the Fairbanks are including several old friends in their own large family gathering.

The Stuart clan will celebrate Christmas day, among them the R. Douglas Stuarts and the George Macdonalds, by dining with Mrs. Robert Stuart at her home in Woodlawn avenue.

The William S. Elliotts, as usual, are inviting friends to join them at Christmas dinner at noon today, among them the Raymond E. Durhams, their niece, Miss Adelaide Sweetser, Mrs. Robert Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Metcalfe, Parker Blair and his daughter Alice, Mrs. Frank Porter, Mrs. Charles H. Coffin, Miss Betty McAdams, and all the other younger members of these families.

Hellyers to Gather at Riverside Dinner.

In Riverside there will be two especially gay family groups. One will reunite all the Hellyers, a score or Two descendants of this famous circus team—Miss Inez Bailey, 21, granddaughter of a nephew of James A. Bailey, famous circus owner, and Earl Barnum, 37, grandson of a nephew of Phineas T. Barnum, "world's greatest showman"—were the principals.

Good Morning!

MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Away back when I was a little girl, one of my most cherished books was "Toinette's Philip." Imagine my surprise and delight to discover that "Rainbow on the River" is an adaptation of that beloved story!

It has made a charming picture, I think. And I loved Bobby Breen in the leading rôle. Understanding direction has done away with the staginess which unfortunately marred his work in "Let's Sing Again" and the camera evades his arm movements—which the child apparently finds necessary when he sings.

◆

The story is a simple one. The scenes are laid in New Orleans and New York in the year 1873.

Philip is a little southern boy whose parents are dead and who is being lovingly reared by black Toinette, who had been his mother's mammy.

Toinette operates a sidewalk flower booth and Philip sells blossoms, winning willing buyers by his smiling face, and selling talk delivered in song. . . .

One day the kindly parish priest discovers that he has folks—and pleads with Toinette to send her charge to his grandmother, Mrs. Ainsworth, in New York. Toinette rebels. . . . But the priest does his duty and the lad finds himself in the home of his crusty and rebel hating grandparent. A home that shelters his uncle and aunt and a mean little girl cousin who does all in her power to make life miserable for the boy.

His only friend is the kindly butler . . . [Charles Butterworth! You know what to expect THERE!]

◆

Things become so bad that Philip starts to run away. . . . This brings matters to a head and reveals the fact that Mrs. Ainsworth has been an ally for a long time. It also results in the evacuation of the cruel relatives. . . . The picture ends with the reunion of Toinette and Philip—for Grandma Ainsworth, when she once gives in, surrenders in a big way. . . .

Of course "Rainbow on the River" is hokum. But it's hokum so ingeniously presented and finely acted that it carries a punch.

There is much delightful music by the Hall Johnson choir and the settings and costumes are authentic and fascinating.

Altogether, "Rainbow on the River" is a most satisfactory holiday offering. One that both adults and children will enjoy.

See you tomorrow.

The Man on the Blue

[Copyright: 1936: By Luke Short.]

By Luke Short

SYNOPSIS.

Shamrock Ireland, wanted for shooting a town marshal in self-defense over a card game, reaches Arizona on his Blue and saves the life of Sherif Lobell, who is about to be shot by a girl, Nancy Hyatt. The Hyatts—Nancy and her brother, Mayo—have lost their ranch, the Double Diamond, to the bank. Mayo has threatened to kill any man who serves him with a dispossess. Because Shamrock believes it was Mayo who betrayed the man who brought him up he accepts the dangerous task of serving the papers. He confronts Mayo at his ranch and learns he has misjudged him, but Nancy scorns him. She tried to shoot Lobell to save her brother, paroled on good behavior, from killing him. Shamrock bullies Lobell into appointing him deputy sherif. Maginnis, a stable boy, is wanted, according to Lobell, across the border as a killer. Shamrock senses that Lobell, for some reason of his own, plans to have the lad shot while "attempting to escape" on the trip across the border. Lobell sends Shamrock to see Hyatt. Shamrock convinces the Hyatts he is with them, and persuades Mayo to leave the ranch with Nancy and Matt, the foreman, till they can investigate. He tells Lobell that the ranch will be given up peacefully. Shamrock overtakes the posse riding out with Maginnis and rescues him. The lad tells Shamrock that Lobell had conspired to have his father lynched because of a gold claim he'd found that Lobell was after. Shamrock sends the lad to Hyatt's hiding place, then goes to call on the banker, Gillespie, for further information, and finds him killed. Lobell has planted Hyatt's keys in the bank's vault. A posse is formed to capture Hyatt as the banker's murderer. Shamrock gallops off to warn Hyatt. He sends Hyatt and Maginnis off and, not trusting Lobell, hides behind a bowlder till the posse leaves, ready to protect Nancy if necessary. Then he overtakes Hyatt and Maginnis.

INSTALMENT XXXV.

THE SHERIF'S VILLAINY.

The three of them ate their jerky and stretched out in the light of the increasing sun, warmed by the meager food and fire and cigarets.

Maginnis was drowsy, but he leaned back against a rock and looked at Shamrock.

"What do you aim to do now?"

"Sleep," Shamrock said, yawning. "I'll sleep for two hours, then Hyatt'll wake me. I'll call you in another two. Then we'll talk it over."

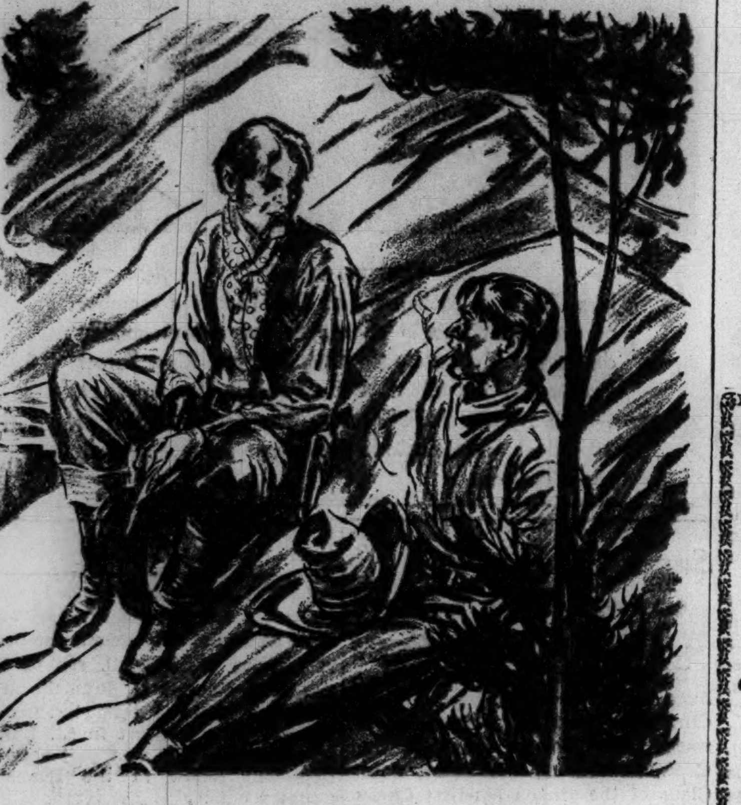
Shamrock winked at Hyatt as he got the blankets and slickers. Shamrock lay down, Maginnis beside him.

Shamrock lay there for two minutes, they looked cautiously at Maginnis. The youngster was already deep in the sleep of exhaustion and Shamrock rose and gently put the blanket over him. Hyatt watched too. Shamrock stood over Maginnis a moment, studying the face that lost some of its gravity in sleep and seemed younger. It was a good face, a little worn by work, but fine, lean, sensitive, the face of a thoroughbred. Shamrock looked over at Hyatt.

"Pretty young for coyote bait, ain't he?" he asked softly. "Well, Lobell ain't got him yet."

"And won't," Hyatt said.

They moved over to the other side of the canyon, out of hearing, and sat down with their backs to warm rock. Each rolled a smoke lazily, comfortably.



"Did the kid tell you?" Shamrock asked.

"Did the kid tell you?" Shamrock asked.

"All of it. That youngster's got plenty sand in his craw."

"What do you make of it?"

"Tell me about Gillespie first."

Shamrock did so, mentioning again the key ring of the elder Hyatt which had been planted to convict Mayo of the robbery and murder.

"It would have been easy to get," Hyatt mused. "We left at noon, and since we couldn't take everything, we didn't take anything. A man watchin' the place could have got it and rode back to town.

"And Lobell was the only one besides them gunnies of his that knew you were leavin' and the place could be searched, so he got the key ring." He looked at Hyatt. "It was Lobell then that killed Gillespie, wasn't it?"

"Barrin' an accident, it was."

"That give you any ideas?" Shamrock asked lazily.

Hyatt looked over at him. "Not right now. But it's given you some. What are they?"

"It's given me plenty," Shamrock said dreamily.

"What does it tally?"

Shamrock looked at him squarely. "I think I know what this is all about—all of it. Let's begin with a question: If Lobell killed Gillespie, why did he do it? Of course, one reason is to get the bank's money, but was there another?"

Hyatt had the wisdom not to interrupt and Shamrock went on.

"Before you answer, let's start wonderin' who did the rustlin' of the Double Diamond stuff. Why couldn't it be Lobell? He had the hard cases to do it, and none of your neighbors gave a damn. They sat back and watched it, you say. Lobell wouldn't help you. Why wouldn't he? Because he was doin' it?"

"For the cattle."

"Partly. But why would he want to kill you when the cattle are all gone?"

"Afraid I'd savvy it sooner or later."

"Huh-uh. He's covered up too well for that. He knows you'd never prove it this late. He was tryin' to ruin the Double Diamond for somebody else not himself—because the bank held the paper on the spread. If he was doin' it for anybody, it'd have to be the bank. That bein' so, it stands to reason that him and Gillespie was in cahoots, don't it?"

Hyatt nodded.

"Then why did Lobell kill Gillespie?"

Hyatt thought a moment. "Maybe to hog everything for himself instead of splittin' it."

Shamrock agreed. He told Hyatt of his belief that Lobell sneaked up to Gillespie's room, tortured the vault combination out of him, killed him, and then robbed the bank. "Now this is plumb guesswork, but see how it sounds. Lobell goes over to Gillespie this afternoon and says they've got the Double Diamond at last, that you've moved off. Gillespie, by all accounts, is cagy. Maybe he says to Lobell: 'The ranch then belongs to the bank—to me. Thanks for helpin' me. Now go whistle for your cut.' It makes Lobell proddy. He's double crossed and he's sore as hell."

Shamrock suddenly turned to Hyatt. "Has Gillespie got any heirs?"

"Always said he didn't."

"Ah. That does it," Shamrock said softly. "Gillespie made the mistake of tryin' to double cross the wrong man, because Lobell ain't a gentle jasper. What does Lobell do about it? He sits down and thinks and pretty soon he's got the idea. He sends a man out for that key ring of yours, and when he gets it, he goes and parleys again with Gillespie. That is at night, about supper time. They fight. Lobell hog ties him, tortures him and kills him, then robs the bank and throws the blame on you. See what it means?"

And again, without waiting for an answer, he continued: "It means this. The bank is strapped for ready cash and Gillespie hasn't any heirs. Then the law has got to step in, sell the bank out and all its paper with it. The Double Diamond comes up for sale. Lobell buys it with the money he took from the bank. Now let's forget him a minute and go back to old Maginnis.

Old man Maginnis came here and he finds gold. He's got to have backin to mine it. He got it all right, accordin' to Lee, but we don't know where. Now let's guess again and say that he got backin' from Gillespie at the bank. Old Maginnis tells Gillespie that he knows where there's gold plenty of it. But the old boy is cagy, too. He doesn't register his claim because he figures Gillespie would stake claims all around his, then tell him to go to hell for his backin'. He makes Gillespie take his word for it. They fiddle around some, but finally they draw up the papers assurin' old Maginnis of his split. As soon as they're made up and signed Maginnis tells him where the gold is—and the condition of its bein' mined."

"I don't savvy that last," Hyatt said.

"Never mind. You will. I'll come back to it, but don't forget it."

Searl, Film Bad Boy, Loses Role of Tom Sawyer

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—One of the disadvantages of being a celebrity is being brought home to Jackie Searl, 14, who is the film colony's favorite portrayer of skulking juvenile rôles.

In private life Searl is an intelligent, unselfish, good tempered little gentleman.

He took screen tests for the best boy rôle in a couple of years—that of Tom Sawyer. The screen test was favorable enough at Selznick-International studio, but then the complication arose.

The question was whether the public, which has been "educated" by Searl rôles to feel like booing whenever his face appears on the screen, would accept Jackie as Mark Twain's hero.

Apparently the studio's doubts carried the day, because Searl has not been given the rôle and screen tests are being continued.

One hitherto unknown boy was put under contract by the Seyznick offices as the result of its painstaking search for the ideal Tom Sawyer. He is Albert Wayne Sweatt, 13, who probably will play Sid Sawyer, Tom's brother. Sweatt's family, originally from Hot Springs, Ark., has been traveling most of the last two years with a tent show operated by his step-father. Young Sweatt is under the guardianship, for professional purposes, of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hirsch, who brought him out from Arkansas for screen tests.

Jane Withers is one of Jackie Searl's greatest admirers. She bought him a candid camera for Christmas. Jackie is giving her a diamond studded gold bracelet charm.

* * *

Christmas will be a day of double celebration for many in the film colony. In the Joe E. Brown family, for instance, the day is wedding anniversary for the older folks, birthday for son Don, and merry Christmas for the other three children.

For the following Christmas is their birthday, and any way you figure it they get cheated out of one present, either a Christmas gift or a birthday remembrance: Michael Curtiz, director; Marguerite Churchill, Earle Foxe, Ketti Gallian, Sonya Levien, scenario writer; Barton MacLane, Tony Martin, Dorothy Peterson, Lela Rogers [Ginger Rogers' mother], Tom Reed, scenario writer; Gladys Swarthout, Producer Joseph M. Schenck, and Helen Twelvetrees.

Ruth Chatterton's birthday occurs on Christmas eve, and so do those of Howard Hughes and William Goetz, producers.

* * *

Joan Crawford's gardener is grooming a higher hedge around her Brentwood grounds in order to balk candid camera fiends who have been snapping Joan and her husband, Franchot Tone, in their shorts at outdoor play.

Three Borzages have been working at United Artists studio—Frank Borzage directing "History Is Made at Night," with Charles Boyer and Jean Arthur; Frank's brother, Lew, as his chief assistant, and another brother, Dan, playing in "You Only Live Once," with Sylvia Sidney.

* * *

Director Clarence Brown's idea of making an actor out of an airplane pilot fell foul of masculine modesty, and Franklin Keel, the aviator, has gone back to the controls of a passenger airliner. Keel just couldn't undertake to let a makeup man pat his face with a powder puff, paint mascara around his eyes, and put cream on his features.

Fred MacMurray has one of the new dark blue full dress suits.

Paramount announces an epic of the great Canadian open spaces to succeed its British and American historical films. The new one will be called "The Long Traverse" and will cover the adventures and some of the romances of trappers of the far northwest in the early 1800s—the days of the Northwestern Fur company and the Hudson Bay company.

When interviewed as to how he expected to feel while spending Christmas day in Las Encinas sanitarium, where he is slowly recovering from his long and critical illness, W. C. Fields said: "I have spent Christmas day in many odd and sometimes undesirable places, but never up to now in a hospital. In fact, until I came down with dandruff and double solitaire last May I never had seen the inside of a hospital. Fortunately I am approaching my normal weight again, particularly in the legs, so when I hang up a stocking it will be considerable stocking, and if I do not like the extent of it I will borrow one off my beautiful nurse, Miss Lindberg."

Fields isn't spending all his time suffering by any means. He and his pal, gagman and scenarist, Jack Cunningham, have been spending portions of the last several weeks together in his private sanitarium bungalow concocting the story of the next movie comedy which Bill expects to begin about March 1.

George Sanders, who made a hit in his first American film rôle, that of the mercenary and villainous husband in "Lloyds of London," is rated on all sides as a fine actor, but the studios say they wish they could hammer down his height. Sanders stands a little over 6 feet 4, and it is a great pain to wardrobe, props, and assistant directors trying to make him look shorter or make leading men look taller so the disparity won't be marked in his scenes.

* * *

Sonja Henie was so excited at the big preview party of her first starring picture, "One in a Million," that she said: "I couldn't see the picture; everything was a blur to me." So her big boss, Producer Darryl Zanuck, invited Sonja and her parents to a private showing in his private projection room.

The Hungarian minister and Mme. Pelenyi had a typical Hungarian party this afternoon. They had with them at dinner the members of the legation staf and their wives, and after dinner members of the Hungarian colony in Washington, and their families were entertained at a reception.

Happy Family Dinners Will Be Held Today

Holiday Feasts Will Mark Christmas Here.

more of them, at the Arthur T. Hellyers' home, and at the other equally representative gathering Henry Faurot Jr. will play host to twenty-five of the Faurot clan in the absence of the senior Henry Faurots who are in Florida for the winter. Since the children are included in both parties, dinner will be at midday.

Three generations will be represented at Christmas dinner at the Philip D. Armours' home in Lake Forest today, since Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine and the Lester Armours and all the family but Miss Betty Armour, who is in Europe, will be there.

Four generations will be present at a family party in which Mrs. J. Hill Whiting, her son-in-law and daughter, the Rudolph E. Prussings, the junior Edward C. Howes and their little daughters will participate.

The Frank B. Mulfords again are assembling a dozen old friends for dinner this evening, among them Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, and another group of old friends will dine at midday with the John Sheppard Stones. The party will include Mrs. John Stone and Mrs. Henry R. Durkee.

Mrs. Hugh Johnston McBirney, the George S. Paysons, and the Randolph Paysons will dine at midday with the Joseph T. Ryersons and their family, and the senior Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson will join them for a part of the day. Most of the Warner family will dine with the Edison Dicks, and the William Warren Dixons are having a score of the Dixons for dinner this evening.

Two Debut Parties Will Be Held Today.

The conception of Christmas hospitality as extending beyond the circle of family and intimate friends is becoming more popular every year, and there will be general delight among the younger generation that there are two debuts today. Mrs. John Kellogg is presenting her younger daughter, Jean, at a tea-dance at the Racquet club at 5 o'clock, and this evening the junior Carter H. Harrisons are giving a dinner-dance for their debutante daughter, Edith, at the Ambassador East hotel. Among the 250 young guests will be a few friends of the Harrisons' eldest daughter, Miss Lucy Harrison.

Both parties will be enlivened by the presence of members of the Princeton Triangle club, who are arriving in town this morning. The young men also are to be guests at the Chicago Princeton club's annual fathers and sons' luncheon tomorrow in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house.

Full of the contentment that a happy Christmas brings, as well as of Christmas goose or turkey, some will spend this evening at the Grand Opera house with the melancholy Hamlet as interpreted by Leslie Howard. Others will go to the Auditorium theater for another evening with the glamorous Ballet Russe.

Last night there was no ballet performance, so various ones of the company were able to dine with Chicago acquaintances. Leonide Massine and Mme. Massine were the Christmas eve guests of the Charles B. Goodspeeds. At tomorrow's matinée Mrs. John Andrews King will give a children's party at the Auditorium.

Drama League to See Cowl Play.

Jane Cowl, who gave up tonight as her own opening in Chicago in "First Lady," will open at the Harris theater tomorrow afternoon. The Drama league is having a large theater party for Monday night's performance with Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick, Mrs. Edwin A. Seipp, Mrs. Charles S. Davis, Mrs. Philip Kreuscher, Mrs. Mark W. Trude, Mrs. F. Scott Bond, Mrs. Joseph O. Watkins, Mrs. Robert E. Ross, and Mrs. William E. Vogelback as some of those who will have guests.

Undoubtedly many winter sports fans will find their way to the Stadium tonight for the opening of the fifth annual international ice carnival. Three other performances of the carnival will be given tomorrow afternoon and night and Sunday night.

Before the Sunday performance the James R. Montgomerys and the junior Dorsey Montgomerys are giving a dinner for their debutante sister, Miss Carol Montgomery, at the Tavern.

The Karl Kellys' daughters, Miss Patricia and Miss Marjorie, are vacationing in Palm Springs, Cal., where they will be for the next month.

Miss Marjorie has a month's vacation from the University of California. When she returns to her studies Miss Patricia will go abroad to join a travel-study group which illness prevented her from joining at an earlier date.

Welthyan Harmon to Visit Parents.

Miss Welthyan Harmon is expected this morning after a moonlight flight from New York to spend Christmas with her parents, the Hubert Harmons, in Highland Park. She will fly back to New York Monday. Holbrook Harmon is at home for the holidays from Cornell, but the family reunion will not be quite complete, since the Harmons' elder son, Hubert, is living in London.

A snowball fight is among the diversions planned for guests at the Chicago Vassar club's dance Jan. 2 at the Vassar House restaurant. Cellophane icicles will be strung between the pillars of Diana court, snowmen will be stationed at strategic points, and there will be white candles and snowflakes sprinkled on the white tablecloths to carry out the idea of a snow carnival.

Miss Florence Hermes, Miss Marianne Hoover, and Miss Jean McWilliams are among the former Vassar girls who will distribute cotton snowballs with which the dancers will pelt each other, and there will be silver paddles at each table to help send the balls faster and straighter.

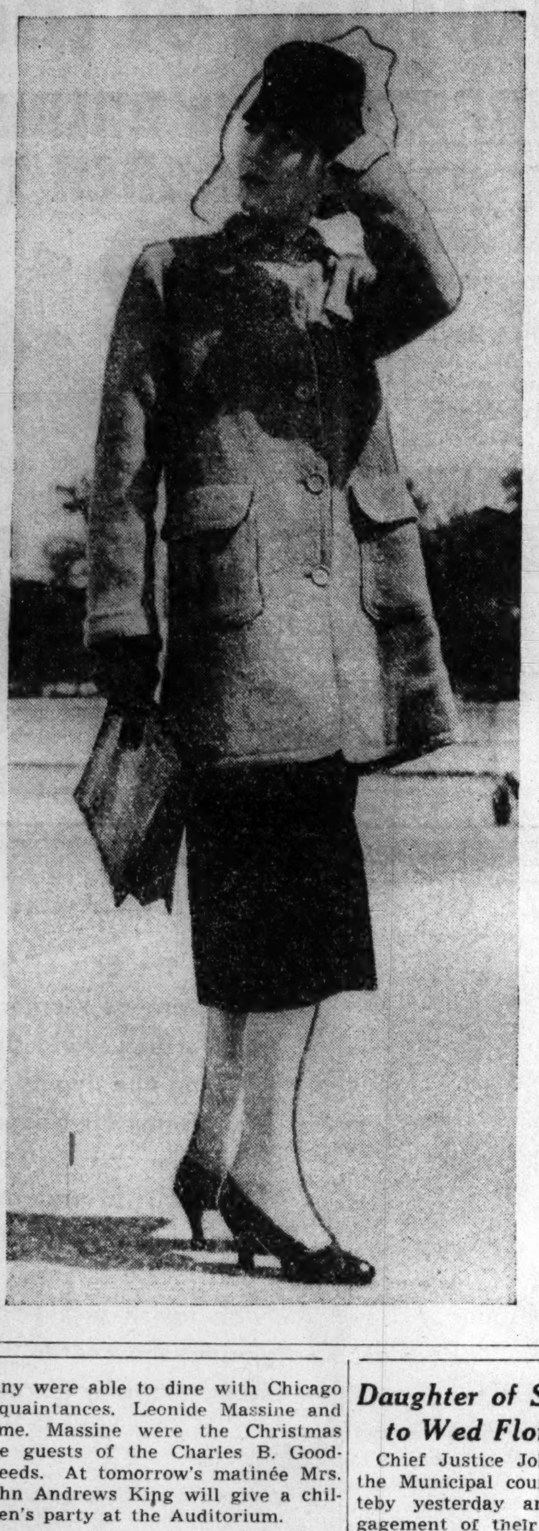
A Tweed in Bright Grass Green



The straight sack coat with high collar and large patch pockets is in bright green. Molyneux designed it and provided the black dress to go with it. The large buttons are green. The grass green appears in wool embroidery at the neck of the dress. The black velvet hat has a dotted veil. The hat is a Molyneux product.

Daughter of Sonstebys to Wed Florida Attorney

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court and Mrs. Sonsteby yesterday announced the engagement of their daughter, Helene Alice, to Henry Maclean Sinclair, city attorney of Winterhaven, Fla., who was recently elected state representative. Mr. Sinclair is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Sinclair of Winterhaven and Virginia Beach, Va. The couple will be married late in February.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

[Copyright: 1936: By Ely Culbertson.]

THE PRINCIPLE OF PREPAREDNESS.

Since the sequence of the bids interprets the strength of the hand, the probable second bid, the rebid, usually should be considered before the first bid is chosen. The principle of preparedness, therefore, may alter the normal choice of first bids because the normal bid, if made, would become a distorted picture of the hand when modified by the rebid! This consideration and the principle of economy of bids comprise the principle of preparedness.

Why We Use Prepared Bids.

Modern bidding has made great strides, but perhaps it has grown too fast for its strength. We have established certain bids as forcing. Yet these bids, the one-over-one and two-over-one take-outs, may be made with minimum values. To protect the weak "chance-giving" take-out, at the same time as we insure that the powerful take-out will be kept open, it is necessary for the sake of safety that the opening bidder can rebid over any one-round-forcing bid not only because he is forced to but because he was prepared to!

These, then, are the reasons why we employ the principle of preparedness in making the choice of first bids:

1. To economize on precious rounds of bidding.
2. To avoid inferences of added strength when rebidding.
3. To avoid forcing the responding hand to a level beyond the power of the combined hands.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 diamonds	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	5 spades	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 diamonds	Pass
7 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

No one can say that the woman who sat South underbid her hand.

West opened the heart king, and declarer won with the ace. She then planked down the ace and queen of spades, after which she led the three of diamonds to the king. Dummy's remaining spades were cashed, and on these East discarded two hearts and two clubs. Declarer chucked two hearts on the third and fourth spade, and the low club on the fifth. When the last spade was played declarer let go her low diamond and retained thte ace-queen of clubs.

How in the name of all that is wonderful she knew the diamonds would not break is beyond this commentator but, be that as it might, she led a club and seemed to take it as a matter of course when the king fell from East. She then spread her cards and beamed. North ventured only one question: "How did you know that the diamonds wouldn't break, but that the club finesse would work?" [North had the awful feeling that East might have been holding his cards carelessly.]

The answer was more airy than explanatory: "O, just card sense," South said.

North could have pointed out that there had been a certain way of determining whether or not the diamonds would break, and thus whether declarer should retain the suit intact or discard the small one and play for the club finesse. Instead of leading a low diamond to dummy's king, the ace, and then a low one would establish the count, but who was North to argue mathematical exactness against feminine intuition?

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Dealer bid one club. Next hand [my partner] doubled. Third hand passed and this was my holding:

♠ 9 6 4 ♥ 8 7 5 ♦ 8 6 3 ♣ J 9 6 4.

What was my proper response?

Answer: One diamond.

Story of First Christmas One Children Love

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Have you a new baby in your home? I often think on Christmas eve and Christmas day about the mothers and fathers who are having their first Christmas with their first baby.

"When I knew I was going to have a baby, and then after she actually came," said a mother to me, "I went around with a song in my heart. It's the only way I can describe it. I might have been out shopping or away from home with friends in the evening, but the instant my steps were turned toward home I'd hear that little song: 'You're going home to a baby, to your baby. How ineffably sweet and beautiful that is.'"

Christmas with a baby in the house brings, as nothing else does, a feeling of closeness to the baby born so long ago, to that little family whose joy shone in a humble stable.

Of course the baby in your house may not be your first baby, or even your second. It's a lovely thing, anyhow, especially for the other children. If they're old enough to understand you can see to it that it gives added meaning and show them its sweet parallel to the story of the baby Christ. And it's a wise mother who also lets these older children know how great her joy was when they were "new" on Christmas day.

If this is the first Christmas for your baby and there are other children in the family be sure they hear the story of the first Christmas. You may tell it in your own words, or you may want to read it from the Bible, with the necessary explanations, changes, or omissions, remembering always that the great book was written for adult minds.

You may have forgotten where to find this story in the Bible. There are two versions: One in Matthew, chapter II., verses 1 to 11, and one in Luke, chapter II., verses 1 to 20.

But, whether your baby is new, middling, or quite big, whether you have one or more than one, whether you are giving the dear love of a mother and father to some one else's child that you have "chosen," whether you have no children at all but wish them all well, if you're reading this column on this day in December, its writer wishes you a Merry, Merry Christmas and Most Happy New Year.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in the Sunday Tribune.

Special Yule Programs on Radio Today

Ireene Wicker to Start New Child Series.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Christmas is on the air!

Ireene Wicker, the Singing Lady, has selected the day of the Nativity to begin her new Friday series of half hour musical plays for children. This feature will be heard from 4:15 to 4:45 p. m. today instead of her usual broadcast at 5:30 p. m. The play for today will be the story of the Christ child presented with a special musical score under the direction of Milton Rettenberg. A dramatic cast, children's chorus and instrumental group will assist.

James Meighan, Helen Hayes' leading man in "Bambi"; Florence Malone, Junius Mathews and Clarence Straight will take leading parts and Milton Cross will be the narrator.

The Columbia Broadcasting system announced that because of the death of Mrs. Lionel Barrymore, John Barrymore would substitute for his brother as "Scrooge" in the radio presentation of Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" tonight. WBBM will carry the program at 8 o'clock.

Special Christmas messages by representatives of three faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—are to be broadcast over W-G-N at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon by the Rev. John C. Evans, religious editor of THE TRIBUNE; the Rev. Father James A. Wagner of St. Lawrence Catholic church, and Rabbi A. L. Lassen of B'Nai Zion temple. This is an annual feature of the W-G-N Midday service under the direction of Dr. John L. Dickson.

Adviser Gives Tips on Curing Acne Condition

Internal and External Cleanliness Needed.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Until some women get into an evening gown no one is conscious of the fact that they're acne victims. Acne generally appears on the face of young girls who are susceptible to skin ailments, when important glands are developing during adolescence. But among older women the characteristic belmishes often are prevalent on the back and shoulders. There's not much use in putting a young fortune into a backless dress, it's plain to see, if the skin has the "peppered" look betraying the acne condition.

We're told that many men suffer acne and in much the same portions of the bodyfi only their conventional dinner and theater clothes keep their secret concealed.

The reason for this mottled skin appearance on the upper back is simple to diagnose. The arm with the scrubbing brush doesn't get up that high. The rest of the body is well scrubbed during baths, but this particular area gets only the proverbial lick and a promise, if it gets even that much. It begins with blackheads, which, allowed to remain, easily fester and pimples develop. As soon as the symtoms break out, don't let neglect get the better of your beauty judgment.

Besides keeping the body clean internally, massaging the affected area with one of the excellent creamed rubbing alcohols now available is a quick way to restore skin clarity and beauty. Acne, you know, begins with the formation of thickened secretions called comedones which are soluble in alcohol. The cream liquefies at body temperature and, containing 70 per cent absolute alcohol, dissolves the oily secretions with mildly antiseptic action.

The essential thing to consider however, is cleanliness, persistent, meticulous cleanliness, whether acne disturbance affects the back, the face or any part other part of the body. Bathing with warm, sudsy water and scrubbing with a good brush [bath or face] is the way to remove dirt, grease, makeup. And, as said hundreds of times before, if you can accustom yourself to the shower habit, you'll have little trouble with acne infection in that upper shoulder area about which we speak. Yes, even now it is possible to get the shower habit, by beginning with water that is merely cool, not cold. But let the spray turn full force on the back as a stimulating aid. If you have gooseflesh arms, we know nothing better by way of correction than letting the water needles prick away at the pore clogged arms.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

Too Many Men Come to Expect Wives Will Work

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Gracious, but the working wife situation does take peculiar turns these days. But let Mrs. S. tell it.

"I am 20," she confides. "I have been married two years. My husband is 26. He always has worked hard, therefore is more serious than most boys of his age. I worked for a year after marriage, then quit to begin housekeeping correctly. I kept house for a year and loved it, and wish I could continue, but my man lost his job, so I pitched in and got myself a clerking job. Then, when my husband got a job again, I quit and went back to my housekeeping post, except that I did extra work now and then.

"Now, my husband is calling me lazy. He said I 'bummed' for that whole year I was not working. All I did was what the average housewife does after her household duties are finished. I took longer than most because I was trying to do it best. Of course, I had time for shopping and visiting in the afternoon, too.

"We have a nice four room apartment which I just love, but my husband asks me to give it up, move next door with his mother, and take in roomers. Theirs is a six room house. Because I have refused to do this, all the wrath of the gods are upon me. I tried to tease him out of his mood and got a few hard whacks which raised welts.

"Never in our family have we had any scandal. All the women have stuck through trouble with their men, but I believe I am at my rope's end. Of course, he has his nice moments, but they are becoming fewer and rarer. I know there's no other woman, so please tell me what's wrong with me or him."

What's the answer, men? Does a woman spoil you by pitching in and getting a job when things are bad for you? Would you rather have a wife on a job outside the home or on her job inside the home? Do you miss the added income when she is not contributing to the upkeep of the home? Or what in heck IS the matter with you? Don't you appreciate a well kept home, a good table, and a wife whose heart is in her home?

We hear your sex yapping continually about not being able to find the good old-fashioned girl who loves a home, but tell us where the encouragement to be this kind is coming from when you begin thinking of the little housewife as "bumming" her way through life. You'd better make up your minds what you want, a part time wife or a whole time wife, and tell the girl before you marry her where your choice lies. It's only fair to her to let her know what she may expect.

Procession of 1936 Persons with Lights Hails Christmastide

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 24—[Special].—An impressive observance of the birth of Christ was held here this evening when 1,936 persons, each one representing a year since the birth, and carrying electric candles, formed a procession and sang hymns and Christmas carols while slowly marching from Junior High school to the center of city park. The procession, led by eight trumpeters, was composed of members of four churches. Street lights were extinguished on the line of march and the only illumination was that furnished by the candles.

CHRISTMAS STAKE OPENS SANTA ANITA RACING

DALLAS GIVES MARQUETTE U. BIG WELCOME

Train Late; Drill Is Curtailed.

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 24.—[Special]—The Marquette university football squad rolled into Dallas two hours late today, was met at the station by a civic delegation, paraded to the city hall for the usual formalities and then rushed to Southern Methodist stadium for a sixty minute workout.

Train schedules played havoc with Coach Frank J. Murray's plans for an extended drill this afternoon. The Hilltoppers pulled in from Durant, Okla., where they had been in training for three days.

Secret Drill for Marquette.

Madison Bell, S. M. U. coach whose Mustangs played in the Rose Bowl last winter, made arrangements for strictly secret workouts on the Southern Methodist field for the visitors for the remainder of their stay here.

After their hard workouts at Durant, the Marquette athletes seem to be shaping up well for the Cotton Bowl game with Texas Christian here on New Year's day. Only one case of illness, that a slight stomach attack, has been reported thus far on the trip, although there is the usual round of light injuries.

T. C. U. Goes Back to Work.

The Hilltopper's Christmas workout tomorrow afternoon will be concentrated on defense against Texas Christian plays. The Horned Frogs will return to training at Fort Worth on Saturday, their first drill since they defeated Santa Clara two weeks ago.

PITT DRILLS SECRETLY

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Coach Jock Sutherland isn't saying a word, but rumors creeping out of the Pittsburgh training camp today whisper that the wily Scot may be doping out a surprise to spring on Washington when his Panthers go into the Rose Bowl New Year's day football game against the Huskies.

It's hard to find out what the secretive doctor is doing, since the Panthers' workouts are as private as a major operation, but Sutherland is supposed to be developing an air attack for the Huskies' benefit.

If true, it's interesting, because that is the type of play that beat Pitt twice before in Pasadena's New Year's day game.

Pitt Tries Few Passes.

Pitt's 1936 record for passing is impressive simply because the Panthers haven't gone in for the aerial game. Pitt threw only 80 passes all season and completed but 22 for total yardage of 404.

The Panther pass defense seemed adequate, however, their combined opponents completing only 19 out of 76 attempts for total yardage of 292.

Whether Washington's overhead thrusts will function with the same lightninglike effect that characterized several of the Huskies' games this fall, remains to be seen.

DUQUESNE DRILLS IN OPEN

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 24—(AP).—Duquesne university football squad today engaged in an outdoor practice session in preparation for its New Year's day meeting in the Orange Bowl of Miami with Mississippi State.

Coach Clipper Smith reported every member of the 34 players who will make the trip is ready for action. All were dismissed after the workout until Saturday. A final practice session is scheduled then for the morning. The team leaves 8:40 a. m. Sunday for the south.

TOTH'S KICKING HIGHLIGHT

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Football stars from east and west, training here for the Shrine charity game New Year's day, buckled down to blocking, scrimmage, and downfield work on punts today.

The eastern players, drilling at the University of California in Berkeley, used shock pads. Coach Andy Kerr, Colgate, said a dozen plays had been outlined. "If they learn that many thoroughly, we will be satisfied," he added.

Three members of the squad, Half Backs Bucky Bryan of Tulane, Fran Murray of Pennsylvania, and Ken Raleai, Colgate tackle, were reported greatly improved from colds, although still confined. The punting of Steve Toth, Northwestern full back, continued to be the highlight of the practice.

West Team Scrimmages.

The western squad, coached by Orin Hollingbery and Percy Locey, added scrimmage to its curriculum following a heavy blocking drill. "This team looks like the best in years," said Hollingbery. "It has a fine balance, good speed, and five kickers."

There has been no attempt to pick starting elevens. Both camps emphasized that the opening combinations probably would not be known until the day before the game. Light workouts will be held tomorrow morning with the players having the rest of the day off for Christmas dinners and celebrations.

A CHRISTMAS PRAYER.

'Tis Christmas, Lord, spread wide thine arms
And lovingly embrace
The lonely and the friendless, who Seem now to have no place
Of refuge; touch the wanderer,
O Lord, that he may see
That 'twas for such thou deign'st, Lord,
A little child to be.
And let the Christmas spirit, Lord,
Shine softly o'er the earth
That all may greet with lifted heart,
Today, the Savior's birth. J. C.

C. for Christmas.

What would I like for Christmas?
You ask so you shall hear:
I'd like that some of the spirit
Would last throughout the year.
I'd like that the glow of the Christmas eve
With its shining silver star
Would light the way of each traveler
Journeying from afar.

I'd like that the peace and friendliness
We feel on this glamorous day
Would last the whole year with every one
We meet along life's way.
I'd like that the "Merry Christmas" ring
In the voices of folks this morn
Would make each day an echo
Of one when a King was born.

Christmas Spirit.

Of all holidays on the calendar, Christmas more nearly retains its original purpose. While the austerity of the Puritan fathers has escaped, Christmas still is essentially a day for the family—reunions, binding anew of loving ties, gifts to our own and to others less fortunate, feasting then visiting around the fireside, it is one holiday to which modern progress has added finesse rather than smothered its meaning. May it ever remain thus.

A Merry Christmas
This Wake wishes to all of you,
A Merry Christmas.

Penn Military College to Resume Polo Play

Chester, Pa., Dec. 24—(AP).—Col. Frank M. Yatt, commandant of Pennsylvania military college, announced today the cadets will resume indoor polo matches with major eastern teams with the view of returning to the intercollegiate polo association. P. M. C., winner of the association championship in 1928, has been out of the association for a year.

Report Kipke Will Not Stay at Michigan

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 24.—(AP)—The Detroit Free Press says that Harry G. Kipke "probably will not" remain as head football coach at the University of Michigan and that most of his staf of assistants also will be absent next fall.

The paper says that among those who will probably be released is Franklin C. Cappon, assistant to Athletic Director Fielding H. Yost, who, it adds, had been groomed to succeed the veteran director when he becomes eligible for retirement five years hence.

Weber Likely Successor.

The Free Press says that Wallie Weber, present back field coach and former Wolverine lineman, likely will be Kipke's successor. Michigan's poor showing on the gridiron the last three seasons, the story says, is attributed largely to differences between Kipke and Cappon.

The newspaper says that Earl [Dutch] Clark, star quarter back and captain of the Detroit Lions of the National Professional Football league, and Ivan Williamson, former Michigan end and present end coach at Yale university, are likely candidates as assistant coaches.

May Join Auto Company.

Rumors have been circulated frequently during the last three years that Kipke would be replaced. The Free Press says he probably would become an automobile company executive or coach elsewhere.

NEWS TO WILLIAMSON

Torrington, Conn., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Ivan Williamson, end coach of the Yale football team, said tonight he had not been approached by any Michigan university authorities about joining the coaching staf of his alma mater. Williamson is spending the holidays here at the home of Yale's varsity coach, "Ducky" Pond, who said he believed there would be no change in his staf next year.

PLUM PUDDING CHIEF DISH TODAY AT TROPICAL PARK

Expect Handicap Steeds to Fill Fans' Socks.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Dec. 24.—It is the night before Christmas.

And folks down here in a blossom scented atmosphere are all a flutter over the Plum Pudding handicap that is to be run at the Tropical Park track tomorrow afternoon.

If Santa Claus doesn't remember to fill their socks tonight—well, what of it?—the steeds running in the Plum Pudding tomorrow will just have to take over that little job for him.

Supplying the spirit of Christmas song in the summer laden picture is none other than Jimmy [The Tenor] Ryan. He is warbling "Jingle Bells" on Flagler street tonight.

He's A Chicago Product.

The tenor is known on every race track in the country. He originated, however, in Chicago in the days when the bookmaking industry at the tracks there demanded that the prevailing odds be recited over and over again. Jimmy The Tenor deviated from this a little and sang his. So did Arthur [The Singing Kid] Loftus. They are a couple of antiques from the days of Gates and Drake and Pittsburgh Phil.

Besides the Plum Pudding handicap which will be witnessed by some 20,000 sun burned, happy-go-lucky visitors, there is another feature on the program. It, of course, is the Christmas handicap and it brings into action the best field that has yet gone to the post since the winter racing season opened.

Unbeaten Strategist II., no doubt, will be the favorite. Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's colt, Clocks, will get a play and so will fleet Columbian, and the noted mud runner Silent Shot owned by J. H. Hughes of Chicago.

Silent Shot Likes Mud.

The track was muddy today and there's a hint of rain tonight in the balmy breezes that come in off the Atlantic. If a good heavy shower should come up then Silent Shot will discover tomorrow that the Tropical Park racing strip is his happy hunting grounds.

The most successful stable here, that of Mrs. Emil Denemark of Chicago, will not only seek the high honors in the Plum Pudding handicap but also in the Christmas day special. In the latter Mrs. Denemark will be represented by the fleet three year old filly Two Bob, winner of the Royal Palm handicap run last Saturday. In the Plum Pudding Mrs. Denemark's canary and blue jacket will be carried by Chief Cherokee which also won his last outing here.

A Race Player's Santa.

Even though he doesn't wear whiskers—he's too young for that—youthful Dale Shaffer of Chicago is the real Santa Claus along Flagler street tonight.

He's the Santa Claus for those race players who are lucky enough to know him and ask him about the chances of his horses which are trained by Bert Michell who also conditions the horses owned by Mrs. Denemark.

Young Dale's red and white silks were carried to victory yesterday by the 35 to 1 shot Log. This afternoon his now popular racing jacket was flashed past the winning post by Evening Tide the two year old daughter of Bull Dog-Etoile Filante.

Evening Tide paid off at slightly better than 4 to 1.

Chicagoans were here, there, and everywhere in the crowd at Tropical Park this afternoon.

Charley McCulloch Gets Wet.

Charley McCulloch was in a box in the grand stand just out in front of the open press box. Charley and everybody in the press box got a soaking when a rain came up just before the running of the first race.

Hen—that's short for Henry—Finnegan from the south side in Chicago played them from the ground up in the big grand stand ring. Oscar Bachman, supervisor of mutuels on all Illi-

Remember Him?—

Frank Hinkey Weighed 150, but Was Big Enough to Stop Yale's Strongest Foes

[This is the fourth of a series of articles on famous headliners of other years whose careers and contributions to sports have perhaps become obscured by time and the exploits of more widely publicized successors. All of them rank among the greatest in their respective fields.]

BY ARCH WARD.

MANY extraordinary football players have posed with labored nonchalance and a block Y before Yale's famous fence, a historic relic that embodies some of old Eli's most treasured traditions. But none, perhaps, was more famous or accomplished than inscrutable, cadaverous Frank Hinkey, Yale's mystery man whom the late Chauncey Depew named the Silent Man of Destiny.

Two years after Edgar Allan Poe of Princeton had established the fallacy of the muscle tradition in the back field, Hinkey stepped forward in 1891 to blast the theory in the line. In deeds he was a giant among the men of his generation, but in stature he was another mighty midget, like Poe, the second of a long line. For four years selection of the All-American ends was a matter of choosing for only one position. The other end belonged to Hinkey in 1891, 1892, 1893, and 1894. Only three other men earned the distinction of making the All-American team four times.

Begins Career Against Tough Competition.

Hinkey began his career at New Haven under adverse circumstances. The 1891 team gave promise of being one of Yale's greatest and fulfilled the promise by finishing a 13 game schedule unbeaten and untied.

Hinkey's rivals for the end positions were two veterans, holdovers from the year before. His reputation at Boston Latin and Andover, where he prepped for Yale, had preceded him, but Hinkey was only 5 feet 6 in his cleats and scarcely weighed 150 pounds in a uniform. The freshman's chances appeared negligible. In fact, no one paid any attention to him.

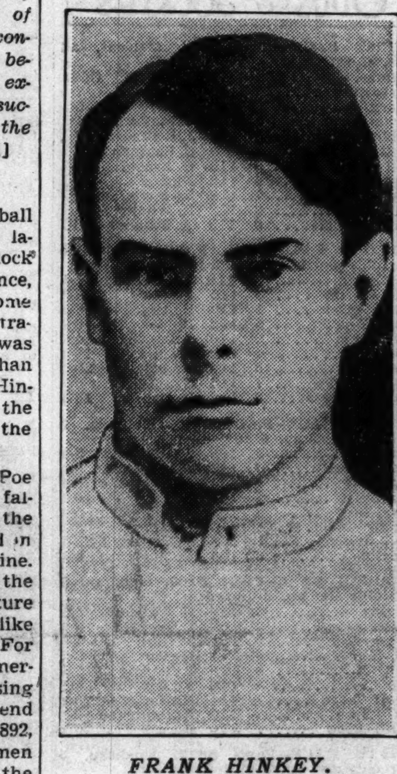
Late in the pre-season training period destiny intervened. There was a shortage of men on the scrubs. The coaches singled out Hinkey, gave him a pat on the shoulder and told him just to do the best he could. That afternoon a new world figure was born.

Silent Freshman Earns Place on Varsity.

Throughout the entire scrimmage the silent, somber freshman, with the look of an eagle in his eyes, went crashing through the heretofore devastating varsity interference led by Hurricane Heffelfinger. The mighty Blue stalwarts were annoyed, embarrassed, then awed. Hinkey's name was not scratched off the scrub list that night. No one had paid him sufficient heed to put it on. But he was added to the varsity squad and by the first game he was the varsity end.

He captained the Eli in his junior year and again in his senior year, when he also was head coach. Three of the teams on which he played combined to compile the greatest defensive record in history.

Starting with the third game of the 1891 season, when Williams college, the only opponent to score on Yale that season, made 10 points, Hinkey's teams played 30 consecutive games without being scored upon. Pennsylvania snapped the string in the ninth game of the 1893 season when it made six points while losing, 14 to 6. Two weeks later, after Harvard had been whipped, 6 to 0, Hinkey played in his only losing game at Yale. Princeton beat the Eli, 6 to 0. In all, Hinkey participated in 51 games, 50 of which Yale won. And it is still Old Eli's proudest boast that throughout that time not a play flanked Hinkey.



FRANK HINKEY.

Hinkey Ranks Among Greatest Defense Men.

The name Hinkey even today finds a proper place on all-time selections, for he was one of the most accomplished defensive players ever produced. He had his own matchless style. His forte was an unfathomable knack of penetrating the interference and smashing the runner to the ground. He played so viciously that Harvard, after losing, 14 to 4, at Springfield, Mass., in 1894, accused him of unnecessary roughness and declined to meet Yale again until 1897. His greatest game each season was against Harvard.

Hinkey remained at Yale to coach in 1895, then went into retirement. In 1915 he was called to recoup Yale's fading football fortunes and returned to New Haven as head coach. His own genius could not be transmitted to the players, however, and he surrendered the position to Howard Jones late in the 1916 season.

Taciturn and retiring, Hinkey, who was born at Tonawanda, N. Y., on Dec. 23, 1870, ever remained a mystery even to his closest friends. In a few years his fiery spirit, kindled to a holocaust in every game, burned itself out and the Silent Man of Destiny died of tuberculosis at Southern Pines, N. C., on Dec. 30, 1925.

OWENS TO MAKE PRO DEBUT IN CUBA TOMORROW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Dec. 24.—Jesse Owens, Olympic sprint champion, will make his debut as a professional runner Saturday as a feature of the Cuban national sports festival.

Owens will perform between halves of the football game between the Cuban Athletic club and Miami freshmen, opening the festival. He will run against time in a 100 meter event, and will race a thoroughbred horse in another.

Following the sports festival football game between Auburn and Villanova New Year's day Owens will fly to Miami, and thence to Hollywood to make a motion picture.

Indian Official to Visit Feller, Other Players

Cleveland, O., Dec. 24—(AP)—Cyril C. Slapnicka, business manager of the Cleveland Indians, left tonight on a holiday trip on which he plans to discuss 1937 contracts with Pitcher Bob Feller and two other Cleveland players. Slapnicka said he would spend the holidays in Cedar Rapids, Ia., and would attempt to sign Pitcher Earl Whitehill there.

Next on the tour is a call on First Baseman Hal Trosky, who led the American league last season in runs batted in, at Norway, Ia., and then he will drive to Van Meter, Ia., to talk with Feller.

Feller, the rookie Iowa schoolboy who broke the American league single game strikeout record last season, has said he would demand $20,000.

40,000 WILL SEE $5,000 EVENT; 12 MAY START

Special Agent and Accolade Top Field.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Arcadia, Cal., Dec. 24.—The gates of the Santa Anita Jocky club's beautiful track a short distance from the estate of Lucky Baldwin and surrounded by the snow capped Sierra Madres will be thrown open tomorrow for a 53 day meeting which will be climaxed by the third running of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, the world's richest race, on Feb. 23.

Stars of the nearby Hollywood film colony and plain everyday $2 betters will gather on the spacious lawns and may be forced to stand under umbrellas, for the weather man today indicated that his hand probably would slip over to the wrong lever. A crowd of 40,000, however, is expected to watch the program of eight events.

$5,000 Stake Today.

The Christmas stakes, carrying a purse of $5,000 added and which has attracted 23 thoroughbreds, most of them candidates for the big handicap in February, will feature the opening program in southern California. Only a dozen, however, are expected to face the barrier.

Among the horses listed as certain starters are Special Agent, Accolade, Stand Pat, and Ariel Cross. Special Agent and Accolade ruled as favorities to win the opening feature if Sea Biscuit, C. S. Howard's crack 3 year old, does not start. Owner Howard tonight said Sea Biscuit, now listed in future books throughout the United States as 6 to 1 to win the $100,000 race, would be saved for the New Year's day stakes.

If Sea Biscuit starts, he will carry 118 pounds, two less than Accolade and Stand Pat. Accolade, a 6 year old owned by D. Christmas, who expects to pick up the purse as a Christmas gift and prove that his name is lucky, is rated a good chance to finish on top. Special Agent, however, will carry 115 pounds, and is reported to have been turning in sensational workouts.

Whitney Horse Entered.

C. V. Whitney will be represented in the race by Piccolo, a 3 year old, which will have an impost of 110 pounds. Whitney's High Glee triumphed in the first Christmas stakes in 1934. Last year, Top Row captured the stakes and later triumphed in the big handicap.

The prediction of rain failed to cast any gloom around the office of the track. The optimistic officials said every grand stand and box seat has been sold for weeks, and thousands, they reported, have been turned away. The rush for opening day tickets indicates that a new betting record will be set this year.

The track is expected to handle $600,000 during the 53 days of racing. Because of the California Racing commission law, there will be no racing on Sundays and Mondays.

Red Wings No Gift to Hawks; Play Tonight

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Santa Claus has been pretty good to everybody this season with the exception of the Blackhawks of Chicago, who aside from being in one of the worst slumps to which any hocky team has ever fallen heir, are also badly handicapped by injuries. And if that were not enough the schedule makers have handed Clem Loughlin's men a three game booking which has them battling the world's champion Red Wings tomorrow night; the Rangers, who are tied with the Wings for the United States division leadership, Sunday night at New York, and the league leading Montreal Canadiens in Chicago next Tuesday.

If the Hawks can pick up a victory from the remaining two road games they figure their home game scheduled up to Feb. 1 will enable them to climb within hailing distance, at least, of the Stanley cup finals. The present year calls for only one more home clash, that of Tuesday night, but the month of January will be the busiest in the team's career for no fewer than fourteen games, eight of them at the Stadium, have been booked.

Then, too, there is the return of Doc Romnes to be considered. The wily pivot man of the Hawks' principal scoring line is almost certain to be ready for Tuesday's clash and his presence again between Paul Thompson and Mush March should be the signal for the league's high point making line of last season to start clicking. Tomorrow night's lineup:

BLACKHAWKS.		RED WINGS.
Karakas	G.	Smith
Seibert	R.D.	Roulston
Wiebe	L.D.	McDonald
Cook	C.	Barry
March	R.W.	Aurie

LENHART SIGNS TO MEET SUTKA, DETROIT BOXER

Will Battle Eight Rounds at Marigold.

Freddy Lenhart, the Pacific coast's leading light heavyweight boxer, and George Sutka, rugged Detroit fighter, yesterday agreed to meet in an eight round bout which will head the last show of the year at Marigold Gardens Monday. Joe Sutka, twin brother of George, is paired with Freddy Graham, stellar San Francisco, Cal., middleweight, in a four round supplementary contest. Phil Rosenberg, former Joliet sectional Golden Gloves welterweight monarch, will be opposed by Christy Mathewson, Omaha, in an additional scrap at four rounds. . . . Matches involving Oki Shikina and Ivan Rasputin, Nango Singh and José Manuel, and Frankie Hart and Bill Brooks, will top Promoter Joe Coffey's wrestling program at White City Monday. . . . Mickey Patrick, retired East Chicago light heavyweight, is coaching a team of amateur boxers in preparation for the impending Golden Gloves tournament at Gary.

Christmas or no Christmas Billy Treest will continue training today at Trafton's gymnasium for his state heavyweight title encounter with Max Marek at White City next Wednesday. The 1934 Chicagoland Golden Gloves middleweight titleholder will box several rounds with Moss T. Brawner and Vane Surby, both of whom will appear in supporting conflicts. Lack of sufficient sparring was a factor in Billy's losing effort against Buddy Knox at Chicago Stadium Oct. 2 and he doesn't intend to make the same mistake in preparations for Marek. Brawner is matched with Max Zona, Chicago Heights 200 pounder, for six rounds. Promoter Mique Malloy announced that Duke Calloway, south side bantamweight, has been substituted for Babe La Varra, Montreal, Que., in a four round engagement with Johnny Brown, member of the United States Olympic Golden Gloves team. Andy Scrivani, teammate of Brown, will fight Jimmy Richards.

Al Nettlow, lightweight member of the Catholic Youth organization's professional department, will spend the holiday with his mother in Detroit. . . . Bobby McLane, Morgan Park Military academy football played, is a member of Coach Jack Hartford's boxing team . . . The Italo-American Youth organization will offer an amateur boxing tournament at the Coliseum annex Jan. 13, 14, 15, and 16. Walter Cristy, 20 year old 147 pounder from Summit, Ill., and his 126 pound brother, Mitchell, have entered the fifth annual amateur boxing tournament at the Illinois Athletic club Jan. 12, 13, and 20. Any boy, 16 years of age or over, who has not boxed professionally, is eligible to compete. Entries close Jan. 9.

CINCINNATI FANS BUY RED TICKETS FOR YULE GIFTS

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Tickets for National league baseball games at Crosley field made up a part of the load Santa Claus left in Cincinnati tonight.

Disclosing that between 12,000 and 14,000 tickets had been sold for the opening game of the 1937 season, Assistant General Manager Frank Lane of the Cincinnati Reds said today the sales included several hundred purchased by fans as Christmas gifts.

"They have been coming in here for two weeks to buy books of tickets, season tickets, and boxes for the opening day's game," Lane said. "A lot of the orders have come from out of town fans, too, from fans in southwestern Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky.

"Just the other day I received a letter from another major league club asking what secret formula we used to sell tickets. I had to confess to him that I didn't know of any one thing that caused us to have such heavy advance ticket sales—it's just Cincinnati."

Lane said the advance sale for the April game this winter was far ahead of a year ago.

The 1936 opening day game brought out 32,000 paid customers, the largest number since 1927. Crosley field seats, with temporary bleachers, about 35,000.

Loyola Faces Tall Quintet in Nebraska

A rangy basketball squad of eleven players which lists six footers for every position will invade Loyola university tomorrow night when the University of Nebraska plays its first game of an eastern trip. The Cornhawkers face a schedule which will take them to Philadelphia and calls for six games in eight nights.

Loyola, with a high scoring team that has averaged over 43 points in its five games this season, will be after its eighth consecutive victory.

Parsons Leading Player.

One of the outstanding members of the Nebraska varsity is Bob Parsons, forward and guard, who was classed last year as the outstanding sophomore player in the Big Six conference. Last year he was the high scoring guard in the conference and this season he has led the Nebraska scoring. Teaming with Parsons at forward is Howard Baker, a third year performer.

At center Coach W. H. Browne will use Floyd Ebaugh, 6 feet 5 inches. Ebaugh did little scoring last season, but through spring practice and the early fall drills has developed a good eye for the basket.

An Outstanding Guard.

Elmer Dohrmann, a junior, has rapidly come to the front as an outstanding guard. Dohrmann, who also works into the center position or plays forward, won four major letters as a sophomore, being the first Nebraska athlete to accomplish the feat. Six feet four inches and 210 pounds, Dohrmann is a varsity end in football, javelin thrower in track, and outfielder in baseball.

Harry Sorenson, senior, probably will be the other guard. He is 6 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 193 pounds. During the 1934 and 1935 season he was varsity center. He was out of competition last season and was moved to a guard position this year because of Ebaugh's dominance of the center argument.

DOCTORS ALLOW DOBIE TO SPEND YULE AT HOME

Boston, Mass., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Gil Dobie, Boston college football coach, who has been in the city hospital here since Dec. 2, got his holiday wish tonight when doctors permitted him to spend Christmas at home.

The 57 year old coach, accompanied by his daughter, Jane, a freshman at Simmons college, left the hospital in a wheel chair. He suffered a fractured knee cap in an automobile accident Dec. 2. Doctors said he would have to use the wheel chair for at least another week.

Frank Murdock, Boston college freshman football coach, injured in the same accident, obtained permission to spend Christmas with friends, but he will be detained at the city hospital for another two weeks, doctors said.

THREE ASK FOR HUNK ANDERSON COACH POSITION

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Col. John W. Harrelson, dean of administration at North Carolina State college, said tonight three men had applied for the position of head football coach at the school, to succeed Heartly W. [Hunk] Anderson.

They are Dr. Bob Warren, freshman football coach at State; Billy Laval, head coach at Emory and Henry college, Emory, Va., and Dick Gurley, high school coach at Newton.

Anderson, whose three year contract expires Dec. 31, recently was notified he would not "fit into" the 1937 athletic setup at State.

So it is in a winter time summer playground, where the kiddies are expecting Santa Claus to drop down from a plane or to come up out of a deep dive into the Atlantic.

They've been betting $160,000 an afternoon at Tropical Park ever since the meeting opened nearly two weeks ago. A quarter of a million will be wagered on Christmas afternoon.

Track Meet Starts Sugar Bowl Sports

New Orleans, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Several of the nation's leading athletes worked out today for New Orleans' third annual mid-winter sports program which will get under way Sunday with a track and field meet. Star attraction of the opening program will be a mile race.

Chief attention centered on the Kansas pair, Glenn Cunningham and Archie San Romani. They have not met since San Romani defeated both Cunningham and Jack Lovelock, Olympic champion, at Princeton last October. Also entered are Don Lash and Tom Deckard, the formidable Indiana runners.

Stars From Many Schools.

Three score stars from more than a dozen schools and clubs are entered in the track and field events.

Monday the tennis tournament will open with 16 selected stars seeking the title won last year by Arthur Hendrix of Florida, who turned back Wilmer Allison in the finals.

An intercity Sugar Bowl boxing match between teams from St. Louis and New Orleans will occupy sports followers' attention Monday. A basketball game between Arkansas and Tennessee university teams, champions of their respective conferences last year, will follow.

Football Game Is Climax.

The climax is scheduled for New Year's day when Louisiana State's football team clashes with Santa Clara at Tulane stadium.

MILLER, SAGILIO TO APPEAR ON TITLE PROGRAM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 24.—Billy Miller, former Milwaukee Golden Gloves welterweight champion, and Frank Sagilio, hard punching Italian from Cicero, Ill., were today signed for one of the eight round contests that will support the middleweight championship encounter here on Jan. 1 between Freddie Steele and Gorilla Jones.

Miller and Sagilio were scheduled to clash for the first time in a main event on the Marigold Garden's card in Chicago earlier this month, but Miller became ill and the bout was called off.

Another eight round engagement on New Year's day will bring together Larry Greb, whose three local appearances have resulted in knockout victories, and Roger Bernard, lightweight from Flint, Mich.

Steele and Jones, both of whom will enjoy a holiday rest tomorrow, continued their training today in the Eagles' gymnasium. Steele's greatest problem, as his handlers see it, is the danger of going stale. As a result they have arranged his conditioning program with care and have announced the champion will not do any more boxing until Sunday when Fred Lenhart, Pacific coast middleweight, joins the Steele camp.

NAME 3 CHICAGO WOMEN IN TABLE TENNIS TOURNEY

Will Compete in Lake Shore A. C. Tryouts.

Three Chicago women table tennis stars yesterday were named among the ten outstanding United States women players to compete in the tryouts at the Lake Shore Athletic club on Jan. 1, 2, and 3, for the American Corbillon cup team. The announcement of the selection was made by Dougall Kittermaster, chairman of the United States table tennis tournament committee.

The Chicago girl stars, Jay Purves, Mildred Wilkinson, and Flossie Basler, will play in the round robin tournament against ranking players from every section of the country.

For Play in Vienna.

The two girls placing highest in the eliminations will be named to join Ruth Aarons, world's woman's champion, to represent this country in the international play at Vienna, Austria, next February. Miss Aarons, who was automatically selected for the team, is scheduled to give exhibitions during the Lake Shore championships.

Miss Purves, former national woman's champion and a member of last year's Corbillon cup team, is a favorite to win one of the two final places. The other national feminine stars named for the tryouts include: Emily Fuller of Bethlehem, Pa., fourth ranking United States player; Dolores Probert of St. Louis, present western champion; Mrs. Clara Harrison of Cleveland; Mayo Rolph of Portland, Ore., promising young star who has taken every Pacific coast title this year; Anita Currey of Omaha, Ruth Forsythe of Kansas City, Mo., and Glenna Shade of Lorraine, O.

To Select Men's Team.

The Corbillon cup tryouts will be held simultaneously with the men's national intercity table tennis championships on Friday, Saturday and Sunday next week. Since the intercity play will bring every men's ranking start to Chicago, the play will also serve to select the United States international men's team.

St. Paul Open Tourney Will Start July 19

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—St. Paul will again be host to the golfing stars of the world at the eighth annual St. Paul open golf tournament at Keller course, July 29 to Aug. 1, 1937. This was announced today by Adolph Bremer Jr. chairman.

Want Ryder Cup Players.

Ordinarily held the first week in July, the event will be started 10 days later in order to allow time for the leading American and British golfers to return from the Ryder cup matches at Southport, England and from the British open at Carnoustie.

With the announcement of the resumption of the St. Paul open in 1937, the list of major golf attractions for the Twin Cities will include the Keller event and the Women's western championship at Town and Country club late in August.

Conflict Is Avoided.

Adolph Bremer Jr. newly appointed chairman of the event which in the last two seasons has more than paid its way, was commended by George R. Jacobus, president of the Professional and Golfers association, and Ed. Dudley, P. G. A. tournament chairman, for billing the event to avoid a conflict with the British events.

Most of the British and American entries in the national opens of both countries are expected in St. Paul.

GOODWIN FREED ON $750 BOND IN ALIMONY CASE

Clarksburg, W. Va., Dec. 24.—(AP)—The broken romance of Charles [Tod] Goodwin professional football star, which ended in 1934, brought him to jail today on a contempt of court ruling for failure to pay alimony.

Officers took the former West Virginia university player, now a member of the New York Giants pro team, from Wheeling to Clarksburg to face Judge Birk S. Stathers.

The big end posted $750 bond for his appearance at the Circuit court bench Jan. 11, then left the city, presumably to return to Wheeling.

Judge Stathers in May, 1934, granted a bed and board divorce decree to Mrs. Mary Katherine Grimmett Goodwin, daughter of a Clarksburg manufacturer. He awarded her $30 a month for herself and son, now three years old. The rule alleged Goodwin is $500 in arrears.

40 STARS WILL SKATE TONIGHT IN STADIUM SHOW

Carnival Opens 3 Day Run in Yule Setting.

Forty star professional skaters are ready to glide out on the ice tonight for the fifth annual Chicago Stadium ice carnival. The big skating revue will be repeated tomorrow and Sunday nights, with a matinee on Sunday.

When Jackie Dunn, the British figure skate champion, arrived by plane from Hollywood yesterday morning, on a week's furlough from Universal Pictures, the entire cast was assembled. Dunn has been doing a rhumba dance number from his Olympic games free skating routine as late as this week while the movie cameras were clicking, and needs no rehersal.

Eight Color Ice Design.

The Stadium technical staf completed the ice painting job last night, laying an eight colored design in holly wreaths, Christmas bells and gigantic sweeping curves on the ice sheet, over which a thin top surface of water will be sprayed for a skating surface. A rink border of 700 tiny Christmas trees were decorated, the log skating lodge was installed from which the skaters will glide onto the ice, and the final touches of decorations were completed.

Idi Papez and Karl Zwack, Austrian pair champions, in addition to a graceful and acrobatic Viennese waltz or skates, featuring many lift figures, have added a comedy number to the show, and with Heinie Brock, a new clown appearing in two stunt numbers, and the comedy and character team of Eddie Shipstad and Oscar Johnson presenting two numbers, the program of 22 acts is well rounded.

Pair Skaters Talented.

Stadium officials believe that Bess Ehrhardt and Roy Shipstad, a new pair combination skating together for the first time this year, may come as near to stealing the show as any act on the program. This couple will do a new pair act.

McGowan and Mack, in their rough and tumble acrobatic skating drama of the Paris underworld, called "Café de L'Apache"; Valerie Fink and Laverne Busher, the four Nelson sisters in a new routine; Lois Dworshak, the Carleton co-ed, who has never before skated in Chicago, and Naomi Proctor and Norris Wold of Minneapolis, another pair act that has never appeared at the Stadium, are other featured numbers.

Six ballets and group numbers are on the program and many novelties in scenic, property, and lighting effects have been designed by the Stadium staf to dress up the review in the Ziegfeld manner. The show has been designed to run two and a half hours and the producing staf has stressed balanced variety and novelty. Edward A. Mahlke, secretary of the Olympic figure skating committee, who helped to assemble the cast of forty professionals, thinks it will prove the best all-around skating show ever been attempted in Chicago. The program:

1. Christmas Medley.
2. "Bells of Yuletide"—Ensemble.
3. "Christmas Surprise Packages"—Valerie Fink and Laverne Busher.
4. Russian Dance—Naomi Proctor and Norris Wold.

22. Finale—Ensemble.

CARS EQUIPPED WITH OUTBOARD MOTORS TO RACE

Competition of cars equipped with outboard motorboat engines will feature the midget automobile racing program at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue, Sunday night. It was announced yesterday that eight leading drivers and their two cycle cars have been approved by the racing committee.

To qualify the pilots were required to appear at the armory during the week and test their cars with a new fuel mixture, both smokeless and odorless. The new concoction was prepared by Pat Warren, a Los Angeles driver who has temporarily been forced out of midget competition on account of an accident, and Art Hartsfeld, Ohio state champion.

TRIBUNE SKATE MEET ATTRACTS NEW GENERATION

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Silver Skates will complete its first score of meets Jan. 9 and 10 at Garfield park. Silver Skates dates back to 1917 when Art Staff won the two mile race for men, the only event on the program for which a pair of solid silver skates was awarded.

New generations of skaters, who will compete in eight age classes for 24 pairs of skates and 16 silver and bronze medals, the major awards of the meet, do not know, of course, that their Derbies sprang from the Chicago playground skating tournaments or that for the first few years the playgrounds held qualifying meets and sent their winners to the finals which were held in conjunction with the senior Silver Skates Derby.

Three Races for Girls.

It wasn't until 1919 that the men's list was divided and a junior Derby held. The first girls' Derby was staged in 1921 and the following year a junior race was provided for girls under 16 years of age.

This year, for the first time, there will be three races for girls, the senior, for girls 18 years of age and over; the intermediate, for girls 16 and 17 years of age, and the junior, which will continue to include all girls under 16 years of age.

Evelyn Cox won the first girls' junior Silver Skates Derby in 1922. She was 15 years of age and one of the best known Chicago skaters. In 1919 Evelyn had won the "honors of THE TRIBUNE races," to quote the story of the third Silver Skates and playground races written by the late Walter Eckersall. She represented Waters playground and won the 100 yard contest for girls under 16 years of age, skating this distance in 11 seconds, an "unofficial women's world's record around one turn."

Father, Brother Winners.

On that same program Evelyn's brother, John Cox, helped Waters playground win the four-fifths mile relay race for boys 15, 16, and 17 years of age. Her father also won the 220 yard race for men over 30 years of age. Waters playground, however, did not win the meet. Waters scored 16 points, while Swift playground, the champion, scored 17 points.

This year the Walter Eckersall memorial team trophy, which was won last year by the C. Y. O., will be the award for the playground, club, or organization which scores the most points. The club with the largest number of entries actually competing in the trials on Jan. 9 and 10 will receive a silver trophy. This trophy is given each year. Permanent possession of the Eckersall cup is awarded after the same organization has won it three times. It was first established in 1931.

In this same 1919 meet was Harry Kaskey, called one of the most promising school boy skaters in Chicago. Four years later Kaskey won the senior Silver Skates Derby and continued to be prominent in national and international skating for several seasons.

Entries Close Jan. 3.

Individual entries may be made in this twentieth annual Silver Skates Derby by filling out the entry blank which appears daily in THE TRIBUNE sports section. Check the class in which you are eligible to compete. If you qualify for the semi-finals, the officials will expect you to prove your age by birth certificate or baptismal certificate.

Each winner of a preliminary race will be awarded a gold medal. All contestants will receive souvenir bronze buttons.

Entries will close at midnight Jan. 3. Team entries may be made by the captain, coach, or manager. All members of the team must be listed by age classes. The entry list which will be compiled after Jan. 3 will be the official list even if it is necessary to postpone the Derbies. No one may enter after this deadline.

Ormsby Plays Santa to Own 12 Youngsters

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY.
[Associated Press Sports Writer.]

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house, not a creature was stirring—

Nobody except Emmett [Red] Ormsby, American league umpire and baseball's champion father. Upstairs, in his ten room suburban home, peacefully slept his twelve children, four boys and eight girls, the eldest 14. They were tucked away in nine beds, dreaming of the coming of Santa Claus.

Ormsby, a kindly, devoted father, coat and vest off, was working like a Trojan.

"Whew, what a job," he sighed, "and I won't get through until 4 o'clock in the morning, fixing presents for them twelve kids."

Five Trips to Get Toys.

There were dolls, scooters, bicycles, miniature trains, brightly painted toys of all description, stacked around a huge Christmas tree from which tiny colored lights brightly gleamed. So many Christmas presents that father had to make five trips after dark in his automobile to get them home. He had kept them in the home of his mother, a few blocks away.

From 7 o'clock on, the 200 pound umpire worked, stacking the gifts for children, each with a designated spot arranged about the big living room, with the Christmas tree in the middle. Then when all was finished, about 4 o'clock, Ormsby donned his Santa Claus suit of red, with flowing white whiskers, and tiptoed upstairs past the sleeping children.

And the Rush Is On.

"Those kids usually sleep with one eye open on Christmas morn," Ormsby explained, "and when they see Santa Claus, they're scared to death. They don't say boo. Then a few minutes later, after they get their peek at Santa, we go upstairs to awaken them. Down they come, pell mell in their night shirts.

"Such confusion. Such screaming and yelling, until they find their own places. "If you could only see the expression on their faces, you'd be willing to pay a thousand dollars," Ormsby said. "My, it's wonderful. The joy of living."

First, there is Rita. She's 14. She doesn't believe in Santa Claus any more. Neither does Rose Mary. She's next in line. Helen, the next, is on the fence. Emmet Jr., also is a bit skeptical. But the others, from 10 on down, have no doubts that old Santa Claus will come tearing out of the north in his sleigh drawn by reindeer.

CHEF FIVE SEEKS FOURTH VICTORY IN CITY LEAGUE

One of the favorites to win the first round honors in the Windy City Basketball league, the Magic Chefs of Harvey, will be out for its fourth straight victory when it plays the Rivals tonight at the St. Philips' gymnasium, Jackson boulevard and Kedzie avenue.

Lou Boudreau and Tommy Nisbet, sophomore Illinois university players, will be on the Magic Chef bench to encourage their former teammates. Boudreau and Nisbet, products of Thornton High school, were members of the Magic Chefs before entering Illinois.

In the other league games, the Austin-Westerns of Aurora will face the Homer Gwinn five, a girls' game featuring the Alamo Co-eds will open the card at 7:30 p. m.

Harry Wetmore, Chef guard, is the league's leading scorer with 31 points.

Set Feb. 15 as Final Day for Kentucky Derby Entries

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Churchill Downs officials today fixed Feb. 15 as closing date for entries in the 1937 Kentucky Derby. The official entry list will be released March 4.

IT LOOKS LIKE SANTA WILL GET HOME LATE

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

DOUGLAS MILLS, Illinois basketball coach, recently remarked at a downstate banquet that Northwestern had the best spirit of any football team he scouted this season. . . . He rated Tippy Dye, Ohio State quarter back, the greatest leader, Oze Simmons of Iowa the best runner, Mike Kabealo of Ohio State the best kicker, and Sid Luckman of Columbia the best forward passer. . . . Torchy Peden, six day bike rider, was an automobile mechanic in Victoria, B. C., before a yen to see the world switched him to cycling. . . . Bud Taylor, former featherweight boxer, is a heavyweight now. . . . Benny Leonard has been signed to referee the Henry Armstrong-Baby Casanova fight in Mexico City on New Year's day. . . . Barney McCoskey, who led the Mid-Atlantic league in hitting and fielding with marks of .400 and .986 is an 18 year old Detroit high school boy and belongs to the Tigers. . . . Earl Walsh, former Notre Dame half back now assisting Jimmy Crowley at Fordham, soon will be admitted to the New York bar. . . .

◆

Both Lynn Waldorf and Northwestern are to be congratulated on the five year extension of his contract as head football coach. . . . Few gridiron leaders have won the wholehearted support of their associates in such a short time as has Waldorf. . . . Raymond [Sonny] Workman, the best golfer among jockies, says the game conditions him for riding. . . . Although Hec and Wally Kilrea, brother members of the Detroit Red Wings, have been rivals on opposite teams and mates on the same clubs, they never have played against each other or with each other. . . . Gabby Street Jr., 13 year old son of the former Washington catcher and Cardinal manager, has decided to become a major league pitcher. . . . Boles Rosenthal, captain and center on Minnesota's 1914 eleven, is the eminently successful Dr. Albert Boles of Oakland, Cal. . . . My Ubl, former Minnesota and Drake half back, is a traveling salesman for a salt company. . . . Rip Radcliff, White Sox slugger, made four hits in one game on eight different occasions last year. . . . The body of Tex Rickard, buried in a $15,000 casket, lies in an unmarked grave. . . . There are 2,258 players on the minor league's reserve list, the largest since the boom days. . . .

◆

Strangler Lewis has traveled 1,500,000 miles by air to keep wrestling engagements and he has a trophy from an air line to prove it. . . . Zeke Bonura will reorganize his professional basketball team in New Orleans this winter. . . . Adolph Luque and Mike Gonzales are managing winter league teams in Cuba. . . . Kelly Petillo, 1935 Indianapolis auto race winner, says a successful driver must have two requisites—luck and a strong pair of arms. . . . Petillo will enter a car in the next Memorial day race and has signed Floyd Roberts to drive it. . . . Kim Williams, catcher and captain elect of Michigan's baseball team, who has been seriously ill at his home in Katonah, N. Y., for eight months, may return to school next semester. . . . It is estimated that $106,000 will be needed to pay the feed bill for Santa Anita's 1,325 horses during this year's meeting. . . . Gov. Chandler of Kentucky once played baseball with Saskatoon in the Western Canada league. . . . Hannes Schneider, Austrian, is reported to have received $10,000 and the sword of honor from the emperor for teaching skiing for one month in Japan. . . .

◆

Lynn Waldorf, Mrs. Waldorf, and their two children will leave tonight for a month's vacation in California. . . . Plans are almost completed for a game between the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears in California on Jan. 24. . . . Dewitt Gibson, Northwestern's 225 pound tackle, is captain of the wrestling team. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Wild Bill Mehlhorn won the Santa Clara Valley $2,000 open golf tournament. . . . Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, and Phil McGraw were signed to box for the title in New York. . . . The Opal A. A. won the first ice skating Derby of the season at Winnemac park. . . . Fifty-one batters in the National league hit better than .300 despite the introduction of the rosin bag.

POLICEMAN, 23 YEARS AT CUBS' PARK, IS RETIRED

Policeman James E. Anson of the Sheffield avenue station, who has been detailed at the Cubs' park during the baseball season for the last 23 years, spent his last day on the force yesterday. Today is his 63d birthday and marks his retirement under the compulsory retirement law for policemen of that age. Anson has been a member of the force for 35 years. He lives with his wife, Loretta, at 6949 Sheridan road.

Says Football Rules' Big Need Is Enforcement

John J. Schommer, dean of western conference football officials, believes that courageous enforcement, rather than chance, is the principal need of football rules.

Schommer, a brilliant end at the University of Chicago under Amos Alonzo Stagg and for 27 years a football official, foresees much discussion on rules when football coaches meet in New York Monday. The coaches have a committee which can make recommendations to the rules committee meeting which will be held early in 1937.

"The forward pass interference rule has caused widespread debate because of the part it has played in deciding games," said Schommer. "It's a good, fair rule and it emphasizes, more than does any other regulation, the need for officials who know their business.

Must Be on Alert.

"The reason referees last longer in football is because calling such decisions as interferences on passes falls on the umpires and field judges. Those officials are men who should have plenty of courage and should have played basketball as well as football. In a basketball game the officials constantly are ruling on the football type of pass interference play.

"The official must know whether the ball or man is being played by the defending players. He should be able to see if the intended receiver has been given an elbow in the chest, hand in the face, bump by the hips or stomach—and those things happen in fractions of seconds. If the official knows what he is doing and calls them right there will be fewer protests by coaches and fans."

Shift Often Violated.

Schommer believes the back field shift should be watched more closely and that referees should carry stop watches to see that backs hesitate the required second. In some instances, Schommer said, teams are deliberately coached to violate this rule.

CALIFORNIA TEAM IS GREETED BY ATLANTA FANS

Golden Bears to Battle Georgia Tech Tomorrow.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 24.—(AP)—California's Golden Bears, nemesis of Pacific coast football teams during the regular season, invaded Atlanta today for a post-season game with Georgia Tech Saturday.

A bit train weary, the Berkeley squad was hustled to a hotel by Coach Leonard [Stub] Allison.

The game will be the fourth clash between the western and southern elevens. The Bears defeated Tech, 19 to 6, in Atlanta in 1931, two years after the Engineers went west to beat California, 8 to 7, in the Rose Bowl game of 1929. In 1932 California defeated Tech, 26 to 7, on the coast.

Coaches Are Pessimistic.

Coach Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech, whose team's record does not indicate fully its potentialities, greeted Allison and the California players, already established on the coast as the team to beat for the 1937 championship.

Neither was a bit optimistic regarding Saturday's contest. Allison feared his stellar sophomore half back, Vic Bottari, would not be in condition and Alexander will be without the service of Tackle Phil Chance and Quarter Back Lawrence Hays.

"I'm somewhat afraid of this Tech team," said Allison. "Bill has a powerful squad and, with a few breaks, would have finished the year with a much better record.

"As for us, we're typical tourists. The boys all have flat noses from window gazing. The boys could cut to the right and the left in the diner, but we need that on the field. We'll try to get the kinks out in a good workout."

Alexander Makes Forecast.

The usually taciturn Alexander loosened up a bit to forecast:

"We'll give them a good battle, but I don't see that we've got a chance. They've got a powerful bunch of boys and their great record on the coast after midseason speaks for itself."

Georgia Tech's athletic officials arranged a banquet for the evening, with members of each squad interspersed around the table. On a Christmas tree hung gifts for the invading guests.

SOPWITH HOPEFUL OF TRIUMPHING IN YACHT CUP RACE

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—T. O. M. Sopwith, the British sportsman, said today he is hopeful of winning the America's yatching cup in the international series next summer. He arrived with Mrs. Sopwith on the Europa last night, but insisted the current trip had nothing to do with the forthcoming races.

"We are going to Florida for six weeks of fishing off the Florida coast with friends on the yacht Caroline," he explained. He will return to England to superintend preparations for the trans-Atlantic crossing of his cup challenger, the Endeavour II. It will be towed across, along with the losing challenger of the last series, the Endeavour, in June. The races will be held in July.

Harold S. Vanderbilt's entry for defense of the cup is now under construction at Bath, Me., and is said to be the largest yacht building job ever attempted in an American yard.

Cincinnati Reds Buy Waterloo (Ia.) Franchise

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Warren C. Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, informed his office today that he had closed a deal for the purchase of the Waterloo, Ia., franchise in the Western league. The Waterloo club will be operated as a Red farm. Giles is in Moline, Ill., for the Christmas holidays.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 24.—A buoyant tone ruled in the more speculative sections of the bond market today despite the usual pre-holiday atmosphere and smaller trading volume. Secondary railroad and leading sugar bonds led a spirited advance in the domestic corporate list, while South American government and provincial loans continued their impressive upward movement as many reached new high levels for the year.

Transactions in all bonds amounted to $12,498,000, compared with $13,806,000 on Wednesday.

Federal List Is Dull.

Trading in United States government obligations came to a virtual standstill and prices held within narrow limits. Closing quotations showed advances of 1-32 to 5-32 of a point and declines of the same amount on a turnover of only $240,400.

The demand for secondary rail issues carried prices upward fractions to as much as six points. Norfolk and Southern loans were in brisk demand, advancing 3⅞ to 6 points. The bonds of St. Paul, Allegheny corporation, and Frisco all responded with substantial gains.

Sugar Issues Climb.

Leading sugar companies' issues rose sharply under the leadership of Eastern Cuba sugar and Manatis sugar, which netted 2 to 5 points. Pan-American Petroleum 6s moved up 2¾ points on a brisk turnover. Some irregularity developed in the market for convertible industrial and public utility bonds.

The obligations of Antioquia led the advance in Latin- American loans with gains of 1⅜ to 3¾ points to new high marks for the year. Cuban Public Works 5½s proved the most active issue in the foreign section and rose more than 3 points. European loans held steady to firm. Mexican obligations continued firm to slightly higher.

National Baking.

Investors' Guide: Kindly send me information regarding the National Baking company. I am interested in the common stock.—M. E. H.

Answer: This concern operates bakeries in Omaha, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, and Columbus, and manufactures Omar flour, which is sold extensively in the middle west. Headquarters is in Omaha.

Earnings have been sufficient to cover preferred dividend requirements in only one of the last five years. Net income rose to $151,000 or 50 cents per common share in the year ended June 30, 1936, however, and a plan of recapitalization was approved last May, which settled preferred dividend accumulations of $23.75 as of June 1, 1936.

Under provisions of the plan, each of the 11,103 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock was exchanged for 1¼ shares of new 6 per cent preferred, one-half share of common, and $4.75 cash. As a result, capitalization now consists of 17,500 shares of 6 per cent preferred and 166,291 shares of $1 par common stock. Dividends on the new preferred were begun with a quarterly payment of $1.50 a share Oct. 1, 1936.

Net income was $62,000, or $5.43 per preferred share, in the year ended June 30, 1935. Losses in the preceding three years were $86,000, $104,000, and $70,000.

Current assets were $1,859,000 and current liabilities were $969,000 [including $438,000 reserve for processing taxes not paid under the invalidated AAA] on June 30, 1936. Funded debt was $501,500.

The preferred stock now appears to be medium grade and somewhat speculative. The common is a speculation.

Des Moines Railway.

Investors' Guide: Please advise me regarding Des Moines Railway company income bonds of 1955.—L. F.

Answer: The new 5 per cent income bonds are quite speculative. They are outstanding in the amount of $4,821,000 and were issued this year in exchange for a like amount of defaulted general and refunding mortgage fixed interest 5s due Jan. 1, 1936, under a plan of reorganization through the federal bankruptcy laws. Interest, now payable if earned, will become cumulative after Jan. 1, 1940, and may be made cumulative two years earlier. Earnings have covered only a fraction of interest requirements for several years.

GERMANS LIMIT USE OF MARKS TO END SMUGGLING

Tourist Can Carry Only 30 Into Country.

In another effort to prevent the use of German currency smuggled out of that country, a new exchange regulation was issued at Berlin yesterday cutting drastically the amount of German money which tourists will be allowed to take into the country.

The regulation provided that hereafter only 30 marks in coins will be permitted to pass the German frontier, as compared with the former allowance for tourists of 30 marks in bills and 60 marks in coins. Both bills and coins are forbidden for those other than tourists.

Fail to End Smuggling.

For some time the German government has been disturbed by the flight of capital through currency exports. Stringent regulations forbidding such exports failed to prevent smuggling and various decrees have been issued in an effort to "sterilize" German notes held abroad.

The condition statement of the German Reichsbank issued yesterday for the week ended Dec. 23 showed a decline of 25,000 reichsmarks in gold reserves to a total of 66,384,000 reichsmarks. Notes in circulation rose 67,000,000 reichsmarks to a total of 4,634,000,000.

The Nazi government decreed itself a Christmas present today at the expense of companies which profited through devaluation of foreign currencies. All profits made by concerns having foreign debts through currency devaluations were seized in favor of the ministry of economics and finance minister. This amounts to more than $500,000,000, it was said. The order applies to all establishments which gained through French, Dutch, Swiss, and Czechoslovakian devaluations. These profits probably will be taken over through instalments, as few concerns have sufficient cash for outright payments.

English Bank Statement.

The Bank of England statement for the week ended Dec. 23 showed a decrease of £61,000 in gold bullion to £314,278,000. Circulation during the same period rose to £6,420,000 to £474,115,000. The Bank of France statement for the week ended Dec. 18 showed no change in gold reserves, which totaled 60,358,000,000 francs.

A sharp drop in gold imports of the United States in the week ended Dec. 18 was reported yesterday by the department of commerce. Imports of $3,143,470 compared with $24,360,458 in the preceding week, while exports of $31,714 compared with $14,915. Yesterday, $770,000 in gold was engaged in England for American account, bringing the total taken in that country since Sept. 26 to $158,700,000.

Most foreign currencies were unchanged against the dollar in quiet trading in New York yesterday. The Canadian dollar eased 1.164 of a cent to 100.06¼ cents.

WHEAT CLIMBS; SUPPLY, DEMAND ABOUT BALANCE

World Prices Gain Up to 5 Cents.

The closely adjusted world's supply and demand situation in bread grains dominated the action of the markets yesterday and sent wheat prices soaring. Net gains of 1⅞ to 4⅞ cents a bushel were recorded in the various marts with all deliveries at Winnipeg and December wheat in Liverpool selling at new seven year highs. December wheat at Liverpool closed at $1.44⅞ a bushel, gaining 4⅞ cents for the day, while No. 2 Manitoba was quoted at $1.57⅛.

Advances in wheat ranged upward to 5 cents a bushel, with Winnipeg showing the most strength, the advance there being the permissible limit for one day under exchange regulations. The upturn revived fears of a squeeze of shorts in the December delivery in the Canadian market.

Report Germany Buys Wheat.

Reports that Germany had purchased 225,000 bushels of Canadian cash wheat and a small lot of Argentine grain greatly stimulated speculative buying of wheat futures in North American and foreign markets. An official German report confirmed recent trade claims that a tight bread grain situation had developed in that country.

Between Aug. 1 and Nov. 30 the apparent consumption of wheat and rye in Germany was 157,000,000 bushels, or 34,000,000 bushels in excess of the same period in 1935, as indicated by the official statement. According to trade views, if the current rate of consumption is continued the balance of the season there would be little grain left on hand at the close of the current crop year.

Expect Heavier World Shipments.

While much heavier world shipments of wheat are expected this week as the result of clearances of new crop grain from Argentina and Australia, the greater part of the increased movement is expected to go to Italy, which is credited with having bought about 35,000,000 bushels in the two countries.

Export sales of Canadian cash wheat yesterday were estimated at 1,000,000 bushels or more, despite reports indicating that as high as 30 cents a bushel premiums was being paid for that grain as compared with the asking price for Argentine wheat.

Final trades in wheat and rye futures yesterday in the various markets were at the highest closing levels witnessed so far this season.

May Wheat Near Top.

May wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade closed at $1.34⅞ a bushel and within ⅛ cent of the best figure of the season. Deliveries of 300,000 bushels of cash wheat on December contracts in Chicago and 415,000 bushels at Kansas City failed to dampen bullish enthusiasm.

Closing trades on the May delivery of leading grains on the board of trade, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday	Wednesday	Week ago
Wheat	$1.34⅞	$1.31¼	$1.30⅝
Corn	1.05½	1.04⅞	1.04¾
Oats	.51⅛	.50½	.50½
Rye	1.15¼	1.10⅝	1.11¾
Soy beans	1.53¾	1.51½	1.54

Corn and other grains showed fair strength, largely in sympathy with wheat and rye.

Corn And Oats Advance.

Corn gained ⅝ to 1⅛ cents a bushel with the December option leading, while oats advanced a major fraction of a cent. There was less pressure on soy bean futures and net gains ranged upward to 2 cents.

There are only two business days remaining in which to liquidate December grain and soy bean contracts. The necessity of speculators evening up their position in the market was emphasized by the Board of Trade Clearing corporation yesterday in a notice sent to its members. It was pointed out that all contracts remaining open after Dec. 28 could be closed only by deliveries of the cash grain.

Warner Is Chosen to Head Federal Power Office Here

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24—Fayette S. Warner today was named director of the Chicago regional office of the federal power commission. A member of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania for eight years, Warner has for the last three years been a member of the commission's staf.

CHICAGO OFFERING 11 MILLION ISSUE TO FUND JUDGMENTS

Robert B. Upham, city controler, announced yesterday that he is advertising for bids for an issue of $11,000,000 City of Chicago 3 per cent bonds, returnable Jan. 5. Proceeds from the sale will be used to fund judgments entered against the city.

There are $22,000,000 of judgments outstanding as a result of personal property, personal damage, property damage, and condemnation suits. The city council at its last meeting empowered Upham to issue $12,349,000 of bonds to take care of judgments entered prior to April 1, 1931, at which date the city went over its bond limit.

Upham said that the interest on the judgments is 5 per cent so by issuing $11,000,000 of bonds at 3 per cent the city can save 2 per cent in interest, or about $250,000 a year. The bonds will have optional call dates as follows: $4,000,000 in 1945, $4,000,000 in 1947, and $3,000,000 in 1949.

3 Candidates Seek to Head Board of Trade

A three cornered contest for the office of president of the Chicago Board of Trade for 1937 will be fought out at the annual election of the exchange on Jan. 4.

A petition nominating Lowell Hoit for president was filed with officials of the exchange yesterday. Fred S. Lewis and Kenneth S. Templeton had been nominated for the same office. It is believed this is the first time in the history of the exchange that there have been three candidates for the office.

Hoit Previously Vice President.

Hoit has been in the grain business for more than 35 years and previously had served as vice president and a director. He is understood to be a friend of Secretary of Agriculture H. C. Wallace and has been prominently identified with the cooperative country elevator grain trade for many years.

The discovery of a "joker" in the rules of the Board of Trade yesterday was regarded as making uncertain whether it would be possible to elect a president on Jan. 4.

Majority Vote Required.

The rules provide that a majority of all votes cast shall be necessary for a choice for president and vice president. For all other elective offices a plurality is required. Barnett Faroll and Orrin S. Dowse are the candidates for vice president.

According to the exchange regulations in the event that no person receives a majority of the ballots cast for president or vice president, another ballot will be taken on them the following day, and if again there shall be a failure to elect, a third ballot will be taken on the following day when a plurality shall elect.

IMPLEMENT FIRM ANNOUNCES PLAN TO RECAPITALIZE

Plans to recapitalize the Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement company late in 1937 were disclosed yesterday in a letter from W. C. MacFarlane, president, which accompanied checks for the first preferred dividend paid since 1931.

MacFarlane said the $3 a share dividend paid yesterday was declared to reduce the tax on undistributed profits and should not be considered as "an initiation of a policy of continued payment of regular and accrued dividends." Giving effect to the payment arrears amounts to $33.56 as of Dec. 31.

"Current improvement in business," he explained, "requires increased working capital. Although preliminary earnings for 1936 have shown an improvement over last year and although the company will have no indebtedness to banks at the end of the year, a succession of adverse years has resulted in a reduction of working capital.

"At some time toward the end of the coming year, when a reasonable estimate of the year's results can be made, your directors will endeavor to formulate a plan of recapitalization, which plan will include proper consideration of the accrued dividends on the preferred stock."

The company's balance sheet showed a profit and loss deficit of $4,488,666 at the end of 1935. Outstanding capitalization consists of 700,000 shares of common and 98,700 shares of preferred stock.

WHISKY STOCK CLIMBS TO NEW ALL TIME PEAK

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24—(AP)—The treasury reported today November whisky production of 18,867,613 gallons boosted warehouse stocks to 361,317,951 gallons, largest in the country's history. The pre-prohibition peak was 278,108,000 gallons in 1914.

November's withdrawals, which reflect roughly the amount of consumption, were 9,642,598 gallons. This brought the total withdrawn in the first eleven months of the year to more than 63,000,000 gallons, compared with 61,000,000 gallons for the entire year 1935.

Kentucky continued to lead as a producer and storehouse of whisky. Indiana was second. Illinois, with the largest amount of withdrawals—2,458,148 gallons, produced 2,908,216 gallons and had 53,190,734 gallons in warehouses.

Elevated and Motor Bus Lines to Extend Transfers

The year of transfer experimentation between the Chicago Motor Coach company and the Chicago Rapid Transit company will expire Jan. 19 but the trial period has been extended to July 18, it was announced yesterday by Eugene L. Cohen, attorney for the Illinois commerce commission. The commission is now determining how the proceeds from exchange of transfers between the elevated lines and the surface lines shall be divided, and must conclude this matter before it can consider the fund distribution between the elevated lines and the bus company.

Bellanca Builds 22 Planes to Cost More Than Million

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 24.—(AP)—The Bellanca Aircraft corporation said today that 22 airplanes valued at more than $1,000,000 are under construction at its New Castle, Del., plant. Orders for the planes were received within the last 30 days. Twenty of the airplanes are for the Hanover Import and Export company, New York, and will be used in foreign mail service. One of the planes is for Alex Papanna, of Bucharest, who said he intends to use the ship in the New York to Paris race on May 21.

Big Pay Rolls Boost Chicago Holiday Trade

Christmas spending in the Chicago region, which this season reached the largest amounts since the boom days of 1928 and 1929, was helped by the flood of wages poured out by many leading industries, which yesterday reported that payrolls are the largest in history.

One of the largest wage contributions came from the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, which has approximately 45,000 now at work in its Chicago district plants. The monthly payroll of this company is approximately $6,400,000. The greater part of this amount was disbursed during December in time for the steel workers to expend a considerable part of it on Christmas. The number employed here is the largest in the company's history.

Inland Steel Staf at Peak.

Inland Steel now has about 12,000 on its payroll, the largest number in the history of that company, with the monthly pay distributions reported about $2,000,000.

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube company now has about 7,600 persons employed in its Chicago district plants, the largest in its history. Its wage payments are estimated between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 a month.

The Acme Steel company is employing about 2,500 workers, the largest number since 1929. The monthly payroll is about $400,000.

Republic Steel has 3,000 men on the payroll of its Chicago plant, the largest number in its history.

There are about 30,000 persons employed in "packingtown," reported to be the largest number at work in the live stock and packing industry in years.

Other Large Payrolls.

Of the many packing houses in the area Swift & company alone paid out about $1,350,000 to its employes in the three weeks prior to Christmas.

The plants here of the International Harvester company have been carrying the largest payrolls in years, while Western Electric, which in former years had one of the largest payrolls in the Chicago area, once again is returning to rank among the leaders. Western Electric recently had 15,300 workers on its payroll.

Many thousands of persons have received extra work during the holiday period in the hundreds of retail establishments in the Chicago district. This has helped to swell the buying power of Chicago by hundreds of thousands of dollars.

EARLY ACTION IS PROMISED ON CROP INSURANCE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Early action to get a crop insurance bill before congress was promised today as friends of the plan listened to favorable comment from some senate quarters.

Senator Pope [Dem., Idaho] said a bill embodying suggestions handed to President Roosevelt by a special committee studying an all-risk crop insurance plan for wheat would be introduced "shortly after the session opened." Departmental experts estimated that as much as $100,000,000 might be needed to start the plan.

On Capitol hill, several western senators announced support for some form of crop insurance, although one, Senator Thomas [Dem., Okla.], said he was uncertain as to the feasibility of such a program.

Senator Nye [Rep., N. D.] said he believed crop insurance was "the only adequate approach" to the farm problem; Senator McGill [Dem., Kans.] asserted it had been favored in his district "for some time," and Sheppard [Dem., Tex.] looked "with great sympathy on crop insurance."

Banks and Markets Closed Today

All leading financial and commodity markets will be closed today to observe Christmas, and many will also remain closed until Monday. These include the New York and Chicago Stock and Curb exchanges, the live stock markets, and the grain exchanges in Winnipeg and Liverpool. The Chicago Board of Trade, the Chicago Mercantile exchange, and the banks, however, will be open tomorrow.

ALL COAST TO COAST RAILROAD FREIGHT RATES ARE INCREASED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Increased railroad rates on all coast-to-coast freight became effective today.

The increases were proposed in tarif schedules filed with the interstate commerce commission some time ago. Commission officials expressed belief the new rates would offset losses caused by termination of freight surcharges on Dec. 31.

The transcontinental railroads had cut their rates in a "war" with the intercoastal ship lines. These cuts caused the transcontinental rates to be lower than base rates for other services. Commission officials said the increase would not raise the coast-to-coast rates above the general level of the country.

NEW YORK STOCK HOUSE INDICTED ON FRAUD CHARGE

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The federal grand jury today indicted Secord, Vanderpoel & Co., Inc., Wall street stock house, and 18 of its officers and employés on charges of using the mails to defraud and the telephone in violation of the Interstate Commerce commission law governing fraudulent telephone sales.

The more prominent of those indicted were Washington Irving Vanderpoel, Edwin T. Vanderpoel, and Lynn N. Secord. The others were salesmen and other employés.

The indictments said that the defendants made fraudulent representations with regard to the selling of stock in the Utah Apex Mining company, the Lava Cap Gold Mining corporation, the Meustadtl Brewing corporation, the great Swazey Bear Mining corporation, and the Golden Quebec Mines and Mineral Mining corporation.

The persons who suffered losses, the indictment said, were told that the stock would be listed on the exchange and curb, which was not a fact.

GOLD PLAN MAY PREVENT OTHER CREDIT CONTROL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24—(AP)—Amid protests by some members of Congress against jamming the brakes on credit expansion officials said today that the treasury's plan to "Sterilize" gold imports might make it unnecessary for the Federal Reserve board to curb credit further next month. The treasury program, they asserted, may bring a re-shaping of the board's earlier plans to swing its own control powers into action early in January.

Sharp criticism of the gold sterilization move, designed to prevent gold imports from becoming the basis for increased bank credit, continued to be made by congressional foes of currency and credit contraction.

Representative Rankin [Dem., Miss.] issued a statement that the treasury policy was threatening the country with "the grave danger of another depression." He declared recent reports that commodity prices were too high and the country "in a dangerous boom" were "nothing in the world but propaganda designed to prepare the public mind for another deflation."

Bethlehem Steel Buys Oil Well Supply Company

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Purchase of the Taubman Supply company, an oil well supply concern, by Bethlehem Steel corporation was announced by the Bethlehem company today. The company, organized 20 years ago by Herman Taubman, has offices in all the important oil centers of the midcontinent field. It will henceforth be known as Bethlehem Supply company Taubman will remain as active head. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Pig Iron Prices to Rise 50 Cents a Ton on Jan. 1

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Brokers said today that pig iron prices would advance 50 cents a ton Jan. 1 in the Pittsburgh district.

The last increase was $1 a ton, effective Nov. 23. The new prices will be $21.50 forBessemer, $20.50 for basic, and $21 for foundry malleable.

The brokers said the heavy demand for iron, an advance in coke prices, and an anticipated advance in iron ore prices caused the boost.

Bank Clearings Rise 69 Pct. in Last Week

New York, Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Bank clearings at twenty-two principal cities aggregated $7,762,668,000 in the week ended Dec. 23, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today.

This was the highest level since Oct. 8, 1931, and represented an increase of 69.1 per cent over the $4,589,150,000 shown a year ago in the preceding week the total was 15.6 per cent higher than in 1935.

New York Gains 75.8 Per Cent.

The volume at New York City was $5,150,284,000, a gain of 75.8 per cent over the aggregate of $2,929,677,000, for the same 1935 week. This figure also was the highest since Oct. 8, 1931. The total at outside centers, $2,612,384,000, represented a rise of 57.4 per cent over a year ago.

Clearings at Chicago totaled $382,600,000, an increase of 62 per cent over the $236,100,000 reported a year ago.

All Cities Show Big Rise.

All cities listed in the report topped last year's figures by substantial margins. Some of the outstanding gainers were Pittsburgh, with 115.7 per cent; Cleveland, with 78.9 per cent, Louisville, with 69 per cent; Buffalo, with 65.4 per cent, and Baltimore, with 63.6 per cent.

Important factors in the big increase, the agency reported, were the large disbursements of dividend money bonuses, and the heaviest holiday buying in years. The comparison with 1935 also was thrown out of line because a year ago the week carried the holiday.

RUSTLESS IRON WILL EXPAND PLANTS IN 1937

Rustless Iron and Steel corporation announced yesterday that directors have authorized a program of plant expansion that will involve expenditure of a minimum of $625,000 during 1937, according to estimates.

The program calls for a new 12-inch merchant bar mill, and additional capacity in the melting, cold finishing, and intermediate service departments of the company's plant at Baltimore.

C. E. Tuttle, chairman and president, said that some financing would probably be arranged to provide funds for the 1937 construction program, although no definite plan has been determined.

This compares with 81,335 units for the corresponding week of 1935. All of the major producers operated on a three and one-half day basis this week.

La Salle Street Radiates Spirit of Christmas

Christmas spirit preferred was recommended as a "good buy" along La Salle street yesterday as the financial community reflected the holiday mood.

FRED D. SADLER.

By noon brokerage houses had lost interest in market transactions. In most cases employés were dismissed for the day and for some the holiday will continue until Monday. Then followed the usual round of Christmas parties when broker meets broker and together they call on the office across the hall. Such parties were gayer this year, due to the better humor inspired by better business.

Brokerage Stafs Happy.

Employés of brokerage firms, thankful for the protracted holiday after much overtime work recently as the result of small stafs, were also happier because of bigger bonus checks.

The Chicago Stock exchange was one of the gayest spots along La Salle street. Traders lost interest in business long before the official closing time. Favorite songs were started by prominent traders who gathered around the blue lighted Christmas tree in the far corner.

Traders could not forget the occasion even by tending to business for the board was crowned with holly wreaths. Then, too, there were refreshments in the side room.

Old Timers Lead Party.

Augie Sievers, of Sadler & Co., manned the accordion, while Fred Sadler, Arthur Wood, former president of the exchange, and Ralph Davis helped to take up the old refrains. Members of the exchange who had not been on the floor for years joined the party.

The Board of Trade conformed to the strict rules set up by the floor committee, barring horseplay under threat of suspension. Just the same, members were happy because of booming business.

The big banks had no special celebrations, but claimed, on the surface, to be doing business as usual. Law forbids their being closed on days other than holidays, hence they must be open tomorrow.

STANDARD OIL MAY SELL PLANTS TO ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The Argentine subsidiary of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, announced today it was negotiating to sell its Argentine properties to the government.

The company said Argentine regulations giving the government oil company monopolistic control over imports made it impossible to continue working on a "commercial basis." The company said the projected sale was an outgrowth of a government decree of last July 20, which prohibited oil importation except through the government-owned organization.

At that time the government indicated it planned to nationalize production of oil as rapidly as possible. It charged foreign companies with increasing their imports while the government was trying to stimulate national production and make Argentina self-sufficient. The Standard Oil unit declared it tried to reach an accord with the government.

UTILITY PLANS BIG EXPANSION FOR NEXT YEAR

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 24.—(AP)—A construction and improvement budget of $8,142,000 for the Northern States Power company in 1937, more than double the 1936 expenditures, was announced today. President Robert F. Pack said every division of the company, in Minnesota, Wisconsin, and North and South Dakota, would be included in the program.

Expansion of the Riverside steam station by 46,700 horsepower to 180,000 is the largest single item. Lines will be rebuilt and sub-stations improved in the Sioux Falls, southwestern, and Wisconsin divisions.

Cotton Belt Reorganization Hearing Set for March 16

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24—(AP).—The interstate commerce commission assigned today a hearing for next March 16 on the management's plan for reorganization of the St. Louis Southwestern [Cotton Belt] railway company. The hearing will be held before Commissioners R. T. Boyden and J. V. Walsh.

FIRMER STOCKS SPREAD JOY ON CHRISTMAS EVE

Traders Even Up for Three Day Recess.

New York, Dec. 24.—Traders left for their homes at the finish of trading today with a stock market table to hang on the Christmas tree that recorded gains ranging from fractions to more than a point in the general list. Light profit taking developed in the afternoon that wiped out some of the early advances but at no time could observers note evidence of concentrated selling pressure.

With a three day holiday in the offing, much of the volume of approximately 1,607,000 shares represented pre-holiday evening up. Here and there throughout the list it was apparent to students of the market that professionals were clearing up their commitments until Monday, but for the most part these offerings were well absorbed.

Oil Shares Again Set Pace.

Oil shares again set the pace for the rest of the market as optimistic predictions for 1937 continued to be voiced by leaders of the industry. Texas corporation rose to a new high before retreating to its previous closing level, Standard of New Jersey was strong and nearly a point higher, reaching its best price for the current movement, Standard of California was popular and Skelly spurted 1¾ points to a new high.

Steel shares and public utility issues stood out only because of their narrow price range. Bethlehem and U. S. Steel dropped slightly in the indifferent trading, along with Youngstown and Republic. Utilities just about managed to stay in the clear, with a majority of the advances being fractional.

Railway Shares Are Firmer.

Railroad stocks perked up partly in response to cheerful reports of holiday travel and hints that some freight rate relief might come. Santa Fe, Chesapeake and Ohio, Great Northern, Nickel Plate, Louisville and Nashville, Southern Pacific and Norfolk and Western were given presents of gains of 1 to 2 points. Railway equipment shares were mixed. American Locomotive and Pullman were favored.

Chrysler displayed vitality, aided by short-covering attributed to settlement of several strikes that threatened to curtail the automobile industry's output. General Motors was backward. Accessory shares moved forward.

Copper issues met more realizing and the general run of issues dipped fractions. Kennecott was firm. Rubber shares attracted fair demand as the price of the commodity continued to soar.

Canada Dry Fizzled Out.

Canada Dry sold off a slight fraction but not until after it had been boosted to a new top for the year. Other miscellaneous strong spots in the list included Crown Cork, Hercules Powder, Superior Steel, Minneapolis Moline preferred, Eastman Kodak, Fairbanks Morse, American Bank Note, Ruberoid, St. Joseph Lead and Union Carbide.

Amusement shares got a good play, with the Paramount issues spurting sharply and Keith Albee jumping six points to come within an eyelash of its best price of the year. Some of the merchandising equities met headwinds, especially Montgomery Ward and Woolworth.

Farm implements weakened in spite of the increase in grain prices. Chemicals advanced.

GENERAL MOTORS DENIES INTEREST PLAN CHARGES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—(AP)—General Motors corporation filed a formal denial today in answer to the federal trade commission's complaint alleging the corporation's financing plan was erroneously advertised as costing automobile buyers only 6 per cent interest.

The corporation, on behalf of seven of the 21 automobile manufacturing and financing companies named in the complaints, said the "6 per cent" description never referred to interest, but designated what was commonly called a "finance charge."

The complaint charged the 6 per cent financing cost was figured on the total period of payments, regardless of reductions of principal by monthly instalments, and actually amounted to approximately 12 per cent interest per year. General Motors replied its advertising gave specific examples of how the finance charge was calculated so car buyers would not be misled.

AVIATION MAKES BEST PROGRESS IN LAST YEAR

Growth Reported Sound by U. S. Official.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—[Special.]—Progress in civil aeronautics in 1936 was greater than in any previous year in aviation history, Eugene L. Vidal, director of air commerce, announced today.

"The excellent record of progress for the last year is the more gratifying because the growth has been sound," he said. "There has been no overnight boom, and there is no artificial prosperity. We have seen normal, healthy growth which the industry is fully qualified to support, and which represents not only a present gain, but also a firmer foundation for the future.

Passengers Exceed Million.

"The scheduled air lines will have transported more than a million passengers by Dec. 31, which will exceed all previous records. Air mail and air express are also headed for new highs in poundage.

"Some manufacturers have found it necessary to step up production so rapidly that there actually has been a shortage of trained workers, particularly skilled metal workers. Our preliminary estimate on production for 1936 indicates an increase of 40 per cent over 1935, with an even larger increase in civil aircraft totals.

"Flying by private owners and miscellaneous operators, which category includes charter and taxi flying, aerial surveying, crop dusting, experimental flying, and student instruction, is expected to total about 90,000,000 miles in 1936, a substantial increase over 1935.

Public Interest Broad.

"Public interest in aeronautics is taking the concrete form of enrollment for aviation instruction and purchase of airplanes. In general, it is known throughout the industry that leading aviation schools have so many applicants for enrollment that they have had to establish waiting lists.

"Many technical advances have been made. Air line planes are larger, speedier, and more comfortable, and operating technique is vastly improved. Aircraft engines delivering up to 1,000 horsepower now are available. Small private craft are safer and less expensive."

HOLIDAYS PUT FLOOD OF MONEY IN CIRCULATION

Use of Currency Reaches New Recovery Peak.

Currency circulation rose to a new recovery peak of 6 billion 628 million dollars last week, the federal reserve board reported last night in its weekly bank condition statement. The figure represents an expansion of 128 millions over the preceding week and marked what will probably be the peak of the holiday demand for currency.

Holiday spending, large disbursements by corporations in dividends and special Christmas bonuses to employés and the normal seasonal demand for currency resulted in the heavy withdrawals of currency from the banks. This year's holiday peak is 689 millions larger than the top figure reached on Christmas eve of 1935.

Surplus Reserves Decline.

The expansion in currency circulation was accompanied by a sharp contraction in the reserves of the banking system. The surplus or idle reserves of the member banks of the reserve system fell 170 million dollars last week to bring the total under the two billion dollar figure for the first time in recent months.

As the demand for currency is a seasonal factor it is expected reserves will begin to expand again after the first of the year and may lead to some action by the reserve board to cut down the tremendous total, which is considered a threat to a sound credit structure.

Apart from the currency expansion the most significant change was the further gain in commercial bank loans reported in New York and Chicago.

Commercial Loans Expand.

The condition statements of the member banks in these centers are regularly issued Thursday with the report of the central reserve system, while the more comprehensive statement on member banks in the 101 principal cities of the country will not be available until Monday.

The Chicago bank statement showed a gain in commercial loans of 11 millions compared with a week earlier. The New York banks reported an increase of 30 millions.

Despite the recovery in business and industrial activity over the last year there has been only a moderate pick-up until recently in the demand for commercial bank credit.

Chicago Banks Lend More.

The 408 million total of commercial loans of Chicago banks at present compare with the 251 millions outstanding a year ago. New York banks are currently lending 1 billion 559 millions to commercial borrowers, compared with 1 billion 150 millions at this season last year.

United States gold stocks continued to rise last week with imports and receipts of newly mined gold pushing the total up 7 millions to a new peak figure of 11 billions 229 millions.

BUTTER CLOSES AT BEST PRICES OF THE SEASON

Butter futures closed yesterday at the best prices of the season on the Chicago Mercantile exchange as the result of aggressive buying influenced by reports of decreasing production and a belief that the liberal deliveries of cash butter on December contracts were going into strong hands. There were 19 cars of butter delivered on December contracts.

An active demand developed for potatoes yesterday with futures advancing 2 to 5 cents, the March delivery closing at $3.50 per 100 pounds and in new ground for the season. Sales were 24 cars. Egg futures were unchanged to ⅛ cent lower with December closing at 27⅝ cents a dozen. Sales aggregated 86 cars. Prices follow:

Joseph Triner, one of the best known figures in the middle west liquor business, has been appointed midwest division manager of the House of Schenley, it was announced yesterday by James E. O'Brien, regional manager. O'Brien was promoted to the position of regional manager from division manager. The midwest region embraces Illinois, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri, and Indiana.

U. S. GUARANTEE ON LOANS FOR HOMES PROPOSED

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Asserting the nation faces a "critical housing shortage," Clarence M. Woolley, chairman of the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation, proposed today a government guaranty of private loans at low interest rates for home construction.

Experience of other countries has shown that capital must be available at not more than 2½ to 3 per cent to provide "decent" housing for people with incomes of $1,500 or less yearly, he explained in a year end review of the building industry.

"If capital could be attracted through a government guaranty of 80 to 90 per cent of the private loans made for such construction," he argued, "it is quite within conservative reasoning to assume that adequate capital could be made available for construction at least in communities where the deficiency is most acute."

EDISON MINORITY MOTION DENIED IN ACCOUNTING SUIT

The minority stockholders suing the Commonwealth Edison company for an accounting of $25,000,000 paid to other utilities for power yesterday lost their motion to have the company's answer to their suit stricken. Judge Grover C. Niemeyer of the Superior court ruled against the motion.

Attorney Herbert Pope, counsel for the suing stockholders, announced after yesterday's ruling that he will seek a temporary injunction to restrain stockholders from voting Jan. 23 on plans for closer union with the Publis Service Company of Northern Illinois and other affiliated concerns.

Railway Express' Air Trafic Runs Far Above Year Ago

Air express to and from Chicago by the air division of Railway Express Agency totaled 86,757 pounds in November, compared with 30,561 pounds a year ago, and 104,320 pounds in October, it was announced recently. This was an increase of 56,196 pounds, or 183.88 per cent over the same month last year, and a decrease of 17,563 pounds, or 16.83 per cent, from the preceding month.

COTTON FUTURES ADVANCE SHARPLY ON HEAVY BUYING

Heavy buying of cotton futures attributed to Europe and the far east, and short covering, carried cotton prices sharply higher yesterday. Closing trades were at the top with net gains of 14 to 20 points in Chicago and 13 to 20 points in other American markets [a point equals 1-100 per cent a pound or 5 cents a bale].

There was no material pressure on the market and the trade showed less apprehension regarding the prospective sale of the government owned spot cotton. Prospects of a better demand from Germany was a factor in helping along the advance.

Spot cotton closed 10 points to 15 points higher with New Orleans at 12.75 cents a pound; New York, 13 cents; Houston, 12.65 cents and Galveston, 12.55 cents. Prices follow:

SHIPPERS WILL USE MORE CARS IN MIDDLE WEST

Estimate 10% Increase in First Quarter Needs.

Shippers in the middlewest will require approximately 10 per cent more freight cars to handle their business in the first quarter of 1937 than they did in the first quarter of 1936, according to unofficial preliminary estimates made yesterday at the headquarters of the Mid-West Shippers Advisory board.

In the first three months of this year shippers actually used 735,569 cars, so a little better than a 10 per cent increase would provide loadings for about 810,000 freight cars. In 1928 and 1929 about 1,000,000 cars were used to handle freight in the territory over which the Mid-West Shippers Advisory board has jurisdiction—Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin.

All Lines Expect Increases.

The gains in the forthcoming three months are expected to embrace all lines. Only certain agricultural products are expected to show declines and in this division the recession is not expected to account for more than 200 cars. It is expected that the increases all along the line will range from 5 to 15 per cent.

Shippers of steel products expect particularly heavy shipments in the next quarter. Other categories of shippers which expect sharp increases in their car requirements are lumber and forest products, petroleum products, cement, brick and clay, lime and plaster, paper and chemicals.

Ship Out Farm Products.

Agricultural products ordinarily shipped out of the mid-west territory include hay, fresh fruit and vegetables and canned fruit and vegetables.

Detailed estimates from the 29 groups in the Mid-West Board's tabulation will be made public later. In the past the estimates have proved to be close to actual loadings and consequently the board's forecast is rated as one of the best business barometers.

Suit to Test Philippine Coconut Oil Tax Allowed

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 24—(AP).—Federal Judge James A. Donohoe allowed today an appeal by Haskins Bros. and Co., to test constitutionality of the Federal three-cent a pound tax on importation of Philippine coconut oil from June to October, 1935. The company paid $26,843 tax and seeks a refund. Alfred C. Munger, attorney for Haskins Bros. and Co., said the appeal to the higher district court probably will be a test case to determine disposition of a $38,000,000 fund now in the U. S. treasury.

LARD GAINS ON STRENGTH IN COTTONSEED OIL, GRAINS

General buying developed yesterday in lard futures as the result of strength in cottonseed oil, grain and hogs, and closing trades were at net gains of 15 to 25 cents. The prospects of additional trade with Germany as the result of government approval of barter agreements with that country was also a factor in increasing bullish sentiment. Profit taking and hedging checked the rise.

Clear bellies [salt pork] closed unchanged to 15 cents lower. Cash lard was quoted at $13.55; loose, $12.85; leaf, $12.12½ and clear bellies at $16.12½ per 100 pounds. Prices follow:

HOG PRICES RISE TO NEW PEAK FOR WINTER SEASON

Supply Runs Well Below Requirements.

Hog prices soared to a new peak for the winter season in yesterday's short session. Local interests seeking sufficient numbers for a day's slaughter, and eastern packers desiring supplies for slaughtering Saturday and next Monday, fought for the scant receipts. With the stockyards closed today and Saturday the supply was well below requirements of the trade, some local and shipping orders going over unfilled.

Top sales of 200 to 250 pound stock at $10.45 were highest since Oct. 14. The average showed a gain of 10 cents, at $10.30. Most buying orders centered on hogs weighing under 200 pounds at 15 to 25 cents higher prices, while most 220 to 300 pound butchers gained 5 to 15 cents and the bulk of the packing sows sold steady to strong.

Heavy Butchers Slower.

Recent developments in the trade for lard and heavy loins has resulted in an unsatisfactory cutting value of the heavy butchers which has been reflected in demand for stock over 250 pounds. Most 260 to 300 pound butchers cashed yesterday at $10.25 to $10.35, the weights that a short time ago were outselling all other hogs. Most 160 to 190 pound lights brought $10.10 to $10.35 and bulk of the 200 to 225 pound averages moved at $10.35 and $10.40.

This week's rise in lights, 180 pounds down, amounted to 40 to 50 cents, while the four day rise in 200 to 250 pound weights was 25 to 35 cents. The heavier butchers gained only 15 to 20 cents during the week, and most sows were 15 to 20 cents above last week's close.

Lambs Hold Firm.

The lamb trade was slow in getting under way, but developed activity later at fully steady to strong prices. Packers and shippers bought a big share of the best fed westerns at $9.35, giving $9.25 for 104 pound stock.

A buying wave swept the cattle alleys clear of the limited supply at strong to higher prices, steers and yearlings selling to the best advantage. The latter showed gains of mostly 25 cents, big weights sharing in the full strength. Some plain classes showed more than 25 cents gain. Medium and heavy steers rose to new highs for the season, the $13 peak being paid for stock averaging up to 1,249 pounds. The bulk brought $9.25 to $12.75. Beef cows, hefers, canners, cutters, and bulls were steady to strong. Calves regained the recent loss. Stockers and feeders, however, were dull and weak.

AIR TRAVEL SO HEAVY SOME AVIATION CHIEFS HAVE TO TAKE TRAINS

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Christmas air travel bookings have been so heavy that one transport company had to make train reservations for some of its air-minded executives. This was disclosed today by a Transcontinental and Western spokesman, who said the company had been booked to capacity for a month.

Part of this organization's brisk upswing, which in November was 122 per cent ahead of 1935, was ascribed to the rate cut put in effect on Nov. 1. December business, it was said, has been running a little behind November, however, owing to unfavorable weather early in the month.

An official of United Air Line Transport corporation said business for the entire system was running "at least 50 per cent ahead of a year ago."

"Normally we run nine planes to Chicago, but today we are running at least thirteen," he said. He pointed out bookings had never been so heavy by people arriving on ocean liners, which have been coming in 28 to 40 hours behind schedule owing to storms, and that people were eager to make up lost time by flying. The biggest coast to coast travel in the history of the company was also reported.

At Eastern Air Lines it was said there was an average of 20 on the waiting list for every flight. Revenues have been around 50 per cent greater than 1935.

Aero-Dynamics Engineer.

My associate in Nebraska Corporation had spent 7 years perfecting a revolutionary improvement in farm machinery. Some patents issued some pending. A concern manufacturing under his supervision, on a cost plus contract, is about 70% through producing parts necessary to assemble an initial production run of a thousand units. Death has taken him and I need the services of a graduate engineer proficient in aero-dynamics that has had some experience in patent application, knows how to lay out dies for pressed steel production, understands good manufacturing practices, especially welding, and who is thorough and efficient in his work. To such a man, who should be under 40, we offer a salary he can live on and share in the profits as a bonus. We will prove a market exists, that we have competent sales direction and ample finances to proceed conservatively with the production and sale of our product. Address H T 7, Tribune.

NEAR NORTH SIDE

It's very nice when you close your desk at the end of the day to know that after a short, brisk walk just 5 blocks north of the river you will come to a quaint little lamp lighted court that makes you feel far away from Chicago, where up a winding stairway there's a charming little studio with a 2 story living room or smaller cozier studio, all with fireplaces and—well you're glad you live there, that's all. Try starting the New Year living in one of our studios. You'll find it a delightful experience. Also for rent a bungalow in a little Pomander Walk Court, the pavement of which is at the second floor level.
